Mayor Fights Hike In MBTA Deficit Figures For Newton

Mayor Monte G. Basbas is vigorously opposing a proposal for a change in the formula for assessing the MBTA deficit which would result in Newton paying from three to five times as much as it presently does toward meeting the transit system's losses.

Newton last year was assessed $102,532 as its share of the MBTA deficit. However, that was only for a seven-month period.

This would jump to somewhere between $500,000 and $800,000 a year if the revised formula is adopted over the objection of Basbas.

That would automatically be reflected by a rise in the city's tax rate.

Mayor Basbas has taken the position that Newton would be paying too large a portion of the MBTA deficit in relation to the service it gets.

A motion that the State Legislature be requested to revise the formula for assessing the MBTA deficit was made at the last meeting of the MBTA Advisory Board, but Basbas was instrumental in having it tabled.

Both Basbas and City Solicitor Matt B. Jones concede that some increase in Newton's share of the MBTA deficit is inevitable because of the mounting losses being incurred by the Middlesex & Boston line which operates busses in Newton.

The MBTA has been subsidizing the Middlesex & Boston to keep it running.

Present projected estimates by the MBTA indicate that the public cost of subsidizing the Middlesex & Boston will increase from $220,000 to $500,000 a year.

MBTA officials have informed Mayor Basbas that Newton causes 40 per cent of the Boston & Middlesex deficit but has been paying only 3 per cent of it.

The Mayor and City Solicitor Jones both agree that the present formula for assessing the MBTA deficit results in a "substantial inequity" as far as the allocation of the Middlesex & Boston loss is concerned "and that this inequity operates unfairly to the benefit of the City of Newton."

"However, Basbas maintains that the suggested revision in the formula for assessing the MBTA deficit goes beyond the correction of this inequity and that the increase to Newton would be more than its rightful share of the Middlesex & Boston losses.

Members of a Special Transportation Advisory Board appointed by Mayor Basbas held their first meeting recently in the Mayor's office.

The sub-committees were designated to help the Mayor cope with problems confronting him.

One group will study the proposed new MBTA deficit

New Main Library To Be Built Here

A new main library will be erected at Walnut and Homer streets, Newton Centre, as a result of a recommendation made to Mayor Monte G. Basbas by a majority of the members of the Library Site Committee.

Basbas declared last night that he will follow the recommendation by the committee members and will take immediate steps to designate an architect to prepare plans for the library which will cost between $1.5 and $2 million.

A sharp difference of opinion developed within the committee as to the best location for the library.

Of the 18 committee matters recorded on the matter, 12 favored the site at Homer and Walnut streets.

Five committee members, however, expressed the belief that the library should be built on the site of the old Mason School.

One committee member preferred the Woman's Club branch library, also in Newton Centre, as the best location for the library.

Mayor Basbas said that even though the decision was not a unanimous one, two-thirds of the committee members recommended the site at Homer and Walnut streets, and that he would accept their recommendation.

Members of the committee, who are appointed by the Mayor, are former Alderman Hirsh Sharf, chairman; City Planning Director James A. Miller, secretaary, Alderman

Lions Gift Local Inductees

The Newton Lions Club has decided upon a warm and friendly way to say "Bon Voyage and Good Luck" to Newton youths who depart this community for far flung training centers after receiving "greetings" from their President.

Members of the club were on hand when the recent squad of seven inductees left Newton.

Each future member of Uncle Sam's forces was presented an AWOL bag containing assorted gifts, such as candy, flashlights, sewing kits, maps, pens, and transistor radios.

Mrs. Rex Tice served coffee and doughnuts to the inductees who were, Robert Blackler, J. R. Hartnett, Thomas McMullen, Francis Donnellan, Edward Geary, Harry Handler, and Henry Kennison.

They were from the three Newton Selective Service boards, and were inducted from Draft Board No. 116 in Newton Corner.

Members of the Newton Lions on hand to help distribute the gifts and wish Godspeed to the departing youths, were Lawrence Kadis, Donald Claflin, Robert Evans and James Minshall.

Prospects Brighter For Sunday Bowling

Prospects that Sunday bowling may be permitted in Newton increased substantially when no one appeared before the Board of Aldermen Monday night to express opposition to such a step.

The hearing was held at the request of Mayor Monte G. Basbas to ascertain public sentiment concerning Sunday bowling in the city.

Richard Moran, operator of the Newton Corner Bowlway on Bacon street, led the support for Sunday bowling. He said he had received many requests from groups and families who would like to bowl on Sunday.

In response to questions, he said that the Elks and youth groups in Our Lady's parish are among those in favor of Sunday bowling. Moran added that it would give teenagers a place to go on Sunday.

All-Out War Declared On Crank Calls

Charles B. Price, acting manager of the West Newton office of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, today calls attention to a major program launched by the company in answer to public concern over anonymous annoying, abusive or obscene telephone calls.

Mr. Price told The Graphic that during March more than 3420 complaints of such calls were received by New England Telephone. Four resulted in court convictions.

It is pointed out that telephone terrorism is an underground part of American public life today and that annoying calls are increasing.

As a result of this, laws have been passed in Massachusetts, Maine and Rhode Island specifically directed at annoying or obscene calls.

In Massachusetts the abusive caller is subject to a $500

3 Sentenced To Prison In Local Break

Three men, who attempted to rob a Waban home last January after masquerading as police officers, have been sentenced to serve nine to 15 years in State Prison.

The sentences were imposed by Judge Frank W. Tomasello in Middlesex Superior Court after the trio pleaded guilty to the charges brought against them.

They were Michael J. Amari, 35, and Ronald Cassesso, 34, both of Somerville, and Joseph H. Nogueira, 43, of Boston.

The three men got into the home of Mrs. Etta Flower at 42 Garden Rd., Waban, after representing themselves as police officers. One of them showed Mrs. Flower a police badge and said they were investigating robberies in the neighborhood.

Inductees To Get Official City Tribute

The departure of many Newton youths for service in the nation's armed forces and the sorrowful occasion when the bodies of others return as casualties of the Vietnam fighting have not been lost sight of by Newton officialdom.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas has been organizing an official ceremony to express the sentiments of the city to those departing for military service, also an observance of honor and respect for the arrival of the city's young heroes who died on far-away battlefields.

Newton's several veterans' organizations will participate on each occasion according to the Mayor's program.

Mayor Basbas hopes to put these send-off plans into operation as soon as possible and has received assurance of delegations from Carson Post 141; Daly Post VFW 2384; Newton Unit 53, Mass. State

Newton Doctor Gets Major Cancer Grant

Dr. Irwin M. Freedberg of Newton, recently appointed head of the Department of Dermatology at Beth Israel Hospital, has been named an American Cancer Society Faculty Research Associate.

The appointment carries a $102,750 grant which will enable him to conduct research for a five-year period at the Boston hospital.

The announcement was made by Dr. William A. Meissner, president of the American Cancer Society's Massachusetts Division, and Dr. Sidney S. Lee, general director of Beth Israel Hospital, also both of Newton.

The American Cancer Society makes Faculty Research Associate Awards to individuals who have received all the training required for independent research work but who need an opportunity to conduct research of their own design.

Funds for the grant were provided by the American Contract Bridge League through its Charity Foundation.

Dr. Freedberg has been trained in the fields of clinical medicine, dermatology, and biochemistry. His investigative interests have concentrated on the sites and regulation of protein synthesis in both normal and diseased skin.

One disease on which he has concentrated is psoriasis, a skin condition in which the normal control mechanisms of cell production appear to be lost.

Board Backs Teaching At Meadowbrook

A stand solidly behind the educational methods employed at Meadowbrook Junior High School was taken last week by the six-member School Committee.

It was taken following criticism by a group called "The Concerned Parents Committee' that had been given an opportunity to air its objections to the school's "untried and unproven experimental teaching program."

Some 125 persons gathered in the auditorium of Newton High School, where the public hearing was held as a part of the regular meeting of the School Committee. The majority of them, but by no means all, came to voice disapproval of experimentation — something for which the Newton school system has won nation-wide acclaim.

Dr. Irving G. Nathanson, acting as spokesman for the Concerned Parents, read a long statement criticizing the School Committee for "maintaining an educationally imbalanced system, violating the trust and confidence of the voters and discarding the mandate to improve and maintain equal opportunity and educational quality for all the children of the city."

Formation of the parent group resulted from the school department's decision to combine two teaching programs that are in effect at Meadowbrook. One is the so-called "continuous learning" approach which allows the pupil some latitude in choosing elective courses and a

Peabody A Man of Paradoxes In His Campaign For Senate

One thing which can be said for former Governor Endicott Peabody is that he has an enormous ability for presenting his record as a winner of elections in the best possible light.

In offering himself as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate, for example, Peabody tells his listeners that he has never lost to a Republican in a state-wide election and that Boston Mayor John F. Collins has never defeated a Republican in a state-wide election.

This is true. It's also true that Peabody has never lost a heavyweight championship fight to Cassius Clay, that Collins has never won even one bout with Clay and that neither Peabody nor Collins ever has fought Clay or is likely to do so.

What Peabody neglects to mention in picturing himself as a fabulous vote-getter is that in five runs for state-wide office he has managed to reach the final election only once.

Diabetic Care Explained At Club Meeting

Dr. Alexander Marble addressed a group of more than 70 diabetics and friends of the Newton-Waltham Diabetics Club at the Waltham Hospital recently.

More than 30 attended from Newton and heard Dr. Marble explain diabetes, how it occurred, the problem it involves, the best source of treatment, management of diabetes by diet, insulin, exercise and oral tablets.

Sampel M. Shriberg, founder and president of the club, introduced Dr. Marble, associate clinical professor of medicine at Harvard Medical School, and physician at the Joslin Clinic and New England Deaconess Hospital, as well as a nationally-known specialist on diabetes. He also is author and co-author of several books on the disease.

Dr. Marble also warned of the special care the diabetic should take during the summer vacation season and stressed the importance of young diabetics having proper preparations available in case of severe insulin reaction and unconsciousness when the treatment by oral intake of sugar or orange juice is impossible.

A social hour followed the talk by Dr. Marble at which diabetic refreshments were served.

It was announced that those interested in joining the Newton-Waltham area Diabetic Club, and in receiving notices of meetings, are asked to contact Samuel Shriberg, Red Cross Pharmacy, Waltham, TW 4-0034 or at his home 527-5576.

Good Deed For Sea Scouts

Joseph Keller, left, Lions program chairman, greets painters, who donated services as they get ready to redecorate Sea Explorers' Building in Newton.

Scout Building Has Co-op Face-Lifting

The Newton Sea Scouts Building at 958 Watertown St., has been completely modernized and is spic-and-span outside and in, due to the co-operation of the Newton Lions Club and local members of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers.

May 20th is the date set for a special open house for all those associated with Norumbega Council of the Sea Scouts.

Loaded with copious supplies of fresh paint, ladders, staging and other paraphenalia, and with a desire to help young people, the overall members of the Brotherhood took over the job recently of sprucing up the interior of the Sea Scouts' building.

Led by Victor Casteline of the Brotherhood, the painters donated their time to help modernize the Scout headquarters.

Arrangements for the project were made by Joseph Keller, 29 Leonard Ave., program chairman for the Newton Lions Club, who have sponsored the Sea Scouts for twenty-one years.

Invitations for the May 20th open house are being issued to all scouters, district officers, and boys 14 years or older, and families, especially those in the North, South and Westwell districts.

Visitors will get a chance to see the results of the redecorating project in the quarters where Ship 13 got its start on November 6, 1925. Refreshments will be served.

The Newton Lions have supported the Ship since May of 1944. Recently the Lions spent $3,000 on the exterior and now the interior has been redecorated to complete the job.

Sea Explorers is the oldest branch of the exploring program of the Boy Scouts of America and has attracted thousands of older scouts and young men interested in boating.

The Sea Explorers program offers the boys an opportunity to develop leadership skills in the broad fields of adventuring in the out-of-doors. Through the Sea Scouts, boys learn about living socially with others, being of service to others, and finding out about vocational opportunities.

distribution formula and report on exactly what additional expense it would place on Newton.

The other sub-committee will survey the need for increased public transportation in Newton and submit recommendations to the Mayor.

Former Alderman David W. Jackson was named acting chairman of Newton's Special Transportation Advisory Board.

Other board members are City Planning Consultant Charles Downe, former MDC Commissioner Milton Cook, Alderman Harry H. Ham Jr., City Solicitor Jones, Representative Theodore D. Mann, John E. Gilleland, director of business services in the school department; Alvin S. Hochberg, Bertram H. Loewenberg.

Also Daniel B. Rakov, Lawrence Sullivan of the Greater Boston Labor Council and Dewey F. Mollomo, president of the Taxi Owners' Association.

In addressing the board members at their first meeting, Mayor Basbas stressed the need for an immediate study of the report of the MBTA Advisory Board Special Committee which was established to investigate local bus service assessments.

Mayor Basbas, in explaining why Newton's share of the MBTA deficit this year will be nearly double that of last year even without a change in the formula for assessing the deficit, said that in 1965 the city was assessed only for a seven-months period.

To make up for that, Basbas stated, Newton must pay a 13-months deficit this year and in each of the next four years.

Otherwise, he pointed out, the city would be obliged to pay 20-months deficit this year to make up for last year.

The higher MBTA assessment will be one of the factors which will send the city's tax rate to new record heights.

Mrs. Marjorie M. Cunningham of 159 Charlesbank Rd., Newton, and Mrs. Alice Wilson of the Newton Taxicab Association also spoke in favor of Sunday bowling.

Members of the Board of Aldermen took the matter under advisement. If they vote in favor of Sunday bowling at a future meeting, they would then take up the question of the fees to charge for Sunday bowling licenses.

fine and, or, three months imprisonment.

Acting Manager Price stated that almost every kind of annoyance call—whether lewd, crank, larcenous or weird—can be coped with by telephone customers.

For the customer there are several guide lines to follow:

Always use the phone on your terms. Cranks who make annoying calls want an audience. Know to whom you are talking. If you doubt your party's identity, check it.

Demand names and numbers before furnishing your own. Many persons acquired steady nuisance calls by identifying themselves too quickly.

If silence greets your second hello, hang up. Hang up immediately after an indecent remark.

Instruct children and babysitters not to give out information. Just have them obtain the caller's name and number and say that you will call back.

If obscene or nuisance calls persist, notify the telephone company. Call the police if a threat is made at any time.

Specially trained telephone company teams are assigned to key telephone offices throughout the company's five-state area to assist in the investigation of annoyance calls. They work with local law enforcement authorities in apprehending such offenders.

This plan is now in operation in many telephone offices in New England. It will be implemented in all offices by the middle of June. Special cooperation will be given to families of servicemen receiving annoying calls.

The New England Telephone Company has launched this all-out, five-state intensive war on the peculiar individuals who hide behind an anonymous telephone call to spread hate, threats and filth.

Three recently developed pieces of equipment have been placed in operation to track the crank calls.

Telephone officials ask that people receiving crank calls cooperate by keeping a log that includes the time, duration, and other characteristics of the call.

Those receiving calls should also be prepared to sign complaints and follow through with prosecution when the suspect has been arrested.

With the combined efforts of the customer, company and law enforcement officials, telephone service will remain what it was designed to be—a convenience, not a nuisance, Mr. Price said.

Political Highlights

That was in 1962, and when the votes were tabulated in that election Peabody edged out Governor John A. Volpe by a wafer-thin margin.

Political experts are pretty well agreed that Peabody's great hour of triumph was made possible by the over-confidence of Volpe who took his reelection for granted, who didn't wage an all-out campaign and consequently lost a fight he could have won.

This was Peapody's lone contest against a Republican in a state-wide election, and it enables him to say truthfully that he has never lost a state-wide election to a Republican.

Peabody's record in Democratic primaries is somewhat less spectacular. He has been a candidate in four primaries and has lost three out of four times.

His only victory in a Democratic primary was scored in 1962 at the expense of former Registrar Clement A. Riley. That was a campaign which proved conclusively that if you want to run for public office you should shun the post of Registrar of Motor Vehicles.

Peabody also has the dubious distinction of being only the second Governor in modern history who was unable to win renomination for a second term in his own party.

He was defeated at the Democratic State Conventions in 1956 and 1958 and in the Democratic primaries in 1958, 1960 and 1964.

The candidates who vanquished him in Democratic primary fights were Joseph D. Ward, Edward J. McCormack and Francis X. Bellotti, none of whom holds political credentials to match those of Mayor Collins.

So we must report in all candor that Peabody has not smashed any records when it came to attracting support from Democratic voters and that, in fact, he has never been able to defeat a formidable opponent in a primary.

If Peabody is going to place so much stress upon the fact that he has never been defeated by a Republican in an election fight, he would have to concede that Collins has never been defeated by a Democrat at either a State Convention or in a primary.

Collins ran once before for a state-wide office. He sought the Attorney Generalship in 1954 — 12 years ago. He was endorsed by the Democratic State Convention, was nominated in the Democratic primary and then was defeated by the late George Fingold, a sitting Attorney General, in a tight race.

There are a number of ironical, intriguing and paradoxical aspects to the Collins-Peabody battle for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senate.

Not the least unusual development is the apparent alliance between Peabody and Francis X. Bellotti, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for Attorney General.

Peabody's repeatedly expressed grief over Bellotti's defeat in the 1964 election seems somewhat strange and synthetic, especially in view of the fact that Peabody's lieutenants knifed Bellotti and helped to accomplish his downfall in '64.

While Peabody has been publicly lamenting Bellotti's defeat in the 1964 election, the man, who was Peabody's top lieutenant and adviser when he was Governor, has been lambasting Bellotti as a party-wrecker.

Former State Commerce Commissioner Lester S. Hyman who, like Bellotti, is fighting for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General, has blasted Bellotti in a series of searing attacks and has accused him of setting the stage for the Democratic disaster in 1964.

While Peabody apparently has forgotten it, Hyman obviously remembers that Bellotti in the 1964 primary campaign charged publicly that Peabody had been an irresponsible Governor and that Bellotti's campaign slogan was: "Stop the Irresponsible! Elect Francis X. Bellotti Governor."

The Collins-Peabody battle for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate has proved a rugged, two-fisted affair, much like other convention contests in which Peabody has engaged, and Peabody is again proving himself to be a tough, resourceful and rather inconsistent campaigner.

When Collins and Peabody appeared together recently at a so-called Democratic forum at the Bridgewater State Teachers College, Peabody's supporters turned out in force and boohed and hooted Collins so loudly that he was unable to speak.

Then Peabody decided he was too busy with other commitments and engagements to be able to appear with Collins at any more Democratic forums.

This recalls the battle between Peabody, Edward J. McCormack and Joseph D. Ward for the endorsement for Attorne General at the 1958 Democratic State Convention.

The struggle lasted several ballots. McCormack steadily picked up strength as the balloting continued, and it gradually became apparent he was going to win.

So the Peabody supporters staged a demonstration of near-riotous proportions and forced the adjournment of the convention until the following Saturday.

Then Peabody issued public statements blasting what he termed "the McCormack wrecking company." What the McCormack company was wrecking, of course, was Peabody's hope of becoming Attorney General.

McCormack finally won the convention endorsement the following Saturday and also defeated Peabody in the September primary. Then Peabody refused to support McCormack against Christian A. Herter, Jr.

It is doubtful that these are the things Peabody has in mind when he tells his listeners that he places party above personal feeling.

Some of Peabody's top supporters consider that a smear attack is being directed at Peabody when it is recalled that he hasn't always stood on the programs and principles of the Democratic party, as he declares he now does.

They believe it is unfair to point out that Peabody originally was a registered Republican and that he campaigned energetically for Robert F. Bradford against the late Maurice J. Tobin in the 1946 gubernatorial campaign.

That was the campaign in which Tobin, then Governor and standing for a second term on an impressive record of progressive accomplishments, and the late Paul A. Dever, the candidate for Lieutenant Governor, were struggling to try to save the late Senator David I. Walsh from defeat.

Walsh had been one of the early champions of the cause of the working man and woman in Massachusetts, was then in the twilight of his career and was being challenged by Henry Cabot Lodge.

Tobin and Dever did more talking on the stump for Walsh than they did for themselves. But the political tide was running against them as a result of a great wave of post-war public discontent caused by shortages of butter, meat and nylon stockings.

Tobin, Dever and Walsh all went down to defeat in that 1946 election.

It's a simple statement of fact to report that Endicott Peabody, who repeatedly declares that he stands on the programs and principles of the Democratic party, wasn't standing on them back in 1946.

He was in the Republican camp working vigorously for the defeat of Tobin, Dever and Walsh, three men who did a great deal to build the Democratic party in Massachusetts to the position it now holds.

That is a fact which neither Peabody nor anyone in his organization can challenge or dispute.

Loss of Jobs Caused By Insurance Law Inequity

Indications are that a bill will be filed on Beacon Hill designed to correct what many insurance executives believe is an inequity in the State's insurance laws which has resulted in the loss of jobs and tax revenue to Massachusetts.

At issue is a provision in the law which prohibits Massachusetts life insurance companies from investing in Massachusetts fire and casualty companies and then selling the fire and casualty coverage in addition to their life policies.

As a result of this law, out-of-state insurance interests have gobbled up four Massachusetts insurance companies, wholly or in part, during the past five years, and about 1500 jobs and a substantial amount of revenue have gone down the drain as far as this State is concerned.

The new controversy has been sparked by reports that another Bay State fire and casualty insurance company is to be acquired by a New York firm.

The company involved did more than $70 million worth of business last year and employs about 500 persons whose jobs are now hanging in the balance.

If Massachusetts life insurance companies had been allowed by law to take over the companies purchased by out-of-state interests, they probably would have done so. Jobs which have been lost would still be in existence, and revenue which has been lost would still be going into the State coffers.

Connecticut, a leading insurance state, has no such restrictive law. When it seemed likely recently that the Phoenix Fire Insurance Company of Hartford would be purchased by out-of-state interests, the Travelers stepped in, bought the company and prevented a loss of jobs and tax revenue in the Nutmeg State.

Bills designed to lift the restruction in Massachusetts have met sharp opposition in the past from certain agent and broker groups.

However, the threatened loss of more jobs and revenue may put the matter into a new light.

Massachusetts also is believed to be one of the very few States — if not the only one — with this kind of restrictive insurance law on its statute books.

Those planning to seek a change in the law either this year or next year assert that Massachusetts cannot afford to continue losing jobs in the insurance industry.

Red Cross Emergency Fund Endorsed By Former Mayor

Howard Whitmore, Jr., former mayor of Newton and present M. D. C. chairman, joined Leverett Saltonstall and other community leaders in endorsing the emergency appeal now underway by the Newton Red Cross and 32 other chapters in Eastern Massachusetts.

The first national drive by the organization in 10 years seeks voluntary contributions to a $9 million goal for Vietnam services and disaster relief.

"In the years that I have been in public service," said Whitmore, "I have become very familiar with the many services performed by our local chapter and its volunteers."

"The Red Cross," he continued, "is one of the few community service organizations that we have which not only meets local needs, but contributes significantly to national programs and international needs."

The Commissioner indicated that although local Red Cross programs are being well supported by contributors to the United Fund, demands upon the National Red Cross for increasing military services and disaster relief have caused the need for a special drive, the first in 10 years.

In addition to $5 million needed for Red Cross services in Vietnam, $4 million is being sought to continue disaster relief after two devastating years of disaster experience. New floods in Texas and numerous tornado warnings raised expectations that spring Red Cross expenditures would be high.

Local residents may respond to the Red Cross emergency appeal by sending contributions to the Newton Red Cross at 21 Foster St., Newtonville.

May Day Is Law Day In Newton Court

Newton District Court was crowded last Monday morning prior to the session's opening with police officers, court attaches, school children, attorneys and spectators, there to observe the city's second Law Day.

It would have been held May 1, had not the day fallen on Sunday.

Judge Julian L. Yesley welcomed the gathering, and explained that whereas May Day is proclaimed in other countries with displays of might and the rattling of drums and the swinging of sabres, the day here is observed in a more peaceful manner.

Pupils from Eliot-Lincoln School and the schools of St. Bernard's and Our Lady's were among those present.

Seated in the judge's bench were Judge Yesley, Judge W. Lloyd Allen, and Mayor Monte G. Basbas. The mayor spoke to the gathering.

In the bar enclosure were Clerk Edward J. Cronin, Assistant Clerk David C. Lombard, Assistant Clerk James F. Waldron, Court Officers Robert E. Wamboldt, Peter Miranda, Probation Officer Kenneth Prior, and members of the clerical staff.

Headed by Newton Police Chief Philip Purcell, the four captains, William J. Burke, John N. McMullen, William F. Quinn and Richard F. Donahue, were present.

Lee Loumos Says:

It is difficult to believe that the month of May is already with us. There seems to have been no springtime thus far, and here I am thinking about budding trees and lilacs which I have always associated with Mother's Day. But the warmth of the maternal spirit should carry the day even if the weather doesn't catch up.

It is also difficult for me as a merchant as it is during the Christmas season, to dissociate the commercial aspects of the observance from the spiritual, but with due reverence for the memory of my own mother on this occasion I will only concern myself with the love and appreciation we all owe to that wonderful maternal instinct which, in my humble opinion, is the last vestige of truly unselfish love and devotion left in this very confused world. Devoted mothers, young and old, I salute you!

Corcoran Ford Officials Questioned On Customer Bribing Charges

"We're happy to face these charges," stated a company spokesman, for Corcoran Ford of Wellesley. We're out to get as many new customers as we can, and to keep all of our old customers. If bribery is what our competition wants to call it, our concern is still to satisfy the area residents, and give them the best possible value for every dollar they invest. Repeated reference of late has been made to Corcoran Ford and Bribery. The popularity of buying and trading at Corcorans has caused us to order more and more cars. We're trading high on good used cars and shall continue this practice. Call it anything you want, come in and be bribed.

This offer shall continue, we want and appreciate every dollar that you spend here and shall offer to you our complete service facilities. They also contend that having the SERVICE Department open two nights a week is also BRIBERY. We feel that this is something that you the customer needs and appreciates. On Tuesday and Thursday evenings you can get your car inspected or repaired. Corcoran also offers 30 rental cars for his customers convenience, if this is bribery, then we're happy to plead GUILTY. If having a 4 acre lot for customers to browse-around and select their car is bribery, we plead GUILTY.

If offering FORDS for sale for 20 YEARS and servicing them for 20 YEARS is BRIBERY, then we plead GUILTY gain. Our competitors are not guilty of these things. Again we repeat, come in and be BRIBED.

Carr PTA Holds Board Meeting; Reports Given

The Carr School P.T.A. board meeting was held Tuesday evening at the school. The presiding officers, Dr. and Mrs. Gershen Rosenblum introduced Richard Mechem, principal of the Newton High School, who reported 1970 as the target date of the start of the building program at Newton High.

Although he endorses this date, he urges city-wide support and interest to "hold the line" to the present schedule of 1970

A motion was made and seconded to use the P.T.A. donation of $75.00 to the school library toward the purchase of a piece of audio equipment.

Mr. Nomi Henes, chairman, Nominating Committee, submitted the proposed slate of officers for next year's Board. Other committee reports were also heard.

Carr School principal, Joseph Gattuso reported on the progress of the building project. Digging will begin June 1. Mr. Gattuso also reported on the success of last year's emphasis on reading, linguistics and library program, and the updating this year in the arithmetic and spelling fields.

The Girl Scouts are donating forsythia bushes to beautify the school grounds.

Student Designer To Have Fashion Show Here Sunday

There is a new designer on the international fashion scene.

She is Lana Yung, a student from Sao Paulo, Brazil, majoring in art at Newton College of the Sacred Heart. She will show her first line of Spring fashions, for the benefit of CARE, Sunday, May 8, at 3:30 p.m. in the Student Center on the Newton College campus.

The public is invited to the showing. A nominal admission will be charged at the door.

Lana Yung's specialty is modern adaptation of Chinese dress — evidenced in this collection by some thirty varied ensembles. Her house is Duchesne House, a campus dormitory. And her office is the sewing room used most often by Newton College's active Volunteer Service Organization.

It was volunteer service of another kind that brought this show to production. Weekend after weekend, Lana Yung and other Chinese students now attending schools in the Boston area worked together at two tables and four sewing machines.

Under the supervision of Newton Junior, Jeanne Tran, the girls patterned and cut and stitched and fitted and pressed into completion a line of designer's originals.

Several of these volunteer seamstresses will be on hand Sunday to model the rich and vivid results of their labor—suits, slacks, formals, semi-formals, and even a wedding gown.

The models, representing several countries including the United States, are students at Boston University, Lasell Junior College, Radcliffe, Simmons, Wellesley, and Newton Colleges. Commentator for the fashions will be Radcliffe senior, Jill Tsui, who will be introduced by Betsey Becherer of Newton, a Newton College junior and producer of the CARE benefit.

Refreshments will be served following the show.

Public Hearing Set Tuesday By Aldermen's Legislative Group

The Legislation Committee of the Board of Aldermen will hold a public hearing in the Aldermanic Chamber, Newton City Hall, Tuesday, May 10, at 7:45 p.m., to hear views of citizens on suggested revisions of the City Charter.

Since last January the Legislation Committee has been engaged in a study of the Charter and has met with representatives of a number of interested organizations and elected officials. The efforts of the Committee have been directed toward determining whether there is a community consensus on any of the suggested changes. While the Committee has discussed and invited the views of the voters on every aspect of the Charter, it has concentrated particularly on voting procedures. Among the items upon which the Committee has concentrated its efforts are the following:

1. Size of the Board of Aldermen.
2. Size of School Committee.
3. Method of election of Board of Aldermen.
4. Method of election of School Committee.
5. Term of Mayor.
6. Term of Board of Aldermen.
7. Term of School Committee.
8. Primaries.
9. Filling of vacancies on Board of Aldermen, School Committee and in office of Mayor.

The Committe has endeavored to correlate its activities with the timetable of the State Legislature and in this respect as well as in the overall study, has worked in close cooperation with State Representatives Joseph G. Bradley, Theodore D. Mann, Irving Fishman and Paul F. Malloy.

At the request of the Committe, the State Legislature has thus far deferred its hearings on two Bills proposing changes in the Charter — one which simply requests a change to a four-year term for Mayor, and the other, (H. R. 2876) proposes that city elections be held every four years, that the Board of Aldermen be composed of eight Ward Aldermen and five Aldermen-at-Large (elected without the requirement of residence in any particular Ward).

The Legislation Committee of the Board of Aldermen is composed of William M. Glovsky, chairman, and Aldermen Joseph M. McDonnell, Paul J. Burke, Harry H. Ham, Jr., Edward C. Uehlein, Charles F. Hovey, Jason Sacks, Allan S. Barkin. President Wendell R. Bauckman serves as a member of the Committee, ex officio.

Quebec Trip Delights Girl Scout Troop

Girl Scout Troop 585 took advantage of the recent school vacation by spending April 16-20 in Quebec City, Canada, for the combined purposes of promoting international friendship and viewing the varied scenery of the province and northern New England.

The group comprised 10 senior scouts: Anita Hartstone, Carolyn Bridgett, Ann Sweetser, Tina Takayanagi, Ann Dryden, Christine Lanning, Naomi Berkowitz, Frances Deats, Carolyn Hayden and Lynne Cavanaugh. The troop was under the direction of Mrs. Paul Deats, Mrs. Thomas S. Hayden and Mrs. Leroy C. Keagle.

During their stay, the girls visited many of the historic and otherwise renowned sights of Quebec City and the surrounding areas. They increased considerably their knowledge of Canada in general through these excursions and also through their meetings with a local Ranger Troop. This group corresponds to the senior scouts of America.

The troop was able to finance a great part of this trip through the recent Girl Scout cookie sale and separate candy sales.

SWIMMING POOL SECTION

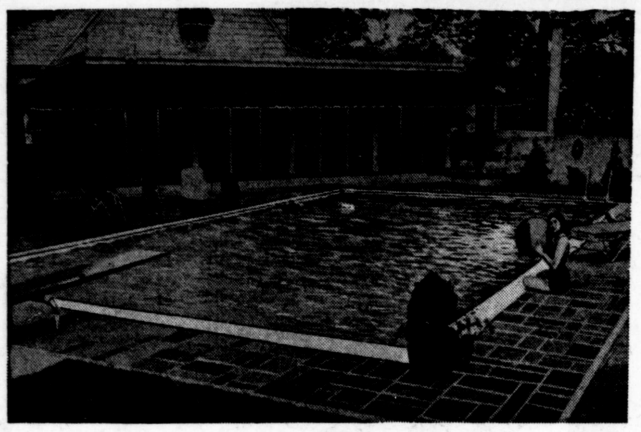
Gene Hurley Pools Pioneer Backyard Luxury

Gene Hurley, President of Hurley Swimming Pool Builders, Inc., of Needham, Mass., one of New England's most experienced swimming pool distributors, a true pioneer in the package pool industry, has developed with the national manufacturer, Pioneer Pools, the latest design in the residential market.

The new bowl shape construction gives the adults the maximum in depth for diving and the toddlers the maximum in safety in the perimeter of the pool. It also minimizes the vacuuming of the pool.

Gene Hurley also noted the vast improvements in the filtration of the Swim King Pools. The new speed filter is compact, and it filters with about 30 percent more efficiency.

All the new improvements in the swimming pool industry have brought the cost down to where the average home owner can now afford a family swimming pool. The average pool built in New England, fully equipped with ladder, diving board, and all the other necessary equipment, under normal conditions, would sell for $3500. At the present time, there is approximately a three-week waiting period due to the heavy demand of consumer recognition of family swimming.



Mortgage banks are very cooperative in merging swimming pool mortgages in order to give the home owner the lowest possible monthly payment. The First National Bank of Boston, through the Installment Loan Division, have now broadened their home improvement loans to include swimming pools. Depending upon the equity of the owner in his property, it could be possible to finance his pool loan up to seven years with no down payment.

Pool Sale Record Forecast by Hurley

GENE HURLEY

1966 will set an all time record for pool sales in New England, says "Gene" Hurley of E. F. Hurley Builders, Inc., Needham, Mass.

He bases this prediction on the early season demands he and his associates for the "Swim King" Pioneer Pools have experienced. He cites as other reasons the growth of public awareness that the family pool gives the public all of the recreational relaxation that they formerly experienced without the inconveniences of driving to Cape Cod or to the mountains for these pleasures, and further, the pleasures and healthful features of swimming can be enjoyed all week long rather than just on week-ends or short vacation periods.

Gene Hurley has long been identified with the family swimming pool. He is the New England distributor for the Pioneer "Swim King" pools. Gene has been recognized by the swimming pool industry for his many services and he now serves as Region I Vice President for the National Swimming Pool Institute.

Seal Is Quality Symbol

The official seal of the Swimming Pool Assn. of New England, Inc (S.P.A.N.E.) is the symbol of quality, dependability and good business practices of its members.

When considering the installation of a pool, whether it be for a private home or for commercial purposes, the public should look for this seal as a guarantee of the product and workmanship just as the wise housewife depends upon the seals of guarantee.

S.P.A.N.E. was organized just ten years ago with eight members. The burgeoning industry swelled membership to 120.

S.P.A.N.E. guides and polices the pool industry, demands it maintain the highest standards for the preservation of its reputation and the protection of the buying public.

Affiliated with the National Swimming Pool Institution, Washington, D.C., S.P.A.N.E. is bound by the pledge to provide quality components and superior workmanship.

Recognized across the country for the advances it has achieved, the Swimming Pool Assn. of New England,, Inc., won the top award of the National Swimming Pool Institute

The National Swimming Pool Institute Certificate of Appreciation was presented to Gene Hurley in recognition of "valuable service to the institute and a lasting contribution to the swimming pool industry" this past January in Huston, Texas.

Taxi Stands; Gas Station Main Aldermanic Features

A major portion of Monday night's meeting of the Board of Aldermen was devoted to discussion of two items on the docket — one of them involving requests for assignment of taxi stands, and the other the Shell Oil petition for permission to erect a gasoline service station at South Meadow Brook and 173 Needham street, Newton Highlands, a location on Newton's "Miracle Mile."

The cab stand petitions sought the sharing of stands at 447 Centre street, and opposite 275 Washington street, in the Newton Corner area which underwent many changes as a result of construction of the toll road extension. The matter was given a public hearing early in the course of Monday night's session, and later, the Board voted to deny the petitions.

On the Shell Oil matter, the Franchises and Licenses committee had voted 6-0 in favor, provided a long list of restrictions was agreeable to the petitioner. Agree the petitioner did to all the conditions but one. The petitioner's attorney, Harris A. Reynolds, had told the committee that he would not recommend that his client accept the committee's insistence that Shell Oil protect the city against the possible use of land adjacent to the proposed site by a hamburg stand, doughnut shop, or any other drive-in operation that would cause a traffic problem on Needham street. Such protection, Reynolds contended, should be obtained not from his client, but from the owner of the station site land and the adpacent tracts.

Eventually, after prolonged discussion, the Board voted 14 to 9 to hold the item pending the outcome of a consultation with John T. Spinelli, the owner of the land.

Mrs. Nellie Curtin petitioned for reassignment of a taxi stand at 447 Centre street, and for a new stand at 275 Washington street. James E. Buckley, who does business as the Newton Taxi Company, applied for one stand at 275 Washington street. Buckley and Mrs. Curtin had come to an agreement on the sharing of the three stands.

Atty. William A. McCarthy of 7 Remick terrace, Newton, representing Mrs. Curtin, told the Board that her late husband operated taxis in Newton for 4 years until the Toll Road extension took land where he had stands. Two months after losing the stands, McCarthy said, Mr. Curtin became ill and died. Since his death, McCarthy said, Mrs. Curtin has maintained the three cab licenses.

Operators of three Newton cab companies opposed the Curtin petition. They contended that Mrs. Curtin, an elderly woman, could not operate a taxi business and did not intend to do so. Her intention, they declared, was to sell her licenses. They declared that she owns no cabs and has never made use of her licenses.

The roll-call vote on the question of granting the two petitions was Yes 9, No 13, with one absent and one Alderman not voting. He was H. James Shea Jr., who asked to be excused because he was related to Mrs. Curtin.

Voting to grant the petition were Aldermen Alan S. Barkin, William L. Bruce, Paul J. Burke, Melvin J. Dangel, Franklin N. Flaschner, William M. Glovsky, Andrew J. Magnu, Joseph M. McDonnell and Edward C. Uehlein.

Those who voted not to grant the petitions were Winslow C. Auryansen, Adelaide B. Ball, Ernest F. Dietz, Harry H. Ham Jr., William E. Hopkins, Charles P. Hovey, William P. Matthews, John P. Nixon, Jack M. Roberts, Jason Sacks, Warren A. Sutherland, Harry L. Walen and President Wendell Bauckman.

The absentee was George L. Hicks.

Special Welfare Needs Of City Outlined At Meeting

Dr. Robert Perlman, speaker at the annual meeting of the Newton Community Council and Chest held recently at the Unitarian Church in West Newton, urged the Council to give its full support to the pending legislation designed to re-organize the states outdated public welfare system, to mobilize support for more comprehensive mental health services and to stimulate sound housing plans for low income families.

In his talk to seventy dinner guests, Dr. Perlman, a Newton resident and leader in the social welfare field outlined some of the social welfare needs and characteristics of Newton residents and then suggested a number of significant areas of concern for future focus.

In briefly describing Newton he noted that although total population numbers of residents is somewhat stabilized, the youngest and oldest groups will increase. Newton cannot be considered a poverty-stricken community according to current standards but in fact 25% of Newton families are living on incomes of less than $6,000. This income has been considered inadequate for families with four or more members according to some recent studies. He also noted that Newton has several pockets of poor housing according to studies by the city's planning department.

Three assumptions generally accepted in social welfare today are that there will be a continued expansion of services, demands for service will increase and more strenuous efforts will be made to coordinate these services.

Public supported services will expand more rapidly than voluntary services. He feels these expanded services need now, more than ever before involvement of local community representation in developing and adopting these services to best meet local needs.

He summarized his suggestions as to the future role of the Newton Community Council as one of first being alert to the many changes and opportunities new legislation is making possible, to then be willing to press public officials to take acton when appropriate. He also urged the Council to initiate programs and ideas rather than waiting to be asked.

Elected President of the Newton Community Council and Newton Community Chest for a second term was Joseph C. Skinner of 79 Prince street. Newly elected vice presidents included Andrews S. Macalaster of 87 Highland street and Giles E. Mosher, Jr., of 32 Holden road. Francis C. Chase and Michael E. Flynn were re-elected Treasurer and Assistant Treasurer respectively. Adelaide B. Ball was elected as Clerk of the Community Council and H. Donald Norstrand was elected Clerk of the Community Chest.

Members elected to the Governing Board of the Community Council include Mrs. Robert G. Fisher, William A. Lincoln, George M. Shannon and Judge Julian Yesley.

The following individuals were elected to the Community Chest Board of Directors: James F. Doherty, Justin T. Horan and Norman E. MacNeil representing the Newton Boys' Club; Mrs. David B. Cooper, Mrs. Kurt M. Hertzfield, Mrs. Edward C. Uehlein, representing the Newton Community Center; Mrs. Robert C. Fisher, Bruce Macdonald, Paul H. Pierce representing the Newton Community Council; Mrs. Albert R. Beisel, Jr., Mrs. E. Lake Jones, Mrs. Warren G. Reed, Newton Visiting Nurse Association; Richard H. Lovell, Murray E. Sholkin, Gordon K. Wentworth, representing Newton-Wellesley Hospital; Wilbur W. Bullen, Eldred M. Peterson, Charles E. Smith, representing Newton YMCA; William Mark, Daniel Mordecai, Walter T. Tower, representing Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts; Miss Alice M. Corson, Mrs. Carnig Thomason, John J. White representing Rebecca Pomroy house; Julian J. Coen, Arthur H. Plessis, Rev. Francis X. Quinn, representing St. Vincent de Paul.

Directors-at-Large elected to the Community Chest Board included Mrs. Eugene M. Brody, Nathan D. Dugbee, Edward A. Green, Mrs. George H. Larsen, William A. Lincoln, Henry B. Shepard, Jr.

College Club 2-Day Fete

Wise Jr., of Chestnut Hill, Mrs. Robert Loomis of West Newton, Miss Elizabeth Butler of Waban and Mrs. Kenneth A. Henderson of Waban.

Activity Less In Real Estate

A report of real estate activity compiled recently by the First Federal Savings and Loan Association shows that in Newton, 176 deeds were recorded in the first three months of this year, and that in the same period last year there were 202.

In the same period of 1966, only 12 permits for new dwelling units were issued in Newton, whereas in the first three months of 1965, there were 90.

Meteor Thrills Young People

The following interesting scientific item was received by The Graphic last week, and indicates that the young are less likely than their elders to become overexcited at being confronted by a natural phenonemon.

Written by a young resident of 48 Arapahoe road, West Newton, the letter follows:

"My name is Marjorie Walk and I belong to the Williams School in Auburndale.

"Some of the fifth and sixth graders have an astronomy club, headed by David York, a ninth grader at Warren Junior High School. We meet every Monday night on the Williams School grounds and have discussions inside sometimes.

"Monday, April 25, we were outside looking through David York's telescope, when suddenly someone pointed up and yelled, 'It's a U.F.O.!' (unidentified flying object).

"We scattered, but David York said, 'It's a meteor!' We all ran after him and chased the blinding, green, fiery, ball as it dropped fragments.

"There were about 12 children Monday night, and we all watched until it exploded, leaving a white, vapor trail. After it flew up, it faded out behind a house.

"I thought this would be an interesting story for your paper."

Violin Pupils Entertain At Friday Concert

On Friday evening April 29, the violin pupils of Marguerite Estaver of Newton Centre performed a repertoire of excellent violin works in a mature fashion.

The two-part program began and ended with movements of the Bach Brandenburg Concerto No. 3 in G Major played by the senior ensemble and guest artists. The sonority and precision with which it was performed was a rich experience. The junior ensemble, playing Alard's Trip-It was almost as exciting as the Bach, as the bowing arms and fingers of these young artists flashed like musical sparks through the perpetual motion of the piece.

Equally notable among the younger pupils was the playing of the Allegro movement of Corelli's Sonata No. 1 in D Major by Jennifer Spinks, and the duet of William Hassan and William Eger playing Duo No. 2 in G Major by Pleyel. William Eger followed with The Allegro from Handel's Sonata No 4 D Major which was warmly applauded by the audience.

The senior pupils presented works of Grieg, Handel, Hindemith, Mozart, Beethoven, and Bach. Tone quality and technical ability excelled in the performances of Marjorie Weinert, David Dobler, Vicki Citron, Judy Wolper, and Louise Lerner. A delightful ensemble was presented by Ellen Garfinkle, violin; Coin Page, viola; and Mr. Robert Pettitt as they played Mozart's Trio No. 7 in E flat Major.

Special mention should be made of Mr. Robert Pettitt for his fine sympathetic accompaniment of all of the pupils. Guest artists included: Stephen Wilkes, viola; Charles Terpenning, viola; Coin Page, viola; Cheryl Grant, cello; William Peck, cello; John Wall, cello; and Richard Lupino, bass viol.

Prison -

After getting into the home, they forced Mrs. Flower into a bedroom, tied her with a pillow slip and scarf and then proceeded to gather the loot they planned to carry away.

However, Mrs. Flower had been talking on the telephone with her daughter, Mrs. Robert Segal of Arlington, when the doorbell rang. Mrs. Segal, holding the phone while her mother went to the door, heard her mother scream and immediately phoned Newton police headquarters.

Newton police raced to the scene and arrested the three men in the Flower dwelling.

Police this week were investigating several breaks and a number of thefts which occurred during the past week.

One of the most unusual thefts was by a strong-armed robber who carried an old anvil away from the driveway at the home of James H. Mahar at 30 Pearl St., Newton.

A motorcycle owned by Dennis T. Kennedy of 49 Langley Rd., Newton Centre, and valued at $900, was stolen from the rear of his home. It bore 1965 registration plates.

A scooter owned by Robert C. McCarthy of 2081 Beacon St., Waban, was stolen from the garage at his home.

The entire first floor of the home of Mitchell Epstein at 299 Prince St., West Newton, was ransacked by burglars who got into the dwelling by cutting a screen on the porch and then slipping a lock to the door.

Patrolman John J. McCarthy, Jr., discovered the break early Sunday morning when he was with a squad of officers checking on the area. Police were unable to determine what was missing.

A vacuum cleaner valued at $69.95 was stolen from the garage at the home of Mrs. Martin E. Cohen, 1 Newbrook Cir., Chestnut Hill.

An automobile owned by Irving H. Seronick of 162 Dedham St., Newton Highlands, was stolen from Dedham street. Police later recovered it on the same street, opposite the Countryside School, but children's sample clothing which had been in the car was stolen, and a front vent window was smashed.

A bicycle owned by Melvin Gordon of 11 Fenwick Rd., Waban, was stolen from the Angier School yard.

An automobile owned by Dr. A. Eugene Kateman of 460 Dedham St., Newton Highlands, was stolen and recovered in Boston the following day.

Brigham's Opens New Shop To Mark 40th Anniversary

Commemorating forty years in the ice cream business, Brigham's has opened another new shop in Newton Centre. This brings to seventy-five the number of Brigham's shops in the Greater Boston area, and is the tenth new store opened within a year.

Kingston L. Howard, vice president and general manager of Brigham's, commenting on the current dynamic growth program at an Open House held on the evening prior to opening, said, "This store embodies all of the elements of Brigham's growth—it is in our 'home town', where Brigham's began. "It is designed to handle the high volume ice cream take-out business that made our first shop in Newton Highlands famous far and wide, a complete selection of fine candy, and quality bakery foods that have been a part of the Brigham's tradition of quality ever since the acquisition of the Dorothy Muriel's bakery in the early 1940's.

"In addition, this store is a complete sandwich shop. A relatively new aspect of Brigham's operation, since Brigham's merger with Star Market in 1962, in four short years the number of sandwich shops has increased from seven to forty-four.

"Newton Centre has been selected too, for on-the-premise baking and a service deli department, first introduced in our new shop in Harvard Square last summer. Hot pies and French breads, fancy whipped cream cakes and a very extensive selection of real New York deli items will be featured."

The store will be managed by James Young of Framingham, formerly manager of the Brigham's shop in New England Shopping Center.

The new shop has created full-time positions for ten people in the Newton area, as well as about forty-five part-time jobs. Management estimates that at least four hundred new jobs have been created by Brigham's growth in the last several months.

Plans for expansion include a new shop opened in the new Natick Mall covered shopping center on April 27, a shop in Davis Square, Somerville, to open in late May, and eight more stores scheduled to open this year.

Assistant Rabbi Appointed For Mishkan Tefila

David Stern, president of Temple Mishkan Tefila, Hammond Pond Pkwy., Chestnut Hill, announced the appointment of Laurence J. Silberstein as the congregation's assistant rabbi.

A Brookline native, Rabbi Silberstein is a graduate of Brandeis University and has taught, as a student, in religious schools of the Boston area.

In 1959, following his marriage to Muriel Berenson of Chestnut Hill, he traveled with his bride in the State of Israel for a year of academic study. Ordained in 1963, he entered the U.S. Army as a chaplain, and at one period served seven military bases in Southern Germany.

Girl Scout Leaders Of Bay Path Council Hold Meeting

A meeting of Girl Scout leaders and their service teams in Bay Path Council, called by Mrs. Hilmi Arslan, neighborhood chairman of Quinobequin troops, was held Thursday, Apr. 28, in St. Philip Neri auditorium, Waban.

Mrs. Arslan also proposed opening the Girl Scout Exchange in Newton Lower Falls for 4 weeks, starting the last week in May, in order to bring in more uniforms to supplement the stock. Publicity flyers will be sent out around the middle of May to remind all Newton Girl Scouts to bring in their outgrown uniforms and equipment. Money from the Exchange is kept in a fund to help deserving Girl Scouts to get to Round-Up.

A Father-Daughter square dance was proposed for all Junior Scouts in the Quinobequin Neighborhood to be held some week-day evening this Spring.

All Brownies in the neighborhood have been invited to see "Showtime For Girl Scouts" on Tuesday, May 10, at 2 p.m., at the Beethoven School in Waban, presented by the Quinobequin Girl Scout students of Jeanne Barry. The theme of this one hour show is "Around the World in Dance" showing the feeling of world friendship engendered through dancing.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. Raymond Ethier, assistant director of Camp Mary Day, presented a program of slides and commentary on the Girl Scout Camps for the summer season.

Mrs. Arslan reported on the Annual luncheon and meeting held on Wednesday, Apr. 27, at Nashawtuc Country Club in Concord. The highlight of the meeting was a panel discussion by Mrs. Arthur T. Gregorian, Miss Ruth Bean and Dr. James Bryant on "Woman's Role in the Community" and her Search for Identity." It was pointed out that in giving of oneself to others, through Girl Scouts and similar activities, one can find true and lasting satisfaction. The Girl Scout camp program was also discussed at the meeting.

Mrs. Arslan congratulated all concerned with the highly successful Quinobequin Neighborhood luncheon and program party. It was hoped that a similar event might be planned for next year.

It was also announced that Mrs. Joseph Kiebala has planned a program for sixth grade Junior Scouts who are ready to fly up to Cadettes and wish to join her troop. The program will take place June 7 from 4-7 p.m. and will include outdoor events, sports and games. The location of this outing will be announced.

As a further step toward the City's recognizing the supreme sacrifice made by those Newton servicemen returning as war casualties, Mayor Basbas, in a recent directive to the Public Buildings Commissioner Vincent Burns and Veterans' Service Agent Carleton Merrill, has ordered that in the future, on the day of the arrival of Newton veterans killed in war, flags at City Hall and War Memorial shall be flown at half mast.

greater share of responsibility for his education. The other is the more traditional Tri-Delta program, or graded system.

There were harsh words uttered at the hearing, and even threats of court action made in the event the dispute was not resolved amicably.

Dr. Charles E Brown, in a brief rebuttal to points made by the objectors, said that a structural program would be available for those students who desire or need more direction, and he repeated a promise he had made in a letter to parents last September prior to the opening of school, which was, "Parents requests in regard to program will be honored."

Following the superintendent's rebuttal, Committeeman Norman W. Mintz made the following motion:

"That the School Committee expresses its appreciation to the administration and faculty of Meadowbrook Junior High School for their continued search for improved methods of instruction, which represents a high degree of devotion to their work and a high degree of professional competence."

The motion was approved on a unanimous vote.

Haskell C. Freedman, counsel for the Massachusetts Teachers Association, was present as a former chairman and member of the Newton School Committee, and he upheld the committee's supremacy in matters of education with this statement:

"No court will review the decision of a school committee with respect to educational policy." He said further that, in his opinion, no decisions made thus far at Meadowbrook could successfully be challenged in any Massachusetts court.

There was a second group in the gathering, and it was in disagreement with the opinions of Concerned Parents. Its spokesman, Dr. Philip Richmond, read a statement expressing the group's confidence in the dedication and ability of the school department and staff at Meadowbrook. Dr. Richmond said he was certain "the vast majority of Meadowbrook parents shared the view that the curriculum should be entrusted to professional educators."

The Meadowbrook staff is headed by Miss Bettina King, principal, and Maurice H. Blum.

Kennedy's Has Butter and Egg Dept. At Sparks

Now, together for the first time, a Kennedy Butter and Egg Store at Sparks Department Store, Route 1, Norwood, provides great shopping news for patrons.

Visit the Grand Opening of the Kennedy Butter and Egg Department in Sparks Department Store and enjoy this greater service to you.

Kennedy Butter & Egg Company is one of the original pioneers in the dairy business and the largest specialist and merchandiser of fancy butter, eggs, bacon, cheese, peanut butter, tea, coffee, ice cream, and a host of many other fine products.

The Kennedy Butter & Egg organization, serving all corners of New England, was founded by Edward P. Kennedy, pioneer in the butter and egg chain, on the southerly corner of Birch and Lisbon streets, Lewiston, Maine, during the second year in office of President James Buchanan, 1858. It was during this same year that the famous Lincoln-Douglas debates were introduced to history.

In 1894 the first Kennedy Butter & Egg Store in Massachusetts was opened in East Boston, and with the assistance of his three brothers, Edward P. Kennedy founded the string of stores which today numbers almost a hundred with locations throughout Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Maine and New Hampshire.

The oldest and largest concern of this nature operating its "specialized" type of stores in the country has made the name "Kennedy" truly a household word for over three generations. "Kennedy's, that's the store where Grandma always shopped," is still an often heard remark.

New generations keep returning to Kennedy's Butter & Egg Stores for the same real old-fashioned quality goodness and farm-fresh products that families have enjoyed for many years.

As would be expected, an organization as large as Kennedy's buys in tremendous quantity. In this way, they can maintain their excellence in quality and at the same time pass on regular savings to their customers.

All Kennedy Butter & Egg Stores receive their dairy products from the most fertile farming sections of the country, where selected producers have supplied them for many years. The company is thus able to make its own selections of the finest, freshest, quality products needed to maintain its high standards of quality goodness. Kennedy "Freshness" is famous and made possible by daily deliveries year-round to all its stores.

Kennedy's famous "tub" butter still amuses the children and confounds many adults when the friendly, white aproned clerk can cut out the exact size piece almost to the ounce. This butter is solid from aged bulk containers imbued with farm freshness and incomparable flavor.

Perhaps second in popularity at Kennedy Butter & Egg Stores everywhere is their delectable bulk peanut butter made only from freshly roasted U.S. Number One peanuts, ground fresh daily with just a dash of salt added to bring out all the true peanut flavor.

Kennedy's imports its own teas and coffees from abroad, thereby supplying its customers with true quality at the lowest possible price.

In many of the Kennedy Butter & Egg Stores, fresh, whole or cut-up chickens can be purchased for indoor and outdor cooking. Kennedy's also features a large selection of fresh processed meats for lunches, picnics or snacks.

For over three generations, people have found that nowhere else could they find such a unique combination of real "country store" atmosphere plus friendly, old-fashioned courtesy and service.

The Kennedy Butter & Egg Store organization has come a long way since the days of the spats, bustles, and horse-drawn carriages, but really very little has changed; in the stores. At Kennedy's, they still feel the customer likes to be warmly greeted and waited on, especially today when shopping has become so impersonal. Kennedy stores may be old-fashioned, but they are proud of it ... and their customers like it that way. Waiting-on and dealing directly with customers is as much a part of every Kennedy Butter & Egg Store as the traditional golden tubs of rich, yellow bulk butter and the wonderful fragrance of Kennedy's freshly ground coffee. "Thousands of families have come to realize that courtesy, quality and value is more than just a slogan ... it's the Kennedy way of doing business."

Bible Lesson On Adam And Fallen Man

Spiritual versus materialistic views of man's nature will be explored at Christian Science church services this sunday in a Bible Lesson on "Adam and Fallen Man."

In addition to passages from the opening chapters of Genesis, Bible readings will present the account of Jesus raising Lazarus from the grave, and these lines from Ephesians and Isaiah: "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light . . . Shake thyself from the dust."

Interpretive statements to be read from the Christian Science textbook will include these: "This awakening is the forever coming of Christ, theh advanced appearing of Truth, which casts out error and heals the sick . . . When we wake to the truth of being, all disease, pain, weakness, weariness, sorrow, sin, death, will be unknown, and the mortal dream will forever cease" ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy).

Program Series For Expectant Local Parents

Free classes for expectant parents will be sponsored by Newton - Wellesley Hospital beginning on Monday evening, May 16, at 7.

The series of five public service programs, designed to sharpen the baby care skills of mothers and fathers anticipating a blessed event, will be held in the hospital's Usen Auditorium.

A noted nursing author, an obstetrician, and a pediatrician from the hospital's medical staff will participate.

The first class will focus upon pre-natal care and arrival of a baby. Other programs week by week will describe care of the newborn, baby clothing and accessories, bathing and feeding an infant, and infant development during the first year.

Lectures, films, and demonstrations will provide a wide range of helpful information and will include practice sessions dealing with the mundane arts of infant diapering and bathing.

Classes are open to any parent, regardless of the hospital the family will use.

Information about the programs can be obtained from Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Conversion Of Mansion To Theology School Approved

Final approval was given by the Board of Aldermen Monday night to the long-pending proposal for the conversion of the former mansion at 48 Sargent street, Newton, into a theological school operated by the New Church for the training of Swedenborgian ministers.

The Board approved the conversion to a residence for no more than 16 students, with the condition that the church would deposit in a bank the sum of $6000, which would be used for restoring the building to its original condition should it ever be decided to abandon the school operation.

In other action Monday, the Board approved an appropriation requested by the Planning Director for $2951 to close out the Community Renewal Program.

Also approved was a Public Works request for an appropriation of $7000 from Budget Reserve to the Street Department for traffic control signals at Parker street and Wheeler road, Newton Centre. Approval was voted for a request by the Water Commissioner for $960 to extend the water main on Driftwood Drive, Ward 3.

A request by Mrs. Mary Rufo, 66 Cumberland road, West Newton, for construction by the city of a chain link fence between her property and city land was denied on the ground that to grant the request would set a precedent.

Recent Deaths

Benjamin Gross

Services for Benjamin Gross, 42, of 181 Parker St., Newton Centre, a restaurant manager, were held Thursday, April 28, in Brookline.

Mr. Gross, a native of Boston and a Newton resident for four years, was stricken with a heart attack at his home on the morning of April 27, and died despite mouth-to-mouth resuscitation by a city laborer, Charles F. Constantine, 29 Smith Ct., West Newton, who was passing the house at the time and was called in by Mrs. Gross.

Mr. Gross served in the USAF in World War II, and was a member of Temple Emanuel and Zerubbable Lodge, AF & AM.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Virginia H. Gross; a son, Theodore; three daughters, Barbara, Marcia and Jacqueline Gross, and two sisters, Mrs. Marion Newberger of Sharon and Mrs. Rose Ravech of Newton Centre.

Burial was in Lord Rothschild Cemetery, West Roxbury.

Taxpayers Group Launches Anniversary Year Program

The Newton Taxpayers' Association is observing its 30th anniversary year by expanding its membership and developing its third program since World War II—this time in education, announced Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., the association's executive director this week.

"In 1966 the schools are to receive more than 10 times the amount of new money sought by all the rest of the city's activities put together. Although the disparity is unusually great this year, present plans apparently call for it to continue," Muther stated.

"About 45 new positions voted in the 1966 school budget are the first step in a school program to improve the quality of education in Newton. It ultimately will call for 250-300 new positions to serve approximately the same number of pupils as at present.

"The additional annual expense will be about $2.5 million, the equivalent of $7.50 in present tax rate dollars," Muther estimated.

"Although increased federal aid and more state aid from the sales tax can be expected, the heavy expansion of educational costs now warrants the Taxpayers' Association's principal attention. Therefore, the Association's "Third Program" since 1947 will be in the educational field," Muther said.

"Because Taxpayers' work in educational areas is so frequently misinterpreted, the Association plans to set up a volunteers' committee, expand its membership and increase Association publicity so the area of accurate information can be increased," he continued.

"The Taxpayers' are 30 years old this year. We have a proven record of constructive success in our two previous major programs. They were first, revamping governmental structure on the city side, 1947-57; second, land use, zoning and code revision and enforcement, 1957-65. The Association is continuing with them, but its main emphasis now will be put on education. Some ground work already has been accomplished.

"We hope and anticipate that as in the past we can count on the backing of thoughtful citizens as we embark on our next 30 years," Muther concluded.

Last week the trio of overseas students visited Mayor Monte G. Basbas in his City Hall office. Mayor Basbas extended the official greetings of the city to the three students who are participants in the American Field Service program.

World News At A Glance

(News Briefs from United Press International Wire Service)

The World

Communist MIG jets attacked U.S. aircraft with air-to-air missiles for the first time in the war as American warplanes hit 92 major targets in one of their greatest raids on North Viet Nam, a military spokesman said Wednesday.

Spokesmen said MIG17 jet-fighters Tuesday fired two heat-seeking missiles at propeller-driven Air Force Skyraiders protecting a pilot rescue operation but missed their mark. MIG17's also challenged U.S. F105 Thunderchief jets in the skies over the Communist North.

The air skirmishes featured a day that saw U.S. Navy planes, flying 55 missions from carriers, make their biggest raid of the year against North Viet Nam while Air Force jets blasted anew at the Mu Gia Pass. Returning pilots reported the key pass was not protected by Soviet-made surface-to-air missiles SAM sites for the first time.

SPANISH PRIESTS DEMONSTRATE

In precedent-shattering action, more than 100 Roman Catholic priests staged a protest march Wednesday in Barcelona, Spain, against police repression of student demonstrations for a free university union.

Police charged into their ranks and arrested an undisclosed number of prelates in what was believed to be the first demonstration ever held by priests in Spain.

The priests were protesting police handling of university students, agitating for free student union and greater academic freedom.

SOVIET ARMS FOUND ON VIET GUN RUNNER

U. S. and Vietnamese frogmen Wednesday scrambled over the broken, half-submerged hulk of a Communist gunrunning freighter blasted by U. S. Air Force bombers as it tried to slip into Vietnamese waters.

Some weapons bound for the Viet Cong were manufactured in the Soviet Union and Communist China. The cache included new Red Chinese machineguns, two Russian .50 caliber machineguns, a 57 MM recoilless rifle, munitions, a movie camera and projectors along with documents.

U. S. REJECTED CHINA A-BAN PACT

Administration officials acknowledged Wednesday that the United States had rejected a Communist Chinese bid for an exchange of pledges that neither would be the first to use nuclear weapons against the other.

The State Department in Washington confirmed Peking's claim that the United States had turned down its overture for a reciprocal pledge against use of nuclear weapons, but added that such an agreement would be meaningless without some form of controls to ensure compliance.

ENORMOUS FALLOUT FROM CHINA A BLAST

Japan reported Wednesday an enormous increase in radioactive fallout from Communist China's latest atomic blast. Emergency measures to safeguard human life were ordered.

Professor Takao Kosaka of Niigata University said that the new blast had dropped from 100 to 200 times more radioactive content than radiation from the Red Chinese tests of Oct. 16, 1964 and May 14, 1965.

Japanese agencies took measures to protect drinking water, fruit and vegetables and other foodstuffs from contamination.

The Nation

President Johnson told his academic critics Wednesday at Princeton University that America used its vast power with great restraint and "not arrogance but agony" in defending freedom against aggression in Viet Nam and around the world.

Replying to Sen. J. William Fulbright's charge of an "arrogance of power" in U.S. foreign policy, the President appealed to the intellectual community to "recognize that freedom is still indivisible, still has adversaries whose challenge must be answered."

More than 200 youths picketed on the edge of the campus in protest against U.S. involvement in Viet Nam.

NORTH VIETS INTENSIFY WAR: MC NAMARA

Defense Sec. Robert E. McNamara testified in Washington Wednesday that North Viet Nam has deliberately decided to intensify the war despite U.S. military operations that apparently have convinced some Viet Cong they are on the losing side.

The picture he drew for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was of long fighting ahead. He admitted that it was impossible to maintain control of some land areas in South Viet Nam that US. troos had won only after bitter combat.

Communist morale has been shaken by the impact of U.S. operations, McNamara said, but their "discipline is unimpaired." On the other hand, he conceded, desertions and defections from South Vietnamese army ranks is a serious problem and is running at a "very, very high rate" dsepite efforts to curb it.

SELLING HALTS STOCKS ADVANCE

Late selling beat back another good advance on the New York Stock Exchange but gainers still managed to outnumber losers at the close. Trading slowed. Dow Jones industrials finished with a loss of 0.05 at 895.43. Rails tacked on 0.1 at 236.14. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index rose 0.15 to 87.23. Volume slowed to 7,470,000 shares from 9,050,000 shares Tuesday.

GEMINI 9 PAIR TRY MOCK FLIGHTS

Astronauts Thomas Stafford and Eugene Cernan "flew" their Gemini 9 spacecraft on a series of imaginary flights at Cape Kennedy Wednesday to set the stage for the real thing next Tuesday.

The mock flights, designed to electronically check all Gemini 9's flight systems while the ship remained locked to its firing stand, ran into the night. Final test results were due Thursday.

The State

Gov. Volpe Wednesday appointed a blue ribbon panel of four experts to study procedures in the seleciton of architects for state construction jobs. The panel will report in two weeks.

Volpe's administration commissioner, John J. McCarthy, is being questioned by a Senate committee about why he substituted his own choice of architects for those recommended by University of Massachusetts trustees in the program to design a new state medical school.

CHARGE NURSING HOME FEES TOO LOW

The president of the Massachusetts Federation of Nursing Homes Wednesday charged the U.S Department of Health, Education and Welfare, HEW — would not pay enough to nursing homes for Medicare patients when the program begins.

Mrs. Rita M. Welch of Braintree said HEW had not taken into account an "adequate factor for profit or growth in the so-called reasonable cost to be paid nursing homes for services under Medicare."

'PHANTOM' WHITE ACCUSED OF MURDER

Daredevil escape artist Richard A. White, 20, Wednesday was indicted in Newburyport on a first degree murder charge by a grand jury.

White, called "The Phantom" was charged in December's shooting death of Clifford Crawford, owner of Vi-Cliff's Restaurant in Danvers. Four of the other indictments charge him with breaks at the same restaurant.

Mayor, Carmen Tangle Over Selection Of Housing Site

A sharp disagreement has developed between Mayor Monte G. Basbas and Chairman William Carmen of the Newton Housing Authority over the selection of a site for a proposed $1,064,000 housing development for elderly persons in modest circumstances.

Mayor Basbas in a recent letter to Carmen declared that he had "serious reservations" about the choice of the abandoned Middlesex & Boston car barn on Commonwealth avenue as the location for the housing development.

Chairman Carmen in a sharp reply asserted yesterday that a shift of the site to the present Burr School location, as suggested by the Mayor, would delay the project at least two years.

Carmen also told Basbas that selection of a site for a housing development is not a prerogative of the Mayor but is the responsibility of the Housing Authority, subject to final site plan approval by the Board of Aldermen.

Basbas and Carmen were opponents in last fall's mayoralty election campaign. Tne tone of their letters indicated that the feeling aroused at that time has not entirely subsided.

Carmen, after answering Mayor Basbas' objection to the car barn site, urged the Mayor to sign the contract between the Newton Housing Authority and the Federal Housing Administration in Washington so that the Housing Authority can go forward with plans for the city's fourth housing development for elderly citizens.

Under the law the Housing Authority cannot carry out the project unless and until the Mayor signs that contract.

Carmen said that he has endeavored to confer with Basbas concerning the proposed housing development but that each tentative appointment made with the Mayor through his secretary has been cancelled.

"Instead of showing understanding by assisting the Newton Housing Authority to relieve the acute shortage of garden apartments for Newton's ever growing elderly low income population, you are apparently seeking to see the selected site used for the construction of luxury garden apartments of which there is no shortage in Newton," Carmen told Basbas in his letter to the Mayor.

Chairman Carmen made it plain that he does not intend to change the site of the proposed housing development and requested the Mayor to sign the contract so the Housing Authority can get on with the project.

"May I respectfully request that you sign the new annual contributions contract so that the Newton Housing Authority can proceed with the completion of its plans and get on with the construction of the fourth development for Newton elderly of low income?" Carmen stated in his letter to Mayor Basbas.

"Time is of the essence since action now means com-

Citizens Support Urged In Local War On Crime

The co-operation of Newton citizens of all ages in fighting crime and helping prevent it in this city was urged by Mayor Monte G. Basbas at the organizational meeting this week of his Crime Prevention Committee.

To emphasize the city-wide importance of the campaign being organized against crime in Newton, Mayor Basbas has officially proclaimed May 15 to May 31 as a special Crime Prevention Period in this city.

"Crime is costly and dangerous and crime prevention is the soundest of community economy and safety" the Mayor said.

"Members of the Newton Police Department are the first line of defense in the control of crime,—and first and foremost is crime prevention. Police Departments cannot operate efficiently without the prompt intelligent co-operation of the citizens of the city or town in which they operate.

"The people of any community cannot be completely effective in protecting themselves and their families unless they have an understanding and knowledge of the citizens part in the prevention of crime."

To inform the people of Newton of how much can be done in law enforcement and in crime prevention through co-operation between them

Police raced to the scene, but the would-be robber had disappeared. Investigating officers said a second burglar apparently jumped out of a second-floor window when the boys arrived home since several screens had been pushed out.

An investigation is being made by police of the stabbing of Ralph C. Hamill, Jr., 17, of 10 Arundel Ter., Newton, in a knife holdup.

Hamill told police he got out of his automobile to enter a drug store on Centre St. and was approached by two youths who asked him: "How much money have you got?"

He said he thought it was a joke until he was shoved into a parking lot and stabbed in the chest with a knife. The pair who accosted him then grabbed his wallet and ran down Pelham street.

Mayor Replies To Queries On Library Site

Mayor Monte G. Basbas last night answered a number of questions raised by Newton residents concerning the site selected for the new main library which is to be built at Walnut and Homer streets, across from City Hall and adjoining the Newton Cemetery.

The Mayor declared that after the grounds have been landscaped there will be adequate space for parking.

He said the new library will be close to public transportation, pointing out that one bus line runs along Walnut street, where the library is to be located, and that another bus line operates on Commonwealth avenue, only a block away.

In response to queries, the Mayor also asserted that the branch libraries will be kept open and that all existing library services will be maintained.

To Dedicate Library To Honor Rabbi

Temple Emanuel of Newton will climax a year of simcha celebrating the 30th anniversary of the founding of the Congregation at its annual dinner meeting and election of officers Wednesday, May 18, 6 p.m., in the Temple Community Hall.

Three significant events of major importance will highlight the program for the evening.

Dr. Albert I. Gordon will dedicate the temple library as a memorial to Rabbi Marshall I. Lifson. The generosity of his parents and family has made possible this fitting memorial to a gifted son and brother who gained his inspiration for the Rabbinate at Temple Emanuel.

Following the annual dinner and election of officers, a portrait of Cantor Gabriel Hochberg will be presented to the Temple by a group of his friends.

Climax of the evening will be a dialogue between Rabbis Albert I. Gordon and M. David Weiss on the subject, "The Next Thirty Years." They will project what, in their opinion, should be the objectives and direction of the Temple program in the coming 30 years. Justice David A. Rose will serve as moderator.

The slate of officers nominated are: President, Harry J. Greenblatt; first vice-president, Abraham I. Kaye; second vice-president, Rubin Epstein; third vice-president, David Short; fourth vice-president, Harry Sher; fifth vice-president, Clarence N. Jacobson; treasurer, Frank Brezniak; assistant treasurer, James Shulman; secretary, Frank S. Metcalf; assistant secretary, Everett Grossman; financial secretary, Leonard L. Kabler.

Nominated for the board of trustees: Kenneth Benjamin, Morris Bernstein, Max Chernis, Aaron Cohen, Robert Gordon, Irving Groper, Everett Grossman, Morton Grossman, Dr. Reevan Levine, Dr. Percy Lightman, Frank Metcalf, Judge David A. Rose, Henry Scheier, Dr. Allen Sherman, Harold Snyder and Jack Kessler.

Newton Tigers Subdue Lions In 10-1 Game

Newton High School Tigers hammered out a 10-1 victory over their intra-city rival, Newton South High Lions, in a Suburban League runaway on South Field last Friday.

A high class pitching performance by the Tigers' Doug Vernon combined with his teammates' potent bats, fashioned the big win.

It was Newton High's seventh victory in 10 starts.

Doug is now 4-0 for the season. Friday, he had South hitting the ball into the ground.

Hollis Perry of the Tigers had a long triple and two singles in six times at bat. Every starter but two hit safely for Newton High.

Political Highlights

Governor and U. S. Senator — appears certain of a convention victory at this point.

The importance of an endorsement by the Democratic State Convention probably is over-estimated by both politicians and political writers.

Entire delegations in some city wards are controlled by single individuals.

The convention delegations frequently do not reflect the sentiment of the Democratic voters in the districts they represent.

For example, in a Democratic primary, former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack unquestionably would defeat Senate President Maurice A. Donahue in the Ward 17 section of Dorchester where McCormack lives.

But the delegation from McCormack's home ward, which is controlled by Turnpike Authority Chairman John T. Driscoll, probably will be solidly for Donahue.

In some areas of western Massachusetts, where Donahue would prevail over McCormack in a primary, the convention delegations are controlled by persons allied with McCormack.

McCormack would be strongly favored over Donahue in a Democratic primary in South Boston. Donahue, however, will get most of the delegate votes from that district because he is being supported by former State Senate President John E. Powers and Senator John J. Moakley.

This may seem like a strange situation, but it is not an unusual one for a Democratic State Convention.

The fact that Senate President Donahue has impressive pockets of strength in unexpected places is one of the reasons he looms as so formidable a contender at the coming conclave. Another, of course, is that he established himself as the State's outstanding opponent of the sales tax.

At least one candidate endorsed by a Democratic State Convention has been defeated in every Democratic primary held since the pre-primary convention system was revived back in 1954.

Yet, the hard fact is that no Democratic candidate for Governor, U. S. Senator or Attorney General, who failed to win the convention endorsement, has succeeded in achieving election in the past dozen years.

In fact, the only Democratic office-seeker who was defeated at a convention and then went on to win election during that span was former State Treasurer John F. Kennedy of Canton.

Kennedy, of course, was something of a political phenomenon back in the mid-1950's, and he also was running for a minor State office. It was an entirely different story when he set his sights on the Governorship after three terms as State Treasurer.

Inevitably, some Democratic candidate for Governor, U. S. Senator or Attorney General will make a surging comeback and win election after being beaten at a convention. But that hasn't happened yet.

These are the reasons why the Democratic candidates for state-wide offices battle so hard for the votes of delegates who as often as not don't really represent anybody but themselves in their own districts.

The fight for the gubernatorial endorsement of the Democratic State Convention is pretty much a two-man struggle between Senate President Donahue and former Attorney General McCormack.

Former Presidential Aide Kenneth O'Donnell is given little chance of emerging as the convention winner.

But if the contest between Donahue and McCormack proves to be as close as some of the political pundits anticipate, O'Donnell might poll enough votes to prevent either Donahue or McCormack from gaining a first-ballot victory.

What happens in that event could depend on whether the convention adopts the low-man-out rule. That has not been done at past Democratic conclaves.

A fourth candidate, Robert E. Bidwell of Dedham, obviously is going nowhere in the race for the Governorship.

Bidwell, an articulate campaigner, resigned from a good job to enter the gubernatorial lists.

He is undertaking to prove that a man can get elected Governor without campaign funds or a political organization and while advocating worthwhile but unpopular reforms.

What he undoubtedly will prove is just the opposite.

When Senator Edward M. Kennedy sat with the writer at a recent dinner, he expressed gratification that the contests for the Democratic convention endorsements in Massachusetts don't assume the same overtones of bitterness as in some States he had visited.

He told of visiting States where the feeling was so strong that the opposing Democratic candidates and their supporters didn't speak to each other and the breaches were so wide it seemed unlikely they could be closed after the fights within the Democratic party had been decided.

In Massachusetts, Ted remarked the Democratic candidates at least observed the amenities, remained on speaking terms with each other and occasionally even showed up at testimonial dinners for their opponents.

Ted obviously felt great satisfaction over the fact that any bitterness in the Democratic clashes in Massachusetts was kept below the surface and was not allowed to boil over in public.

That was before the contest between Boston Mayor John F. Collins and ex-Governor Endicott Peabody for the endorsement for U. S. Senator reached its present pitch of bitterness.

Senator Kennedy was deeply disturbed when Peabody's supporters turned out in large numbers for a Democratic forum in Bridgewater and hooted and hollered so that Collins was unable to speak.

He sent a sharp message through Democratic State headquarters that he didn't want it to happen again.

While Peabody apparently fired the first attack in the Democratic Senate fight, during a speech in Pittsfield, that was not what riled Collins who is not easily disturbed by an ordinary political blast.

What evidently aroused Collins was the tactics employed by some of the persons supporting Peabody.

A political column attacking an unnamed public official was written by a former press secretary to Peabody and was mailed anonymously in unmarked envelopes to Democratic ward and town committee members throughout Massachusetts.

Then Peabody issued a public statement disclaiming any knowledge of the anonymous attack and decrying such tactics. The thing was that Peabody's statement made it plain that the column was aimed at Collins even though Collins wasn't named anywhere in it.

The deep-seated feeling between Collins and Peabody probably was bound to flare into the open at some point either in their convention contest or in their primary campaign.

This goes back to 1963 when Peabody was serving his first year as Governor.

Collins supported Peabody against John A. Volpe for the Governorship in the 1962 election campaign and swung enough votes to Peabody to make the difference between victory and defeat in a close race.

He did so after getting a commitment from Peabody that he would provide a new source of tax revenue for Boston and the other cities and towns to lighten the tax burden on real estate.

Peabody made no real attempt to keep his commitment. He filed a bill for a big increase in the State income tax but made no fight for its passage. From there on relations between Peabody and Collins began to chill.

Despite that, the Collins-Peabody conflict would not have reached its present bitterness if Peabody hadn't set the tune, Collins, an accomplished campaigner, would have preferred to get through the convention and primary contests with as little political bloodletting as possible.

But Peabody in his opening barrage charged that Collins had refereed the historic debate between John Volpe and Francis Bellotti at Faneuil Hall during the 1964 campaign and then championed Volpe's cause, an allegation which is untrue since Collins rapped both Volpe and Bellotti after the Faneuil Hall debate and remained neutral in their fight.

This prompted Collins to recall that Peabody himself was originally a Republican and that he and Peabody worked on opposite sides of the political fence in the 1946 campaign. Collins striving to help the Democratic ticket, Peabody pumping to get votes for the Republican slate.

So Ted Kennedy by now must have struck the Senate battle from the list of Democratic contests in which the amenities are being observed.

Even Thomas Boylston Adams, the third man in the Democratic Senate field, has been blasting Peabody for the latter's stand on the war in Vietnam.

Some television station could assure itself of a vast audience if it staged a debate between Collins and Peabody before the Democratic State Convention.

Incidentally, the emissaries of Governor Volpe, who has been under fire in the controversy over the selection of architects for the proposed new State Medical School, undoubtedly will be watching closely to see how many architects and contractors show up for Peabody's $100-a-plate dinner Sunday night.

"Mortals And Immortals" Is Science Topic

"Mortals and Immortals" will be the subject at Christian Science church services this Sunday.

Golden Text: "As we have borne the image of the earthy, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly" (I Corinthians).

Included in the Lesson-Sermon will be Jesus' statement to Nicodemus: "That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit. Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again."

And from the Christian Science textbook: "We must reverse our feeble flutterings—our efforts to find life and truth in matter—and rise above the testimony of the material senses, above the mortal to the immortal idea of God . . . It is only by acknowledging the supremacy of Spirit, which annuls the claims of matter, that mortals can lay off mortality and find the indissoluble spiritual link which establishes man forever in the divine likeness, inseparable from his creator"

Sneak Theft And House Break Try Reported

Police are investigating reports of an attempted break and a church visit by a sneak thief.

The latter, according to a report from Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, took $1.50 in cash after breaking a glass window to an inner office there.

The attempted break was reported by Mrs. Margaret Kelley, 48 Braeland avenue, Newton Centre, who said someone tried to enter her home.

Cheryl Nathan of 26 Wessex Rd., Newton Centre, a University of Connecticut co-ed, has been inducted into Mortar Board, a national honorary society for senior women.

Lee Loumos Says:

I think the time has come for this country to re-examine its attitude toward quality work so that we do not end up with the reputation that used to be associated with pre-war Japanese products. We seem to have come a full turn, and now high quality is the earmark of Japanese production, while ours is often shoddy to meet a price requirement. You have no idea how much merchandise comes to us with one careless defect after another. We often find ourselves completing the manufacturing process. Equally bad is the difficulty in finding workers who, even under supervision, are capable of exerting that extra effort to achieve quality workmanship. This seems to be an era of "anything goes" if you can get away with it. Fundamentally, I suppose, it's up to the consumer to reverse this trend.

French Money, Coins Confuse Tourist Trade

By JOHN D. PARRY
United Press International

PARIS (UPI) — It's hard enough being a tourist in Paris under any conditions, but just to make it more difficlt, this is about the only country in the world which has at least two coins or bills for each denomination.

Thus a silver coin marked "five francs" and a rather dog-eared bill marked "500 francs" are really worth exactly the same amount. What's more, two of the 500 franc bills are equal to one bill marked "10 francs."

Is that clear?

The trouble started when Gen. Charles de Gaule, shortly after coming to power in 1958, decided that France should have a "heavy franc" to replace the money then in circulation. This was done in 1960 by the simple expedient of lopping two zeroes off all figures.

Thus a dollar, which previously equaled 490 francs, became the equivalent of 4.90 francs.

It sounded simple, but tourists coming to Paris at the time of the changeover were bewildered, since everyone dealt in "new francs" but thought and spoke in "old francs."

Thus, a tourist buying a tie in a department store might be told by the sales clerk that it cost 1,200 francs. At the new rate, that would have been over 200 dollars. Some tie. But what the clerk really meant was 12 new francs — a little over two dollars.

Even now, six years after the reform, many people still think in old francs. But the new francs are gradually winning acceptance.

The confusion has now mounted because new coins and bills have been issued in the new denominations. The old bills remain valid however, although they are gradually being withdrawn from circulation as they return to banks.

Thus a one franc piece can either be a lightweight aluminium coin worth a fifth of a U. S. cent, or a silver coin about the size of a quarter and worth 20 cents American. Both are still circulating.

Even more confusing is the 50 franc (old) and 50 centime (new) denomination. At the moment two coins are circulating both with the same value. The old 50 franc pieces, now worth 50 centimes, were replaced by a smaller coin of the same color, marked "50 centimes." They, a turn, were replaced by a still smaller coin, slightly larger than a dime, marked "half franc." The new 50 centime coin was with drawn recently but the other two still circulate freely.

Eventually the confusion will end when the old coins and bills are withdrawn — and when French think and speak entirely in new francs.

But it's going to be a long process. And during it many a tourist is going to find himself so confused he'll begin to wonder if his journey was really necessary.

Creative Engineers Needed

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — What's wrong with U. S. technology?

Nothing that can't be remedied by a new approach to the training of future scientists and engineers.

So says Frederic O. Hess, president of Selas Corporation of America of Dresher, Pa., heat and fluid process engineering firm, and an internationally known engineer with more than 75 patented inventions to his credit.

The great need today, Hess recently told a meeting of California technologists, is for more creativity in science and engineering.

"Colleges," he said, "are not doing enough to encourage creativity."

Science and engineering graduates are more interested in vacations, pensions and job security than in the exciting challenges and opportunities their profession offers," Hess said. "If we are to win thet race to conquer outer space our colleges must develop ambitious young graduates with searching, inqisitive minds — not a generation of diploma-holders who think the world owes them a living."

BOOKS

United Press International

The Mystic In The Theatre: Eleonora Duse, by Eva La Gallienne. (Farrar, Straus & Giroux, $4.50): Eleonora Duse was a powerful innovator in the theatre of the late 19th and early 20th centuries. Many (perhaps most) leading actors of the day considered her the greatest among them (though some found her dull).

This tribute to the famous Italian by another great lady of the theatre is based in part on a personal acquaintance which profoundly affected the Miss Le Gallienne believes author.

that Duse achieved on stage somethng like St. Paul's experience on the road to Damascus — a spiritual revelation which she was able in some measure to impart to her audiences.

"To her the theatre was still closely allied to religion, from which it originally sprang . . ." the author says. "Her acting . . . was sacrificial; it was as though each time she played she immolated herself upon an altar."

Duse's career was remarkable by any standard. From a debut at the age of 4 in a third-rate family touring company, she rose to prominence throughout Europe and the Americas — only to retire in 1909 at the age of 51 and at the height of her career.

She returned to the theatre in 1921, largely because the German investments which provided her livelihood were wiped out by World War I. She died of pneumonia in 1924, while on tour in the United States.

Miss Le Gallienne is excellently qualified to comment on Duse's achievement because of her own theatre experience and because of the opportunity she had to watch the great Italian at work.

—o—

The Big Spenders, by Lucius Beebe (Doubleday $6.95): The millionaires of the 19th century and early 20th created an "age of elegance" paced by riotous spending that has not been equalled since and probably won't be again. Outdoing each other in the size of their town houses, the lavishness of their parties, their stables of thoroughbreds, their fine clothing and jewels and their often outlandish behavior, these society ornaments of yesterday and their shenanigans provided material that makes for amusing and instructive reading today.

Beebe has put together accounts of these high society doings and related the wonderful, zany and always expensive events that kept the upper crust in and out of mischief in the days before World War I made the world safe for democracy.

—o—

Papa Hemingway, by A. E. Hotcher (Random House $5.95): Hotcher, a lawyer an editor for Cosmopolitan magazine, first met Hemingway in a Havana bar in 1948, and started to keep notes of their conversations and meetings that took place over the years that followed. The book is a compilation of those notes.

Hemingway was a simple man whose success blocked his access to a simple life. Hotchner knew him in his decline and recorded the deepening pessimism which led to suicide in 1961. "The worst death for anyone is to lose the center of his being, the thing he really is," Heminkay once remarked.

Hotchner's notes are chatty and readable and are a worthwhile addition to the Hemingway story.

—o—

Between The Lines, by Dan Wakefield. (New American Library $5.95): Wakefield is a free-lance writer who has covered a variety of matters of pressing interest, mostly for magazines of the moderate left (with a frequent sequel in book publication).

"Betwen the Lines" is a loose-jointed, rather premature autobiography of Wakefield (who is only 33), reprinting illustrative magazine pieces with material explaining how they came to be written and in some cases how he now feels about the subjects concerned.

Wakefield was born a Hoosier and reared a Republican. Education and other conditioning in New York City have inclined him to a Liberal Democratic point of view, but he has too keen a sense of humor be a doctrinaire anything.

The experiences described in this book include tours of Spain and Israel repeated visits to the South during the major civil-rights demonstrations and a sojourn in Spanish Harlem.

The previously published reports on these matters that are reproduced here follow more or less conventional lines, but Wakefield's current comments often indicate a changing point of view.

Wakefield presents a strong argument in favor of personal journalism, at least to the extent that he believes the correspondent describing personal experience should identify himself simply as "I" rather than as "this reporter" or by some other circumlocution.

The electric eel releases its current in machine gun-like bursts of about 400 shocks a second, according to the Miami Seaquarium.

The last Open House of another successful season will take place on Sunday afternoon, May 15, from 3 to 5 o'clock at the Jackson Homestead, 527 Washington St., Newton. It is hoped that the lilacs and rare pink lilies-of-the valley, brought by clipper ship over a hundred years ago, will be in full bloom in the yard. Inside, there will be a special exhibit for all bird lovers, planned by Mrs. Orin E. Skinner who will be on hand to answer questions, including carved, painted and ceramic birds, books and Audubon prints.

Of added interest will be the pastel drawings and tiles created by Miss Gertrude Allen of Quincy; a large and small American eagle carved by Dr. John Wallace, minister of the Wellesley Hills Congregational Church; and some "Garden variety" birds loaned by Mrs. Wilhemenia Taylor of Catonsville, Pa.

Visitors will also have the unusual pleasure of meeting Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Clifford of North Easton and Brewster, and watching him carve a shore bird while she explains the various steps involved. They will bring mounted birds and decoys from his studio.

Mrs. William R. Greve and her co-chairman, Mrs. P. R. Butler plan to dress the Parlour mannequin in a pink taffeta ball gown and the other mannequin in an afternoon dress of purple taffeta with an orchid blouse. Hospitality Chairman Miss Loraine Cotting and her co-chairman, Mrs. John B. G. Palen will serve refreshments, with the help of two Girl Scouts in old fashioned costumes.

Spring flower arrangements are in charge of the following members of the Newton Highlands Garden Club: Mrs. Malcolm Seavey, chairman; Miss Clara Dillaway, Mrs. Leo A. Handy, Mrs. Henry F. Children Have Full And Tasty Day At Hood's

Students and teachers from the 5th grade of Lincoln-Eliot School, Newton, enjoyed a two-hour tour of the Charlestown dairy plant of H. P. Hood and Sons last Thursday. The group was in charge of Miss Ann Ryan.

250 Citizens Provide Unexpected Opposition At City Hall Hearings

Some 250 citizens crowded the spectators' area in City Hall Monday night, drawn there by hearings before the claims and rules committee on nine petitions.

Prior to the hearings it had been expected that opposition to requests for permissive use to erect apartment buildings would have little or no opposition. However, four of the petitions brought lengthy debate.

One hearing, a petition by Chestnut Hill Towers, Inc., for erection of two multiple buildings of 520 units at 250 Hammond Pond parkway, Chestnut Hill, required a complete hour for objectors to be heard.

The other three controversial petitions were those of David J. Bagley for erection of 12 garden apartments, Virginia G. Davis, seeking a change of zone for manufacturing, and Coletti Realty, Inc., for a zone change to permit multiple dwellings.

Chairman Harry H. Ham, Jr. of the claims and rules committee, presided, and the Planning Board sat in on the joint hearing.

Attorney Ernest G. Angevine, 95 Prince street, West Newton, represented the Di Carlo Brothers, Inc., 200 Webster street, West Newton, who plan the 14- story, $15 million, 520-unit apartment building in Residence "F" District on 753,595 square feet.

Attorney Angevine, at the start, explained to the gathering that the Board of Aldermen approved the high rise apartments on September 16, 1964 and this new petition was only a slight modification in that the building was to be two feet taller and that there wouuld be recess corners instead of square corners. He said when bids went out for the previously approved plan they were found to be "prohibitively expensive."

He said the need for a higher building was because hot water heat would be installed instead of electrical.

In answer to a query from Alderman Ernest F. Dietz as to the use of business services in the building. Angevine said they are "only for the tenants and not the public." He said the architect wondered if that number of tenants could support the many services, which had to be requested under the ordinance.

Alderman Franklin N. Flaschner, questioned Angevine as to parking places. Angevine said he would have them rechecked with the planning director. He said DiCarlo hoped to start building in a month.

First to oppose the project Monday night was Irving Usen, 45 The Ledges road, Newton Centre. He said "I am opposed to high rise apartments, I don't like the skyline and I just learned of this petition tonight." Usen added: "If you allow this you will have the downtown stuff like Copley square." He protested the board's "lack of publicity in such an important petition."

Another, who said "it was news to him," was Gerald M. Golden, 83 Hammondswood road, Chestnut Hill. Many of the protests were over traffic hazards.

Among others protesting were Mrs. Ralph G. Boyd, 155 Hobart road, Newton Centre; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wallach, 99 Hammondswood road, Chestnut Hill; Mrs. Alice Summers, 17 Edgehill road, Chestnut Hill; Mrs. Golden, who said she and her husband moved from Weston and didn't want to see the character of the city changed.

In answer to pleas of the area residents, Alderman Dietz asked through Chairman Ham that City Planner James A. Miller be allowed to tell about the project. Miller said "Resident F. District is most adequate and the best in the long range plan and was entirely within the best interests of city planning.

Usen demanded to know when the public hearings were held before. Chairman Ham said there were three of them and Attorney Angevine said the dates were before August of 1964. On a request of show of hands for those in favor of the DiCarlo project, four were recorded in favor, while 48 were listed as opposed.

Attorney David Cushman of Lexington presented the Coletti petition submitted by Lawrence T. Coletti, 42 Lenglen road, Newton. Cushman asked postponement for six months and that the matter not be heard. This brought forth a storm of protests from many residents, who had stayed through six hearings and over two hours of discussion.

Cushman was advised by Ham that the petition could not be submitted again in the same calendar year and since he was defaulting the petition would likely be denied by the board. Flashchner asked if a consensus could be taken of those opposed, since the area residents had waited so long.

Various objections were heard from Rabbi Murray I. Rothman of Temple Shalom, who lives at 35 Kingston road, Newton Highlands; Mrs. Arnold B. Adelman, 48 Kingston road, Newton Highlands; Harold Band, Robert Sandman and a representative of the League of Women Voters.

The Coletti petition asked for a change of zone from Single Residence "B" District to Residence "D" District on Beaconswood road, Newton Highlands, on land containing 307,525 square feet.

It was revealed tht over 40 letters of opposition had been sent to City Clerk Joseph H. Karlin and that 27 abutters in the single family area opposed the petition. The opposition said over 300 people were opposed.

On a show of hands the only one recorded in favor was Coletti himself, while 115 were recorded as opposed.

Another controversial petition was that of David J. Bagley, who asked approval to erect 12 unit garden apartments at 983 Washington street, Newtonville, in Residence "E" District on 15,400 square feet.

Mrs. Dorothy L. Perry, 987 Washington street, Newtonville, voiced opposition, saying Bagley didn't have room and it would cut off her view and also she would experience diffculty getting into her driveway because of increased traffic. Another opposed was Michael Caira, 989 Washington street, Newtonville.

Bagley's petition was presented by Atty. Thomas F. Donnelly, 313 Washington street, Newton Centre. He explained the 12 units would include four with one bedroom; six with two bedrooms and two efficiency apartments.

Attorney William A. Katsenes, 743 Washington street, Newton, represented Mrs. Virginia G. Davis who, with her husband operates a wholesale jobbing business at 295 Elliot street, Newton Highlands. He explained Mrs. Davis' request for change of zone from Private Residence District to Manufacturing District. He said the land contained 26,619 square feet, off Williams street, Newton Upper Falls.

Katsenes said the Davises sold mostly to retailers or other wholsealers and needed the area for a new warehouse of 5,000 square feet. He explained there would be about three deliveries by truck each week and that Davis' deliveries were made by station wagons. He said the building would be one-story, cement block and fireproof.

He insisted there would be only storage at that site and not any manufacturing. Chairman Ham wanted to know why he didn't request Business B and said the other way seemed advisable. Flaschner wanted to know if the Davises would object to the rezoning for business, with restrictions. The attorney agreed.

Many homeowners in the area entered protests, among them Albert A. French, 7 Williams street; Mrs. Robert Cimetta, 19 Williams street; Robert M. Young, 48 River street; Mrs. Lester Nelson, 24 Williams street. Most of those opposed cited increased traffic and dangers to children. Mrs. Cimetta said there were 49 children on four streets.

On a show of hands, three were listed in favor of the Davis petition and 24 were recorded as opposed, eight of whom were from Williams street, Newton Upper Falls.

The remaining five hearings were virtually unopposed and routine.

Attorney Angevine, former alderman and former chairman of the claims and rules committee, presented the Chetwynde Nursing Home petition.

This petition seeks permissive use to erect a new building which will be parallel with the present nursing home at 1660 Washington street, West Newton, on 83,830 square feet in Residence "B" District.

He said the masonry structure would be two-story on less than 10,000 feet of land. He said there would be 24 parking spaces and that the site had always been a nursing home. He said the home now had an 18-bed license and 15 employees.

Angevine explained that nursing home demands would reflect Medicare and that unless the city granted private nursing home expansions the city may be forced to build them. The attorney said all the neighbors had been approached and he read letters from doctors favoring the project. There was no opposition.

Angevine came to bat for the third time of the night on the petition of Bresci J. Pentabone, who seeks a change of zone, land now unzoned on Rumford avenue, West Newton, between Riverside avenue and Lexington street, West Newton. He said Pentabone wanted the 42,000 square feet changed to Manufacturing District.

He said the city took some of Pentabone's land but never corrected the zoning. He said Pentabone has a customer who wants to build on 10,000 feet of the area.

Alfred P. Marchi presented his own petition, for extension of non-conforming use an addition to the two-family dwelling at 67-69 Evergreen avenue, Auburndale. This is located on 10,400 square feet. There was no opposition.

Representing West Ford Sales, 757 Washington street, Newton, which seeks permissive use of an existing two-storied building as a garage repair shop in the rear of the present business, was Sidney Winer of Swampscott. No opposition was recorded.

Nazzerini Mazzola, 662 Boylston street, Newton Centre, owner of Mazzola Brothers Bakery Trust, 230 Adams street, Newton, asked extension of non-conforming use to erect an identifying sign. There was no opposition.

Time To Vaccinate Dogs Against Rabies Is Now

The Newton health clinic is again offering the services of its rabies clinic to citizens, and Dr. Hale H. Cook, health commissioner, issues a reminder that now is the time to have dogs vaccinated against the disease.

The Department of Public Health and the Massachusetts Veterinary Association encourages communities to keep up their annual dog inoculation clinics and to get as many dogs protected as possible.

The fear is that, without this protection, rabies may be re-introduced and could spread among unvaccinated dogs. In the event of an importation of a rabid dog into Newton, the disease will not spread among dogs if the dog population is vaccinated.

The clinics will be fully manned by trained dog handlers and all shots will be administered by the City Veterinarian, Dr. Richard Schofield. A separate disposable needle and syringe will be used for each immunization and all carried out in accordance with sterile techniques. A dated immunization dog tag will be issued for each dog immunized.

A fee of one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) will be charged for each immunization to defray part of the cost of the service.

All dogs must be leashed when they arrive at the clinic. No cats or other non-dog pets will be accepted, as the vaccine is not suitable for them.

Thanks to the cooperation of the Fire and Police Departments, the clinic will be held in various Fire Department Stations and the Police Station Garage.

The six fire stations, their locations and time of the clinics are as follows:

Waban, 2040 Beacon St., Thursday, May 12, 3 to 5 p.m.

Aubmurndale, Auburn St., Friday, May 13, 3 to 5 p.m.

Newton Centre, Willow St., Saturday, May 14, 2 to 5 p.m.

Newtonville, Crafts St., Tuesday, May 17, 3 to 5 p.m.

Newton Corner, Richardson St., Thursday, May 19, 3 to 5 p.m.

Newton Centre, Willow St., Friday, May 20, 3 to 5 p.m.

In West Newton, the clinic will be held in the police station garage on Monday, May 16, from 3 to 5 p.m.

Although planned to be held in different neighborhoods on separate days, there will be no objection to dog owners reporting to a clinic in another area if the date is more convenient.

It is hoped that all dog owners comply whether their dogs are registered or not. The important thing is to have all dogs immunized against this dread disease, fatal to both animals and man.

Newton Volunteers To Work For Camp Fire Girls Drive

Purchase of a new 130-acre camp site in the Berkshires at East Otis, Mass. and complete renovation of Camp Kiwanee at Hanson, Mass. are the prime features of a proposed capital fund drive of the Greater Boston Camp Fire Girls now underway in Newton and the Greater Boston area. Both projects are designed to help ease the critical shortage of camping facilities for girls of the area.

The lack of such facilities —a serious factor in the regional recreational picture— was pointed up in a recently published survey conducted by the United Community Services of Boston.

Volunteer workers for the fund drive, the first ever conducted by the Greater Boston Camp Fire Girls in their half-century history, are currently organizing into teams for solicitation purposes in the communities surrounding Boston.

Newton volunteers who will assist in the capital fund campaign include Mrs. Howard Boardman, Mrs. Franklin Flaschner, Mrs. Eugene Hirshberg, Mrs. S. W. Hopengarten, Mrs. Kenneth Lee, Mrs. Burton Miller, Mrs. Leo Milner, Mrs. Samuel Ridley Stubbs, and Mrs. Harold Williams.

The new camp site at East Otis will be known as The Camp Fire Girls Camp In The Berkshires. Heavily wooded and extremely scenic, the new camp will completely surround its own crystal-clear, spring-fed lake. When completed, the camp will accomodate 100 campers at a session.

Camp Kiwanee has, over the years, furnished camping experiences for hundreds of girls. Stretched to its utmost in a vain attempt to accomodate all who apply each summer, the Camp is in need of complete renovation, including waterfront work, construction of new cabins and reconditioning of other buildings.

Camp Fire officials have pointed out that the proposed two-part program will not only help additional girls in the area to go to camp each summer, but will also furnish an on-going continuity of year-round camping experiences for girls ranging from 7-15 years.

New All-Purpose Carpet from MOHAWK!

Long Wearing! Stain Proof! Won't Rot, Fade or Mildew!

Never before has there been a carpet with so much ability to fight back! In fact, Mohawk's new carpet is almost indestructible. Outdoor exposure does not affect it. It won't rot or mildew. Sun can't bleach the rich solution-dyed colors—time will not fade them. The polypropylene olefin fibers are almost chemically inert—even resists strong swimming pool chemicals.

Indoors or out—this amazing new carpet gives you features never before available. Here's how Mohawk makes it. They start with a sturdy layer of tough polypropylene fabric, into which they tuft a dense pile of olefin fibers. It is woven into both sides. The result is a tough sandwich of long-lasting carpet, nearly half an inch thick, with sturdy felt-like finish. This surface is long wearing, will not fade or lose its rich colors. It will not accept stains—the fibers are non-absorbent and almost chemically inert. Once in place, this carpet can actually be hosed off, can be mopped, even cleaned with detergent. Year around, it can withstand the natural elements without a whimper.

Perfect for use around swimming pools, on patios, terraces, porches and decks. Bathrooms become colorful and luxurious with carpeting on the floor. In kitchens, it reduces fatigue, cuts down noise, reduces breakage, is beautifully colorful and luxurious underfoot—and much easier to maintain. Use carpeting in playrooms, dining areas, dens, entryways, mud rooms—even the family station wagon.

In many applications, you can simply cut carpeting to fit in a given area and lay it flat. At doorways or wherever else desired, you can anchor the carpet in place over double-sided tape, or cement it in place with an adhesive. You can lay it yourself.

In Green, Gold, Bronze, Blue-Green, Beige, Brown, Moss and Red. We have it now—measure your areas and come in. See Mohawk's carpeting—we'll gladly figure yardage and quote you exact costs, free of any obligation.

Citizens Express Opinions On Change In City Charter

The Legislative Committee of the Board of Aldermen asked a gathering of approximately 100 citizens Tuesday night in City Hall to express an opinion on proposed changes in the City Charter and got it — verbally from 20 of those present, and by shows of hands from those persons who remained at the guidance-seeking session until nearly midnight.

Aldermen William M. Glovsky, presiding at the hearing as the committee's chairman, asked those who intended to voice their opinions to concentrate on the following matters.

1. Size of the Board of Aldermen.
2. Size of the School Committee.
3. Method of election of the Board of Aldermen.
4. Method of electing the School Committee.
5. Term of the Mayor.
6. Term of the Aldermen.
7. Term of the School Committee.
8. The question of holding primary elections.
9. Filling of vacancies on the Board of Aldermen, School Committee, and in the office of the Mayor.

Midway in the hearing, Glovsky gave the audience a reminder of why the hearing had been called.

"What we are determining here," he said, "is whether we should make a recommendation to the full Board of Aldermen so that a resolution can be drawn up and presented to the Legislature, relaying to that body the views of the Board of Aldermen and of the citizens of Newton."

The views of the citizens were expressed verbally during the evening as follows:

Haskell C. Freedman, former chairman of the School Committee; speaking as an individual: "Our system — one representative on the School Committee from each ward of the city, with each elected city-wide, has worked well. Relative to a primary, or run-off, elction, I do not think such a procedure is indicated in this city."

Questioned by Glovsky, Mr. Freedman said he favored a four-year term for the School Committee members, the Board of Aldermen and the Mayor, and he repeated his objection to the holding of primaries, and asserted that elections should remain nonpartisan.

David W. Jackson, former Alderman: "We cannot afford to tinker. I see no justification for changing our system."

Torge Kvale, an engineer, 218 Beethoven avenue, Waban: "I have found myself in disagreement with the majority of the Board of Aldermen, but I am not in favor of decreasing their number."

Stanley Miller, member of the Planning Board and Park Commission: "The burden of evidence must be on the people who desire to make a change. They must present evidence, and not opinion."

Harry Crosby, B.U. professor, who lost a recount seat for an Aldermanic seat in the last election: "I don't think there is need for a change .. When I campaigned I talked with 450 voters in Ward 7, and found them to be satisfied with the existing form of government."

Morris Kritzman, former candidate for the state Senate and recently an unsuccessful candidate for Alderman: "The number of blanks at recent municipal elections indicates that changes are needed."

Francis P. Frazier, veteran member of the School Committee: "The present method is fair, just and democratic."

Rep. Theodore D. Mann, who served eight years as an Alderman: "I beg of you — do not tamper with something that has proven to be an effective form of government."

Robert L. Cunningham, 159 Charlesbank road, Newton: "Not in the best interest to make a change at a time when the city has the largest population ever."

Lorenze F. Muther Jr., Taxpayers Association official and former representative: "The question of home rule will be on the ballot, and will take care of this matter."

Gary Blazer, 77 Hunnewell avenue, Newton: "This government can be improved by cutting the size of the Board of Aldermen. I favor primaries."

Sidney Small, 77 Halcyon road, Newton Centre, an unsuccessful candidate for Alderman: I favor a Board of 16 members and a four-year term for the Mayor and Aldermen.

Peter Harrington, 157 Lowell avenue, Newtonville: "Retain the two-year term."

Victor Kumen, Legislative Committee chairman for the Democratic City Committee: "The charter is anomaly and should be updated. The Board of Aldermen is too large, and should be reduced to 16 members.

Herbert Regal, chairman of the Democratic City Committee: "The municipal ballot is too long and too complicated. The average citizen does not know who is running against whom."

William Lincoln, chairman of the Republican City Committee: "With a smaller Board of Aldermen it would be too easy for improper influence on the majority of seven members. Four-year term for the Mayor is preferable."

The three Democratic members of the House of Representatives, Joseph G. Bradley, Paul Malloy and Irving Fishman, who filed the bill for changes in the City Charter, also spoke, backing the proposed Charter revisions.

Following were the responses to questions by shows of hands:

Shall any changes in the Charter be made: Yes 24, no 29.

Do you believe the municipal ballots are confusing and difficult to understand? Yes 30, no 25.

Should the size of the Board of Aldermen be reduced? Yes 10, no 44.

Do you favor four-year terms for the Aldermen: Yes 1, no 45.

and beautify their property."

"Tools for Action" is the theme of the Massachusetts Conference which has been in the planning stage for nearly a year. "If this first conference proves successful, similar gatherings will be arranged for other regions throughout the state," says Commissioner Sargent.

A local "tool for action" on which Newton Conservators is working with the Wellesley Garden Club is the Preliminary Development Plan for the Newton Lower Falls Section of the Charles River and Environs. This plan has been accepted for exhibition at the Governor's Conference.

Copies of the Lower Falls Plan have been presented to the Metropolitan District Commission and, by request, to the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, the Department of Natural Resources, the Metropolitan Area Planning Council, Mrs. Bernard Flood of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters Committee on Water Resources, the Charles River Watershed Association, the Newton City Planning Department, Newton Redevelopment Authority, Newton Chamber of Commerce, Newton School Department Conservation Education Supervisors Steven Greene and Miss Eleanor Johnson, and to several business firms along the Lower Falls section of the Charles.

The Lower Falls Plan was the basis for Mr. Shattuck's letter in October 1965 on behalf of the Conservators to the Metropolitan District Commission requesting a policy decision by the Commission on the construction of the additional spillway at Cordingly Dam in Lower Falls.

Mr. Shattuck's letter asked for a statement of the MDC's intentions with regard to "the all-important question of planning, supervision, and construction of the additional spillway in order that one of the most beautiful waterfalls on the Charles may continue to lure business concerns and the general public to this uniquely charming area. In order to achieve the goal of multiple use with maximum benefits to the greatest number of people in this closely built-up area, intelligent planning for every square inch will count."

"Therefore," concluded Mr. Shattuck, "our great hope is that the MDC Construction Division will devise means of incorporating footpaths and viewing area, and attractive, erosion-controlling plantings adjacent to the spillway, fish ladder, and footbridge."

In February at a meeting of Lower Charles River Watershed representatives in Cambridge, Max H. Straw, Administrative Engineering Assistant to MDC Commissioner Howard Whitmore, Jr., reporting for the Commissioner, said that "the Commissioner had recently directed his staff to have necessary surveys made and designs prepared preparatory to letting contracts for improvements to the Cordingly Dam area of Newton Lower Falls, including the sluiceways, a possible fish ladder, and reconstruction of the footbridge. This work would be approached primarily from the flood control angle but land acquisitions and improvements would be 'park' or park oriented as much as possible."

"The MDC staff was further instructed," said Mr. Straw, "to review anti-pollution laws and rules with a view to co-ordinating these with rules and regulations operating under MDC Parks laws, and rules and regulations to be promulgated under flood control laws, all with a view to enforcement of pollution control, encroachment abatement and prosecution of offenders."

The policy set forth by the MDC is a partial answer to the Lower Falls Plan, the tool for action. The implementation of the MDC's policy directive will be the next step.

and their Police Department, the Mayor's Crime Prevention Committee is working with the Police in preparing an informative booklet.

It will cover in detail the accepted methods of protecting homes, property and personnel against the assaults of the lawless classes.

The booklet bearing the title "Guardians Of Your Property and Welfare—the Newton Police Organization" is now being printed and plans are under way to deliver a copy of this special Newton booklet to every home in the City. Delivery will be made individually by Newton police officers. Some of the subject headings included in the booklet are:

How you can co-operate—Suspicions are always valuable—Suggestions to Householders — when leaving for the evening—When leaving for an extended period — Door locks and windows — Solicitors and Pedlars — Watch your money — You and your automobile—Your relationship to juvenile delinquency—Warn your children against sex offenders — Precautionary advice We're holding your son — Don't make these mistakes —Beware of strangers with pretexts—Complete Newton Police Departmental Roster—Protect your child—and other subjects.

According to Mayor Basbas and his Crime Prevention Committee the purpose of this booklet and the committee's activity is to aid and assist the individual citizen in the realistic recognition of his legal and moral duty to cooperate in the prevention and detection of crime.

And in addition, it is a reminder that although law enforcement officers are the balance wheel of a community, effective law enforcement can be attained only through co-operation between the public and the police; in other words between those given the task of enforcing the law, and those whom the laws are designed to protect.

gram responsible for this great change.

The President's Council on Youth Fitness has developed three tests to strengthen the arms, abdominals, and increase agility.

The Franklin School has gone beyond these and developed tests of its own. Their program aims to keep the fun in physical education, to develop leadership, self direction and skills, in small groups of youngsters.

Grades one, two and three have twenty-five minutes of physical education every day with ropes, Swedish bars, mats, jump ropes, balls and various other pieces of good equipment. Grades four, five and six have three periods a week.

Dr. Beverly Bullen and Miss Jane Schoonmaker discussed the Harvard Newton Weight Control Program which is presently being carried out in seven schools, Spaulding, Angier, Country side, Bigelow, Weeks, Warren and Meadowbrook.

They have discovered that overweight children are not eating many more calories than other children, but they are doing hardly any physical activity. This inactivity means that they are not burning up enough calories to keep from putting on weight.

The Harvard Newton weight control program consists of a series of nutrition talks, individual conferences with nutritionist and physician about individual problems, and physical education classes. The results, particularly with the younger children, have been gratifying.

Edwin Hawkridge, school committeeman, who attended the PTA Council meeting said that he hoped a report on these two most interesting physical fitness programs would be presented to the School Committee so that city wide applications might be studied.

Greater Boston Youth Orchestra Auditions Start

Auditions which opened Saturday, May 7, for the Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestra and the Junior Youth Symphony, will continue on two succeeding Saturdays, May 14 and 21. Selection of members of the two youth orchestras will be made from 9 a.m. to noon at the Boston University School of Fine and Applied Arts, 855 Commonwealth Avenue.

Dr. Artin Arslanian, a member of the school's music faculty, directs the Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestra. Robert Corley, director of music in the Weston public schools, conducts the junior group.

Interested musicians can obtain application blanks for the auditions at their junior and senior high schools. Present members of the two orchestras also are required to audition for the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. Karol Have Swiss Vacation

During the month of April, Arthur Karol, a business executive of 25 Old Farm road, Newton Centre, and Mrs. Karol, passed their vacation in Lucerne, Switzerland's most beautiful town, and were guests at the des Balances Hotel.

Lucerne is the site of the world-famed International Festival of Music, held annually in August and September.

The PTA Council elected the following slate of Officers for 1966-67: President, Bernard Kaplan; Vice Presidents, Herbert Regal, Sidney Shuman, Herbert Callahan; Executive Secretary, Mrs. Thomas Morris; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Merritt Saldinger; Treasurer, John Webber.

The PTA Council in a close vote, 11 to 8, recommended a change in the method of electing the School Committee. The Council recommended that there be eight School Committeemen, a resident from each ward voted upon by residents of that ward only.

The present method is a city wide election of a resident from each ward. The Council also recommended that vacancies occurring prior to the last six months of a term, be filled by special election. These recommendations will be presented at the Public Hearing May 10 on Review of the City Charter.

Newtonite Is Featured On Video Panel

George Speers, 34 Hurley Pl., Newton Centre, was a panelist in a nationwide radio and television program last week in New York City.

Prof. Speers, chairman of the Department of Journalism at Northeastern University, and two staff writers of New York newspapers were the speakers on the panel discussing "Education for Journalism."

Philip Santora, Pulitzer prize winning writer for the New York Daily News, and Marshall Peck, author and staff writer for the New York Herald Tribune, were the other participants in the program. Roy L. Wooldridge, Dean of Cooperative Education at Northeastern University, was the moderator.

The program was seen and heard over certain educational television stations in and around New York City and the radio broadcasts are now being heard on 104 stations throughout the country.

Prof. Speers, a Newton resident for nearly 20 years, discussed, among other things, how a journalism course of study works under the Cooperative Plan.

Under this Plan students alternate period of classroom study with equal periods working in paid jobs wtih newspapers, magazines, wire services, and in other journalism centers. Northeastern has the only journalism program on the "co-op" plan in the country.

School Board Stands Firm On No Fund Drives

Members of the Newton School Committee on Monday night voted against relaxing their policy which prohibits collection for fund drives in the city's public schools.

Reaffirmation of that policy was made following a discussion of a letter from Alderman Melvin J. Dangel who, as chairman of the coming Mental Health campaign, asked that school children be permitted to deliver to their parents copies of a letter soliciting contributions, and to take back to school envelopes containing donations.

Dr. Charles E. Brown, superintendent of schools, who read Dangel's letter, explained that by use of the children as deliverers of the appeal, the Mental Health group would save the postage cost of letters to all families in the city.

The committee voted to allow the delivery of letters to parents, but not to permit any collection of money by the pupils.

REALTY COURSE
All Classes Held At Motel 128, Needham

MEN AND WOMEN, regardless of age or education. Whether you plan to take the real estate Broker's license exam or just want to learn more about real estate in order to buy or sell a home, the LEE COURSE will provide the finest training available.
As a Broker, you enter the richest business in the world, offering an unlimited income potential. With commissions averaging about $1,200 per sale, you only need to make one sale a year to increase your income by $20 a week! And what's more, you can operate on a part time basis, with very little overhead. You don't even have to give up your present job.
If you expect to get your Broker's License, at present there is no Apprenticeship Law, but now is the time to act. Each year brings us closer and closer to the time when an Apprenticeship Law may be passed, making it almost impossible to obtain a Broker's license.
If you are planning to sell your home, you will learn from the Lee Course how to make your house more saleable so that it will sell faster and get you a higher price. You will learn how to deal with and select the best broker for your needs. You'll learn what your rights and obligations are when you hire a broker, and the difference between an "open listing" and an "exclusive". And when it comes time for you to sign the purchase agreement, you will know what it's all about.
Prospective home buyers can learn what to look for in buying a home and how to find it faster and save thousands of dollars on the sale. So, whether you want to buy or sell, be a Broker, or just dabble in real estate, or all three, take the first step. Attend a FREE FIRST LECTURE on Tuesday, April 19, at 7 P.M. at The Motel 128, Exit 56E, Route 128, Needham. No obligation. Find for yourself if our course has any value to you. You will receive a FREE copy of "How To Choose Your House", an easy-to-follow guide for purchasing a home, which includes 104 color pictures. If you decide, enroll and remain for the second lecture, which begins at 8 P.M. This will be a 6-week, twice-a-week course meeting every Tuesday and Thursday in Needham.

Housing -

pletion before winter of 1967. Delay could well postpone the project until the spring of 1969 or even later," Carmen told the Mayor.

Chairman Carmen's letter to Mayor Basbas follows in part:

"I am in receipt of your letter dated April 18, 1966 and hasten to recapitulate what has transpired to date on the matter of the proposed fourth site for a housing project for Newton Elderly of Low Income.

"Upon the recommendation of the Newton Housing Authority at its meeting on December 1, 1965, I was authorized to speak to you to arrange for a meeting between the members of the Housing Authority and you as the newly elected Mayor of Newton to discuss this very matter. I visited with you in your office on December 3, 1965, and we made arrangements for such a meeting to take place on January 5, 1966. Members of the Newton Housing Authority were so informed.

On Friday, December 31, 1965, you cancelled this meeting and then on three different occasions during January and February, 1966, I set up tentative appointments with you through your secretary for such a meeting to discuss the site and project and on each occasion appointments were cancelled as you were unavailable for these discussions. We have, therefore, tried to discuss this matter with you almost from the day you were elected Mayor, since this project had been initiated several months before your election.

"In a telephone conversation on January 25th, you suggested shifting the site to the present Burr School location which would set back the project at least two years.

"You said in your letter to me that you were distressed that we had determined a site and were soliciting applications for the project to be built there.

"The selection of the abandoned Middlesex and Boston car barn as the proposed fourth site is not a new determination since it has been part of the discussion and planning of the Newton Housing Authority for over eight months, having commenced during the term of your predecessor in office.

"The Newton Housing Authority has no need to solicit applications for any of its projects since even now, with 169 units occupied, we have 214 applications in our files. If you checked all of our only means of communication with the public, our press releases, you would find that we have almost always ended them with the same statement: "Applications may be obtained at the office of the Newton Housing Authority, 111 John F. Kennedy Circle, Newton." The reason for this, of course, is that there are still many eligible elderly Newton citizens of low income, some of whom were born in this city, who are still unaware of the Newton Housing Authority or where to get further information or applications.

"You state in your letter that it is your understanding that site approval must be obtained from the Mayor. Site selection is the responsibility of the Newton Housing Authority with site plan approval the prerogative of the Newton Board of Aldermen.

"It is, however, the responsibility of the Mayor to cooperate with the Newton Housing Authority under the terms of the cooperation agreement signed on the ninth of June, 1960 by the Chairman of the Newton Housing Authority and the Mayor of Newton, which contract you signed as City Clerk attesting to the signature of the Mayor.

"City wide planning is very close to the hearts of the members of the Newton Housing Authority. Each and every member is deeply interested in the welfare of his city. The choice of Auburndale was well thought through. Our plan is to distribute the various projects in all parts of Newton. The city's new general plan, zoning maps and ordinances, were read many times during the consideration of this site.

"You suggest that the Middlesex and Boston site has many deficiencies, including "distance from shopping and the meager transportation services on Commonwealth Avenue". The site actually is 100 yards from a neighborhood grocery store; 3/10 of a mile from a Catholic and a Protestant Church; 3/10 of a mile from a branch of the Newton Public Library; 4/10 of a mile from two complete shopping centers, the post office and banks. There is the convenience of all these facilities without being in the midst of any of the turmoil of a location on the edge of a business zone.

"Bus service is at the front door going to Lake Street, connecting with the MTA to Boston, and direct bus service at the front door also goes to Waltham. With the generally poor bus service throughout Newton this would appear to be excellent by comparison. The construction of this project would no doubt help encourage the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway to improve the service on Commonwealth Avenue, thus helping all the people who use this transportation.

"This site is directly across the street from Lyons Playground which has facilities for picknicking, recreation and relaxation, which the residents of this project would use to great advantage.

"Certainly you realize, as I told you this in a previous conversation, that the Federal Public Housing Administration does not invest over $1,000,000.00 without first studying a site. On two occasions their representatives have made evaluations of this site as to physical layout, nearness to shopping, churches and transportation and both times they have called this site excellent. In one of the two occasions the site inspector indicated that this would probably be the best of our four sites for elderly housing in Newton.

"Planning on a citywide co-ordinated basis is, as you suggest in your letter, a principle with which I do agree heartily. I must point out to you, therefore, that as part of our producing a development program for this site I spoke with the City Planning Director several times. As we have been doing for nearly seven years, we have used the excellent assistance of the Newton Planning Department in this selection.

"There was incorporated into our development program a data report from the City Planning Director supplied in writing on December 14, 1965, which contained information on the land use plan of the General Plan of the City of Newton and zoning information with regard to this site and adjacent parcels. There was also supplied to us by the City Planning Director a land use plan map which included this area.

"I hope I do not misconstrue the tone of your letter as a prejudgement of the matter. You state that when this matter is placed before you, you intend to refer it to the City Planning Consultant. I must point out to you that this matter has already been placed before you. I personally brought to you over a month ago the new annual contributions contract which requires your signature in order that we acquire additional funds from the Public Housing Authority in Washington. There is implicit in this the choice of site since the total cost based on acquisition of this site and the contemplated cost of fifty-six garden apartments.

"You stated "it seems to me that this site might well be used for garden type apartments producing greater tax revenue for the City". This could be said of any site we select now or in the future. It is even true of those sites which we selected in the past. This site has been vacant, unsightly, unused and for sale for many years, it has been zoned for garden type apartments all this time. May I also remind you that unlike city owned property, the Newton Housing Authority makes a payment in lieu of taxes to the City of Newton.

"This site has been the center of controversy over rezoning in the past. The people who live in the immediate area have had more than their share of trouble while attempting to protect the value of their homes from various projects.

"The Newton Housing Authority has met on two occasions with the abutters and neighbors in the area. They are united and in favor of this project, they see it for what it is, a great asset to their neighborhood and to the City."

freedom of choice

Some organizations which provide death benefits for their members appoint an "official" funeral director. It should be understood, however, that the family is not obliged to use this so-called "official" director in order to receive the organization's death benefits. Under Massachusetts law, the family may make arrangements with any funeral director of its choice. The law is quite specific: freedom of choice is always the family's prerogative.

to the Executive Department for that purpose.

His request seeks authorization for the Executive Department, in conjunction with other city departments, to participate in an integrated summer work-study program.

The college work-study program is one which assists students from needy families to stay in school by providing employment opportunities. It is also a program which allows, indeed requires, eligible agencies such as municipalities to develop innovative activities above and beyond the normal activities of the agency, if they wish to participate in the program.

The program is funded in unusual manner. The institution which actually hires the student is the college itself. It, however, pays none of his salary. That is paid on the basis of 90 percent by the Federal Government and 10 percent by the agency which is using his services, in this case the city.

The City is also liable for all incidental expenses such as social security and insurance including workmen's compensation, etc. These expenses should be approximately 10 percent of the gross pay of the student.

The total cost to the City for each college student for a maximum 15-week period in a 9 to 5 job at $70.00 per week will be $210.00. For a 10-week period the cost will be $140.00.

The general criteria under which the program was developed are that the activities in which the students are engaged should be of benefit to the City, that they are of educational value to the students involved, and finally, as much as practicable, that there should be integration of the college work-study program with the on-going high school work-study program.

The program decided upon in general outline follows: The Recreation Department will require the services of eight to 10 students for a period of 10 weeks beginning June 26 to staff an experimental pre-school program on two playgrounds and a story-time program for all playgrounds. Eight to 10 high school students who are participating in a work-study program for nursery aids will work on the playgrounds parttime during most of this period.

The Planning Department requires three to five college students to run needed surveys relative to land-use, traffic, recreation. etc. These surveys are required to complete a community renewal program re-application and to update the capital improvement program.

In order that the data from the surveys may be properly mapped and arranged, there is a need for approximately eight-10 parttime high school students participating in work-study programs in business and industrial arts.

The Executive Department requires 10 persons to help in inventory control, to up-date City manuals and to help staff a proposed information center for the aged. The students working in the Planing and Executive Departments will begin in the beginning of June.

The college work-study participants will be designated executive trainees who will be expected to work a 9 to 5 day for the duration of their participation. Their pay, as noted above, would be $70 per week. The colleges which have stated that they will contract with the City for the program are Boston College, Harvard, Bentley and Tufts.

It has been made clear to all schools that Newton residents would be given preference if they have the necessary qualifications. Other schools may participate if needed through a clearing house that has been set up by the United Community Services.

In sum, therefore, for a summer program involving the services of 20-26 college students for a 10-15 week period, and 20 high school students for a 6 week period, and a staff person for an information center for the aged, the cost to the City will be:

College work-study (25 students—10 for 10 weeks 15 for 15 weeks) $4550; High School work-study (20 students — 6 weeks 20 hrs. per week $1500; necessary equipment and supplies — primarily sets of maps for arranging and analyzing planning data $350; total $6400.

Other programs will contribute: Federal share of the college work-study program ($63 per work week—325 work weeks) $20,475; Grants to the high school work-study program $1500; Salary for half-time staff worker in information center for the aged $1350; Supplies obtained for pre-school program $300; total $23,625.

School Board In Approval Of Newton High's Location

The School Committee cleared the way Monday night for a revision of the city's senior high school set-up by voting to go on record as approving the report of the Mayor's High School Site Study Committee.

That approval means that Newton High School can stay at its present location, with new construction and renovations to accommodate a total of 2500 students. It also means that Newton South High School can be expanded to allow for a student population of 2000.

With the School Board's approval recorded, the entire matter now goes into the hands of the Mayor and the Board of Aldermen.

Discussion of the report was opened Monday night by Dr. Charles E. Brown, superintendent of schools, who had served as a member of the group of 19 persons who made the report.

Dr. Brown reviewed the study group's work which included consideration of seven different plans and the final adoption of the one that had been submitted for the approval of the School Committee, the Mayor and the Board of Aldermen.

He told the members that it was estimated that there would be a three-year period of construction at Newton High School — a period in which there would be no interruption of the school sessions. Some discussion ensued, and Dr. Brown was asked whether the school population might not increase during that period to the point where it would exceed the school's new capacity.

Dr. Brown replied that it was unlikely, as nearly all land available in the city for home construction has been used for that purpose, or will have been by the end of the three-year period.

In response to further questioning, he said that plans for construction of multiple, high-rise apartment buildings, like the one for Chestnut Hill which was the subject of a hearing in City Hall while the School Committee meeting was in session, would have, previous experience had shown, no appreciable effect on the school population.

Apartment house tenants, he explained, are not likely to be families with a number of children.

The superintendent brought out the fact that with 500 added students attending South High School, there would have to be a change in the line that divides the parts of the city from which pupils of the two high schools are drawn.

At present, he pointed out, the dividing line is Commonwealth avenue, but under the new set-up, the 500 extra South High students would comprise high schoolers who otherwise would have gone to Newton High.

Bird Walk In City Saturday

The annual bird count in Newton for the Massachusetts Audubon Society will be made by Philip N. Shapiro on Saturday, May 14.

Bird walkers will meet with Mr. Shapiro at 8 a.m. at the Spaulding School parking lot on Brookline street — off Dedham street, Newton Centre. In case of rain on the 14th, the walk will take place on Sunday, May 15.

CAROLYN McHALE

Carolyn McHale, a student at the Sacred Heart School in Newton, was a recent finalist in the Jan Jordan Fashion Contest for girls 12 to 13 years of age.

Carolyn is the 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. McHale of 97 Morton St., Newton Centre. She is in the seventh grade at Sacred Heart School and is busy with many school activities.

Carolyn is an Honor Roll student, co-captain of the basketball team anad a member of the 'Y' swimming group.

Along with 19 other Jordan's Fashion Board members, she has won a one-year reign on the board which will include modelling in the Jan Jordan Club shows, attending monthly meetings and selecting a back-to-school prize.

Medals To Be Awarded To Local Doctors

Three Newton doctors will be honored by the Massachusetts Medical Society next Monday morning, May 16, at 10 o'clock, during the 185th annual meeting of the Society in Boston's Statler Hilton.

Gold badges, in recognition of their 50 years membership in the Society will be presented them by Dr. Claude E. Welch, president.

The local men are Dr. Louis Lazarus, 61 Halcyon road, Newton Centre; Dr. Edward B. Sheehan, 12 Locksley road, Newton Centre, and Dr. Eli Friedman, 540 Dudley road, Newton Centre.

Dr. Lazarus received his degree from Harvard Medical School, and practiced general medicine after interning at Maine General Hospital. He served overseas with the Medical Corps in World War I.

Dr. Sheehan was graduated cum laude from Harvard Medical School. He also has a licentiate of Philosophy degree from Boston College. A gynecologist, he was resident surgeon at the Free Hospital for Women, Brookline, and has been affiliated with St. Elizabeth's Hospital and the Massachusetts Mental Health Center.

Dr. Friedman received his degree from Tufts Medical School, and entered the field of pediatrics after interning at Boston City, Boston Floating and Children's Hospitals.

Discuss Plans To Open School To Mentally Ill

Dr. Charles E. Brown, superintendent of schools, discussed with the School Committee Monday night a possible trial next year of a proposal to enter a small group of mentally retarded and emotionally disturbed children in the regular program at the Hamilton School.

The 10 or 12 youngsters, Dr. Robert Brown said, would not have any previous behavior problem.

The division of special education at the state level is slow to respond to applications for financial aid for projects of this kind, Dr. Brown said, and added that "We feel strongly that we should try this proposal even though there is a remote possibility the state would not support the additional teachers who would be required.

The committee voted approval of the proposed test.

Hirshberg Is Appointed To Election Comm.

Former Representative Arthur G. Heaney has resigned from the Newton Election Commission, and Mayor Monte G. Basbas has appointed Eugene M. Hirshberg of 19 Wyman St., Waban, to succeed him. Heaney's term was to have run until March 31, 1967. The part-time position carries a salary of $700 a year.

Mayor Basbas intends to appoint an executive secretary to the city's election commission in the near future. The salary for that full-time job will be $6995 annually.

Charles E. Smith of 167 Waverley Ave., Newton, has been named by the Mayor to fill the vacancy created on the Newton Housing Authority by the death of the late John Bottomley.

The appointments of both Smith and Hirshberg have been submitted to the Board of Aldermen for confirmation.

Elks Give Bonds As Awards On Youth Day

Mayor Monte G. Basbas was the principal speaker at the recent Elks Youth Day, sponsored by Newton Lodge 1327, B.P.O.E.

Awards were made for leadership and oratory.

The Mayor spoke on the need for "younger leadership and ideas," saying that "not all are destined to be mayors, governors, senators or presidents," but that it is the responsibility of our privileged youth to give leadership through assistance to all."

Lodge leadership awards of U.S. Savings Bonds were presented to Miss Alice Kerr, St. Bernard's High School, and Charles M. Graban, Newton High School. Miss Kerr also received the district first-place award and two state level awards of bonds.

Lodge oratorical awards went to Miss Jacqueline Nolan of Presentation Academy, and Robert W. Tenant of Newton High. Miss Nolan also received a bond and engraved plaque as the district winner, and she will compete in the state finals at Chicopee June 17.

Newton Emblem Club No. 8 presented its scholarship award to Miss Kathleen Gardner of Newton High School, who will enter Rhode Island Teachers College in the fall.

Therapy For Handicapped Tots Favored

Application for a federal grant to establish a therapeutic development center for pre-school children who are handicapped physically, mentally or emotionally was approved Monday night by the School Committee.

The application would be made under Title 3, Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, and would be submitted for the Newton public schools, the Newton Mental Health Center, and other agencies, by the superintendent of schools.

The three-year program would cost a total of $417,607, with the city paying $62,700 of that amount. The cost for the initial year would be $126,353, with the city contributing $20,900.

The major objective of the program will be "to provide a situation for observation and diagnostic evaluation in order to determine suitable educatonal placement for handicapped children, and to provide a wide range of services and developmental experiences for children who are capable of profiting from a special therapeutic nursery school program."

During discussion of the project, Committeeman Edwin C. Hawkridge voiced objection to its cost. According to his figures, he said, it would come to $6000 per child per year. He added that it should be remembered that the money from federal grants "comes from us in the end."

Dr. Brown expressed the opinion that Hawkridge's figure was set too high. He told the School Board members there is a possibility that, after three years of continued financial support had been obtained, the United Fund would enter the picture and that additional funds might come from private sources.

The superintendent explained that the Newton public schools would provide administrative assistance and that additional medical, psychiatric and administrative services would be provided by the city's public health department and the Newton Mental Health Center.

Committeeman Hawkridge abstained from voting on approval of the application.

Pass Civil Service Test

Two names of Newton residents appear in a civil service alphabetical list of persons who passed an examination for promotion to supervisor in education in the Massachusetts Rehabilitation Commission. They were Frank J. Nardo, 101 Falmouth road, West Newton, and Robert Thornton, 32 Holman road, Auburndale.

Auburndale Area Faces Norumbega Fire Hazard

Five municipal officials told the Board of Aldermen Monday night that vacant buildings in abandoned Norumbega Park offer a fire, safety and health hazard to the neighboring Auburndale area and should be demolished.

Public Buildings Commissioner Vincent D. Burns, Police Captain William Quinn, Fire Lieutenant Joseph Fitzsimmons, Public Health Director Dale H. Cook and Building Inspector Victor J. Taglienti declared their statements were based on a personal inspection they made at Norumbega Park last Thursday.

Burns reported that the buildings at the park are in an extremely dangerous and dilapidated condition and constitute a fire hazard. He said they should be torn down to prevent a possible conflagration in the area.

He said the five officials found "100 places of access with numerous evidence of fire hazard."

As public buildings commissioner, I would be remiss in my duty to allow this condition to continue," Burns stated.

Commissioner Burns had requested the hearing before the Aldermanic Board to determine whether the buildings at Norumbega Park are a nuisance or dangerous and, if so, what should be done about them.

Lt. Fitzsimmons, corroborating the testimony of Burns, declared that the buildings "are ripe for a touch-off."

He said that each of the buildings contains a large accumulation of combustible material such as paper, dry leaves and dry vegetation.

"We even found three gas units still connected to the main which could easily have been turned on by vandals," testified Fitzsimmons who is attached to the city's Fire Prevention Bureau. The gas units have been turned off as a precautionary action.

'CHERRY SHEET' TO DISAPPOINT CITIES

GOV. VOLPE HINTED Wednesday that some cities and towns may be disappointed when they learn how much they will receive from sales tax receipts.

The so-called "cherry sheet" distribution figures will be released Thursday. "Some communities will not do as well as might be expected because of a partial year collection in the sales tax," Volpe said. Volpe explained that since the sales tax became effective April 1, only nine months of collection instead of 12 will go to the state's communities.

"And the distribution is distorted on a partial year collection," he said. "When we noted that some communities might be geting less than they are expecting, we rechecked the situation."

The state law requires that every city and town shall receive at least 115 per cent of the amount of educational aid distributed last year.

Volpe said he is considering filling legislation which will allow the state to better meet its obligations to the communities.

Donahue, McCormack Camps Both See First-Ballot Wins

After listening to the claims being made by top supporters of State Senate President Maurice A. Donahue and former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack, opponents in the fight for the Democratic endorsement for Governor, one begins to wonder if they are talking about the same contest.

Both the Donahue and McCormack [illegible] scoff at appraisals that the Democratic gubernatorial battle may prove so close that it might not be settled on the first ballot.

Each camp declares flatly that its man will win on the opening ballot and win decisively.

Political candidates are not noted for their conservatism in estimating their own prospects of emerging victorious from a campaign.

But rarely have two adversaries been quite so optimistic about their chances as are Donahue and McCormack.

Taxpayers Association Is Critical Of School Board

The Newton Taxpayers' Association calls for a "re-examination" of the Newton School Committee and questions an assumed power of the Newton Schools Foundation in the association's recent bulletin.

The Taxpayers' object to an alleged purpose of the Foundation, to by-pass the Newton city treasurer's office by distributing funds, which the Taxpayers' assert result from operation of the public municipal service, directly to the school committee.

Many Newton school teachers are engaged in curriculum revision and in developing several new instructional and other programs.

The Association is questioning "as poor procedure at best" the alleged power of the private non-profit Foundation to receive the teachers' finished product, market it to publishers or other producers and then pay the proceeds directly to the school committee "for use in furtherance of one or more of the objects or purposes" of the Foundation.

The Taxpayers' agree that the Foundation's purposes are worthy and laudable.

However, the Association points out that the organizing members of the Foundation were all members of the Newton school committee; that as school committee members they had the final determination of how teachers used their time, and that much if not most of the teachers' work was done on time made available to them by school department decision.

The Association argues that the resulting material is a product of the public service, that any proceeds from it should go to the city treasurer's office, and that if the school committee then wants to use equivalent sums to especially reward the teachers involved or for other educational purposes, it should so vote through its regularly appropriating publicly accountable channels.

In other action by the Board, it was voted to accept the request of Alderman Jason Sacks for reconsideration of the previous meeting's denial of two taxi stand petitions, one by Mrs. Nellie Curtin opposite 447 Centre St., Newton, and one for a stand opposite 275 Washington St., Newton, and a petition by James E. The Board voted to accept the request of Coletti Realty Company, Inc., for permission to withdraw its petition for a change of zone from Single Residence B. Approved was Bresci J. Pentabone's petition that land now unzoned on Rumford Ave., abutting the city dump, be designated as a Manufacturing District.

Alderman Paul J. Burke imposed a charter objection that halted debate on a recommendation of the Zoning Committee for an ordinance amendment restricting dormitory locations at religious and educational institutions. The amendment had been approved following a public hearing held last Apr. 4. Prior to Burke's objection, it had been suggested that an exception be made in the case of non-profit hospitals, of which Newton-Wellesley Hospital is one.

Approved with slight alterations was Mayor Basbas' recommendation for the placing of parking meters in unmetered municipal parking areas. One change called for three-hour parking in all lots in which the Mayor suggested two-hour parking. Another set the price for all-day meters at 50 cents. The four unmetered areas were those in Newtonville, West Newton, Newton Highlands and Newton, south of the Massachusetts Turnpike.

Art Pageant Plans Are Set For Auburndale June Event

When the Art Pageant opens on June 3, there will be 20 3 by 6 foot banners flying over Lyons Park in Auburndale.

One of the gayest of them was made by the Kindergarten of the Burr School. For most of the children the needle and thread was an exciting new experience. As their theme the young artists chose "The Cat and the Fiddle and the Cow Jumped Over the Moon." Under the guidance of their teacher, Miss Dorothy Sollitto, the class finished well before the deadline. Members of the Kindergarten are: Joan Adams, Michael Barberio, John Battaglino, Odette Boudreau, Cheryl Burgess, Joanne Capizzi, Stephen Cunningham, David DeCourcey, Deborah Donato, Joanne Durbano, Dana Eisenberg, William Farrell, Jonathan Fasman, Barbara Feil, Maura Flessas, Steven Flynn, Thomas Hagerstrom, Linda Hatch, Geoffrey Kummins, Leslie Marckini, Gerard Marrocco, Richard McIssac, Elizabeth McMullin, Karen Miller, Christopher O'Donnell, Nancy Randolph, Barbara Russo, Eric Silberg, Nancy Turner, Barbara Walker, Richard Wallace and Gail Whiting.

There will also be a "Student Show" which will be representative of the art work done by the students in their classrooms. The works shown in the "Student Show" will be chosen under the supervision of Miss Eleanor Eliott, director of Art for the Newton school system.

The "Student Show" will give a place of honor to a very special "guest artist," Mrs. Ruth Draper, who was the teacher of the Burr School Kindergarten for 35 years. Since her retirement in 1950, Mrs. Draper has devoted much of her time to painting.

Her specialty is the coast of Maine. Mrs. Draper, a lively 77 last February, wrote a letter to the Pageant Committee expressing her interest in the Pageant and wishing them success which led to the committee's asking Mrs. Draper to show some of her paintings at the Pageant.

The Pageant will be held June 3, 4 and 5 at Lyons Park, Commonwealth Ave., Auburndale, under the sponsorship of the Burr-Murray Rd. PTA. On June 7-11 the Pageant will be moved into the Auburndale Library, Auburn St., Auburndale. In case of rain, the Pageant will open June 7 in the Auburndale Library and the outdoor exhibit will be postponed until June 10.

Total -

"The total amount raised this year was $393,001.28 as compared to $327,826.27 last year," said Major E. M. Wheelwright.

"Because of the generosity of the people in Newton and throughout the area, we are able now to maintain two Birth Defects Centers in Boston and to assist in maintaining several hundred research grants throughout the United States. Hopefully, by next year, we will be able to find an answer to some of the many different causes of mental retardation and other Birth Defects," said Major Wheelwright.

"Things look good in the future, and thanks to the generosity of you people, we will be able to get more things done."

"I would particularly like to thank Harry M. Cohen, Mayor Monte G. Basbas and Mrs. Angelina A. Henes for their splendid efforts as town chairmen and Mothers' March chairman, for without their indominable spirit the sum of $15,236.53 could not have been raised," he said.

Aldermen Vote $22,000 Shift To School Dept.

Approval by the Board of Aldermen was voted Monday night to a request for an appropriation of $22,000 from the budget reserve for transfer of the School Department administration offices from 430 Walnut St., Newtonville, to the now vacant Stearns School at 27 Jasset St., Newton.

Reason for the School Department's move is to provide space in the Walnut St. building for three additional classrooms of Newton Junior College.

The roll-call vote on the transfer was 20 in favor, with three absent, and with an opposing vote by Chairman John P. Nixon of the committee on Finance. He had been the lone dissenter to that committee's 3 to 1 vote in favor of the transfer. Aldermen Winslow C. Auryansen, Edward C. Uehlein and Wendell R. Bauckman were absent.

Nixon, presiding in place of the absent president, Wendell R. Bauckman, stepped down to give a minority report on the matter.

Saying he voted against the transfer as a matter of principle, he said that "my feeling is that Newton Junior College has a voracious appetite for things the founding fathers did not have in mind in getting the college started. The proposed program is one the community cannot afford. The three classrooms that will be added are only a forerunner, and will be a drop in the bucket. There should have been a better contact between the School Department and the Board of Aldermen on this. I do not approve of the tactics or the method."

It was brought out in the debate that when the new Day Junior High School is complete, the School Department would occupy the old Day School.

Speaking in favor of the transfer, Adelaide B. Hall declared that the Junior College was filling a great need in the community, and trying to live with limitations that had been set years ago. "The vacant school," she said, "would be put to good use. I consider this a good investment."

New York—Cases of measles and whooping cough in one recent year were 50 percent greater than a year before, but the death rate was low.

MRS. MIRIAM M. RITVO

Newton Woman Co-Author Of Nursing Book

Mrs. Miriam M. Ritvo, of Newton, with Dr. Adelma E. Mooth, both of Boston University, have published a new book, "Developing the Supervisory Skills of the Nurse; A Behavioral Science Approach."

Their book bases its approach to supervision in nursing on behavioral science ideas that are consistent with, and complimentary to, theories of adult education.

The authors' goal is the fusion of the behavioral science implications with adult education using the same method.

Mrs. Ritvo resides at 63 Bennington street, Newton, with her husband, Dr. Meyer Ritvo.

She is affiliated with Boston University as training associate, Human Relations Center; professor of education, School of Education; lecturer, School of Nursing; and project director, Cooperative Project for Educational Development.

Mrs. Ritvo's other activities include supervisory training at Massachusetts General Hospital and consultant to state and nationwide business and professional organizations.

Political Highlights

Needless to say, each camp insists that the other is claiming votes it doesn't have.

One of Donahue's top campaign backers asserts that he had been certain the Senate president would be the choice of the convention but that he had thought the fight would be a tougher one than it is proving to be.

A spokesman for McCormack declares that the former Attorney General is a sure winner on the first ballot and may get the convention endorsement before the rollcall of delegates on the opening ballot is even completed.

What this probably means is that the Donahue-McCormack race is an extremely tight one and that its outcome may remain in doubt right down to the day of the convention.

A substantial number of on-the-fence delegates haven't yet committed themselves for either candidate and may hold the balance of power in the fight.

McCormack was leading in the early stages of this contest, but Donahue has been making gains and appears to have some momentum behind him.

Neither McCormack nor Donahue appears like a candidate who is trying to whistle his way past a political graveyard.

Each is seemingly convinced that he is ahead of the other.

There are two possible reasons why this may be so.

Some delegates, reluctant to say "No" to a prominent public figure, may have indicated to both Donahue and McCormack that they are leaning in their direction.

Political leaders, who have pledged themselves to deliver entire delegations either to Donahue or McCormack, may have promised more than they can produce.

When ex-Governor Endicott Peabody and former Lieutenant Governor Edward F. McLaughlin, Jr., fought it out for the endorsement for Governor at the 1962 Democratic State Convention, it was taken for granted that one of the two would win on the first ballot.

However, former Registrar Clement A. Riley picked up enough votes on the first ballot so that neither Peabody nor McLaughlin was able to poll a majority of the delegate votes.

Riley broke the logjam by withdrawing, and Peabody gained the endorsement on the second ballot.

History could repeat itself at the Democratic conclave next month despite the confidence expressed by both McCormack and Donahue.

Former Presidential Aide Kenneth O'Donnell should go into the convention with at least as many votes as Riley had in 1962, and he may have enough strength to force the contest to a second ballot. Whether O'Donnell would withdraw in such an event, as Riley did, is another question.

While the picture could change, this clash for the Democratic endorsement for Governor has all the aspects of a political horse race which could go right down to the wire. It would be highly surprising if anyone scores an easy victory, notwithstanding the lavish claims.

U. of Mass. Students Subsidized by State

One thing seemingly overlooked in the controversy over the undergraduate magazine at the University of Massachusets is that the UMass students are having their college educations subsidized in a large measure by the taxpayers of this Commonwealth.

The modest tuition paid by a student at the University of Massachusetts covers only a portion of the cost of the education he gets. The balance of the expense is met largely from State appropriations.

So the people, who keep the university functioning by digging down into their pockets to pay their tax bills, have a right to expect a little more than was reflected in the blasphemous cartoon and the filth contained in a so-called undergraduate magazine.

If the students had gone through with their ill-advised plans for a march on th State House in defense of freedom of the press, they would have done even greater damage to their university than already has been by the publication of "Yahoo."

There is scant disposition on the part of officials at the State House to tolerate much nonsense from any University of Massachusets students as far as a defense of their magazine is concerned.

Bishop Christopher J. Weldon of Springfield undoubtedly was right when he declared that the editors of "Yahoo" are not yet "housebroken."

What some legislative leaders are wondering, however, is how much more money the people of Massachusetts will be obliged to spend in order to "housebreak" them and whether a state-supported university in these times is the place for students who aren't "housebroken."

Row Over Architects A Tempest in Teapot

From where we sit the controversy over the selection of architects to design a new State Medical School is much ado about nothing.

The Democratic Senators investigating the choice of architects for the job would normally be expected to harvest as much political hay as they could in an election year.

But their probe hardly merits all the attention it has been getting and the newspaper headlines it has been receiving.

In the first place there isn't much difference in the professional standings and reputations of the architectural firms involved in the dispute.

The fact that an architectural concern which made a contribution to a Governor, got a contract from his administration is scarcely a novelty.

Back through the years firms which helped to finance a Governor's campaign have received contracts of various kinds.

That has been the system, and the guessing is that Governor Volpe has followed it to a lesser degree than any of his gubernatorial predecessors in recent years.

Maybe the system is wrong and should be corrected, but any legal ban on contributions by architectural firms would only result in their being made under the table to candidates with no public record of the donations.

Neither can we see much sinister in the fact that Peter Volpe, the Governor's brother and an expert in the construction field, was consulted by the State Administration Commissioner on the choice of an architect.

Presidents have been known to consult their brothers on matters of much greater consequence.

Democrats To Hold No-Nonsense Conclave

Democratic State Committee Chairman Gerard F. Doherty is planning to stage a "no-nonsense convention" when the Democratic delegates assemble in the Auditorium at the Prudential Centre next month to endorse candidates for statewide offices.

If Doherty has his way — and the likelihood is he will — a ban will be imposed on demonstrations, bands and even political posters and banners.

This is a radical departure from the senseless, time-wasting foolishness of past conventions, and it is a step which should have been taken long ago.

Instead of waiting in bored fashion for the conclusion of long, tedious and meaningless demonstrations, the delegates will be able to get down to the business of voting for the candidates seeking places on the Democratic State ticket.

This writer has sat at past Democratic State Conventions and watched the same weary, wilted band participate in five or six different demonstrations, frequently beating the drums and blaring the bugles for candidates who were opposing each other.

With all the fights the Democratic delegates will be called upon to settle at their coming conclave, Doherty's decision is an especially wise one.

Even with the demonstrations ruled out, the Democrats may be hard pressed to pick a State ticket during the period they will be able to occupy the Auditorium.

The struggle for the Democratic endorsement for Attorney General, for example, is almost certain to last for hours.

Graduated State Tax Killed 5-1 By Voters

There is no basis for assuming that the people of Massachusetts are any more enthusiastic today about a graduated State income tax than they were when they went to the polls for the 1962 election and rejected it by a 5-1 margin.

The Legislature has given preliminary approval to a proposed constitutional amendment which would allow a graduated State income tax. And the next Legislature presumably will do the same.

But when the question goes on the ballot in the 1968 election, the voters in all probability will kill the suggested change in the State Constitution, just as they did in 1962.

Whatever the eventual remedy may be for the State's financial problems, whether it be the present 3 per cent limited sales tax or a big increase in the State income tax, it is not likely to be a graduated State tax.

That requires a vote of approval by the people which it couldn't get in '62 and probably can't get in '68.

An Informed Citizen

The information in this column is prepared by the Newton League of Women Voters and is of significant interest to this city and its citizens.

The Newton League of Women Voters has, for years, been concerned with the future growth and development of Newton. To insure a city in which it will be as vital and beneficent to live in 1996 as in 1966, the League has supported a detailed general plan for Newton. This would allow the city to grow in an orderly, planned manner.

Thus, when the petition for a zoning change from Single Residence B District to Residence D was made the League opposed it. The land involved was 310,920 square feet, an area adjacent to the city-owned Cold Springs Playground in Newton Highlands and approximately one-third its size.

The General Plan for Newton, published in 1965 by the Newton City Planning Dept. and approved by the Board of Alderman, is a major first step for planned growth. This plan envisions the Cold Springs area as an important recreational facility for the city. To quote Page 34 of the General Plan, "The development to the Cold Springs Playground and some additional land as a municipal golf course and skating arena is proposed as a major public improvement . . . Recent development proposals in the area have accelerated planning for this facility somewhat." In the Capital Improvement Program 1965-1970 an appropriation of $75,000 is requested for plans and acquisition of land, to be followed later by construction costs of $350,000.

In view of these recommendations the League feels that this zoning change would make it difficult to implement the plan for the Cold Springs area. This represents an important instance of the city's need to adhere to its General Plan, to improve its limited recreational facilities, to preserve its rapidly diminishing open spaces—all aims consistent with insuring the best future growth and development for our city.

Lee Loumos Says:

At long last, we seem to be getting seasonable weather and I have been encouraged enough to turn the water on and get our summer home ready for use. The very next thing I did was to put in a TV set as a hedge against a recurrence of the bad weather. If the weekends turn cold, at least I'll have some indoor entertainment.

Periodically, I like to check the coverage of this column and summer TV sets give me an excellent vehicle for this. I have some very good reconditioned TV sets which I will offer to my readers who mention this column for less than the cost of a season's rental. You can have your choice of the group — medium size screens for only $25 and deluxe large ones for only $50. For this small amount you can afford to put a set or two in your summer home and leave it there year in and year out. Of course, the sooner you come in, the better your selection will be.

Newton 'Y' Elects At Annual Meeting

Set forth as "needs of our day" were beliefs in the sovereignity of God, the need for "world community" and for an "active and aroused laity" by the Rev. Boyd M. Johnson, Jr. speaker at the 89th Annual meeting of the Newton YMCA held recently in the YMCA auditorium.

Minister of the Union Church in Waban, the Rev. Mr. Johnson came to Newton in September, 1965 from a pastorate in Woodbridge, N.J. He is a graduate of Dartmouth College and of Princeton Theological Seminary.

"Many people find themselves in confusion in this day of scientific advance and rush of the business world," Mr. Johnson stated as he pointed out the great need for our acceptance of "beliefs which will hold."

Eldred M. Peterson, a past president of the Newton Y and a member of the 89th Annual Meeting Committee presided. Leon F. Marsh served as chairman of the Annual Meeting Committee.

Invocation was asked by the Rev. John E. Lilly, pastor of the Newtonville Methodist Church. Table hosts welcomed members and guests to the dinner.

In the business meeting, reports were given by Wilbur W. Bullen, president, Charles E. Smith, treasurer, Alex R. Miller, general secretary, and Dr. R. E. Sylvester, chairman of the nominating committee.

Names to the Board of Directors at the meeting were: William D. Barry, Rev. William G. Berndt, Frank A. Day, Cooper Eastman, Raymond F. Fields, Phillip B. Hamilton, Robert G. Hennemuth, William E. Hopkins, Arthur R, Marr Jr., James H. Rogers and Frank M. Staszesky. Elected to four year terms as trustees were Cooper Eastman and Roscoe A. Hayes.

Honored for his service 22 years as a member of the Board of Directors was Roscoe A. Hayes. Mr. Hayes was presented a "service award" plaque by Franklin D. Jerome, vice president.

Special program presentations were given in the way of photos of youthful participants in the Camp Chickami Trail Camp program by Eugene M. Sacha and of the Executive Fitness program by Robert G. Rowe, physical director.

Officers for the Association for the year 1966-1967 named at the dinner meeting and the Board meeting which followed were: Wilbur W. Bullen, president; Franklin D. Jerome, vice president; Eldred M. Peterson, clerk, Cooper Eastman, treasurer; and Robert B. Nickerson, assistant treasurer.

Four Newton residents, Harold Sherman Goldberg, Louis Milender, Richard G. Mintz and Hirsh Sharf, will share honors at the annual dinner meeting of Greater Boston Chapter, American Jewish Committee, slated for Sunday evening, June 5, in the Louis XIV Ballroom of the Hotel Somerset.

Currently members of the chapter's Executive Board, and all former chairmen of the chapter, they will be cited at the black-tie event, which will also mark the beginning of a year-long celebration of the 20th anniversary of AJC's Greater Boston group.

Mr. Goldberg, who will serve as chairman of the dinner, is also a national vice president of the American Jewish Committee, and only recently succeeded to the position of administrative vice chairman of the New England Region.

Another highlight of the annual meeting will be the presentation of a gift from the chapter of a human relations literature bookshelf to Boston University's Human Relations Center. This special gift, which was announced by Leonard Kaplan, chapter chairman, is expected to facilitate reference and research on both the undergraduate and graduate levels in Human Relations studies.

Community Center Has Busy Agenda Underway

Activities at the Newton Community Center, Inc. continue at a rapid pace.

Recent activity highlight were the two outings for children held at Sever Hale Reservation in Westwood. Children were transported to the Reservation from the Center by bus. At Sever Hale, they participated in varied games and contests. The menu included hot dogs cooked over an open fire, potato salad, potato chips, cookies, apples and punch. Youngsters stood around the fire and toasted marshmallows to conclude the program.

Girl's Baton classes continue to pratice for the forthcoming recital scheduled for Newton South High School on May 26th and the Community Memorial Day Parade. Mrs. Gilbert, Baton Director, has been meeting each Thursday afternoon with the girl's classes.

An exciting exhibit has been on display at the Newton Children's Library. The exhibit features the work of the Tuesday afternoon art classes which meet with Mrs. Libby Conrad Van Buskirk. Students ranged in age from 9 to 12 years old.

Adult groups and classes continue to meet. Golf school under the direction of popular Mr. Dan Meany has expanded into an additional evening to help meet the heavy demand. Classes now operate Tuesday mornings, Wednesday evenings, and Friday evenings.

Senior Citizens are in the mdist of planning their closing activities for this program year. They have had an outstanding group of officers and a good deal of varied and active events each Monday afternoon throughout the year.

The Community Center Ballet School ended its year with a gala spring demonstration at the Newton South High School recently. One hundred and thirteen girls, all Newton residents, performed.

Miss Katherine Dickson, school director, featured a "Summer and Winter" theme. The program opened with a demonstration by the preschoolers and concluded with the performance of the advanced class.

Summer Courses Listed At Adult Education Center

Registration is now open for the summer program of more than 75 daytime and early evening courses at the Boston Center for Adult Education at 5 Commonwealth Ave.

The Center also offers instruction in four foreign languages—French, German, Italian, and Spanish.

Ward PTA To Meet In NHS Building No. 1

Ward School PTA will hold its spring meeting in Building No. 1 of Newton High School Monday evening, May 23, at 8:15, at which time Richard Mechem, Newton High principal, will conduct a tour of the 86-year-old structure, and discuss plans for its future.

It is hoped that the tour will attract the interest of Ward School parents, as their children will eventually be housed in Building 1. In view of the fact that a new high school will not be completed until at least mid-1970, the PTA members hope something meantime can be done to improve the condition of the building.

The meeting is open to the public, and all interested parents of youngsters in surrounding schools are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served.

A cluster of similar lace held in place her fingertip illusion veil. She carried her mother's prayer book topped with white carnations and stephanotis.

Miss Karen Anderson of Waltham was honor maid. The bridesmaids were Miss Maureen O'Brien, Miss Sandra Nicoletta, both of Newtonville, and Mrs. Philip Matyi of New York.

The best man was Richard Kendall of Cambridge. Ushering were Charles O'Brien of Newtonville, brother of the bride, as well as Alfred Vellucci and Leslie Oliver, both of Cambridge.

Mr. and Mrs. MacLeod plan to live in Arlington.

The bride was graduated from the Cambridge City Hospital School of Nursing, where she is a member of the staff.

Mr. MacLeod, a graduate of Boston College, is completing graduate work at the Yale University School of Medicine.

City Bank To Open Office In Mattapan

City Bank & Trust Co., which was the first commercial bank to open in Boston in 26 years, when it started business Feb. 1957 in its present location at 175 Washington street, Boston, will open its third branch Thursday, May 19, at 1214 Blue Hill avenue, Mattapan.

This area has never before had a commercial bank within walking distance.

The bank has had phenomenal growth. In December 1957 assets totaled $7,218,573.94 which increased to $40,595,788.77 as of December 1965.

Its president, Rubin Epstein, asked his friends of varied backgrounds and business experience to join him in organizing the bank. All original directors are still on the board with the exception of two who are deceased. All were local businessmen who helped with all problems, were acquainted with the local community and rendered valuable assistance.

In June 1965 the bank opened its second office in the Newmarket Square area of Roxbury. The branch has proved itself successful.

City Bank & Trust Company has entered into an agreement with the Boston Redevelopment Authority to build its new 6-story bank building on Court Street opposite City Hall Annex and is now working on plans, expecting to break ground this fall and open its doors by the fall of 1967 with every modern facility. Five floors will be available to tenants.

ton Police Department services and personnel. It is considered a most unusual civic publication and the finest example of co-operative community action in recent years.

The distribution of some 25,000 of the booklets will include civic and business leaders, lawyers, judges, school executives, clergy, private and parochial schools, PTA groups, civic, service, fraterna', religious, and veteran organizations, in addition to householders.

Mayor Basbas and Police Chief Purcell have urgently requested that Newtonites read "Guardians of Your Property and Welfare" carefully and thoroughly, and keep it in a handy place.

It is important that resi-dent do this. They will learn from the booklet just how can be done in law enforcement and crime prevention through co-operation between Newton citizens and their police department.

Preparation and publication of the booklet, and the extensive crime prevention campaign itself, are the results of careful and considered planning.

It is Newton's answer to the lawless fringe which preys upon the unwary and the uninformed. Newton is fighting back, under the leadership of Mayor Basbas and Police Chief Purcell.

Both Mayor Basbas and Chief Purcell point out that the first practical cooperation between citizens and their police, is a complete understanding of police department duties, and the service the department is prepared to give.

The booklet carries this information. Newtonites are asked to procure one free, read it and keep it in a handy place.

Letter Raises Questions On Proposed School Site

Editor of The Graphic:

Recently we read the good news that Mayor Basbas and his Site Committee are moving ahead with decisions to rebuild Newton High School. This is a most essential public project which deserves community-wide support. However, I would like to raise some questions at this time.

Presumably, the Newton High School Building Site Committee was instructed to find and recommend a site for a 3000-student high school. Apparently, they were unable to do so. Instead, they recommended a site for a 2500-student school, which means changing the school district lines and sending 500 students by bus to Newton South High School which must be expanded to receive them.

Until recently, I had the impression that the School Committee defined school districts and determined the type and amount of facilities needed within each district. Of course, I knew that they would take into account the views of other public agencies, and also that they could be overruled by higher authority or a public mandate. Nevertheless, I believed that these determinations were initiated by the School Committee.

Also, I believed that the role of a Site Committee was simply to find a site for some predetermined public facility (such as a new central library of 60,000 sq. ft., or a high school for 3000 students).

It is surprising to learn that a Site Committee consisting of three school officials and 16 other civic leaders should recommend reorganizing the high school population, redrawing the school district lines, and transferring 500 students from the central campus at Newtonville to Newton South High School.

It might have been that the School Committee had originally made this decision to bus 500 students to Newton South High School; perhaps they concluded that no more than 55% of the high school students should go to the centrally located campus, and that the other 45% should be assigned to the rather remote (albeit charming) precinct in which Newton South is located. However, from the newspaper accounts, it would appear that the Site Committee originated these decisions.

My own amateurish view is that there is no basic reason for this transfer. Newton South is one of the finest high schools in the United States. I don't believe that it needs an additional 500 students to improve its academic qualities. On the other hand, Newton High School has the best location in the City for educational purposes. I should think that it would be rebuilt for the same or larger capacity.

The Newton High School site is close to the geographic center of the City, and even closer to the population center. It is on a main street and has good public transportation (by Newton standards, which are comparatively low); it has an abundance of supporting and related facilities nearby, including the Newtonville Branch Library, the Junior College, and the Newtonville shopping center.

This superb central location will grow in value. The new $2 million central library will probably be constructed near this site; the junior college may be rebuilt; public transportation in the area is bound to improve; the Newtonville shopping center will probably expand; and someday the MBTA will probably provide a rapid transit service within a few blocks of the site.

On the other hand, the Newton South High School site, located at one of the City's extremities in a purely residential neighborhood, will progressivley decline in locational values as major city-wide institutions are constructed from time to time along the Walnut Street corridor in central and north Newton.

One might well wonder why the Newton South site was ever selected before even pondering the question of why 500 additional students should be dispatched from central Newton neighborhoods to this locale.

Suburban communities — and Newton is partially suburban—are essentially school districts which comprise municipal federations. Redrawing school districts is almost as significant as changing municipal boundaries. No one would expect that a Site Selection Committee for a new city hall would recommend shrinking the municipal boundaries so that they could reduce the size of the building. By the same token, it is puzzling that a high school site committee should recommend changing the school districts in order to reduce the size of the school site.

There may be some serious problems lurking beneath the surface. Quite possibly, the peculiar location of Newton South High School has created a certain amount of civic disunity. Now, if new district lines are drawn, the problem can be aggravated. For example, if Commonwealth Avenue were selected as the new line with all of the students north of this street going to one high school and all of the students south going to another high school, we could be well on the way to creating two separate Newtons, each with its own distinctive ethnic and economic personality. The undesirability of this prospect is, I think, perfectly obvious.

The Site Committee considered Edmands Park for high school purposes, but put it aside because it is parklands and because of numerous mechanical problems. I disagree with the contention that Edmands Park is a useful parkland, and perhaps I should say that I am a member of the Newton Conservators and I feel very strongly about the preservation of open spaces. However, Edmands Park is a vacuum. Cities abhor a vacuum just as nature does. Places like Edmands Park eventually become strewn with beer cans and afflicted with all manners of problems until they are brought under some realistic control. The City could organize, develop and regulate this area as a useful parkland, or the City could designate it for public or private building.

While I do not advocate building the new high school in Edmands Park, nevertheless it could be an economic move since the present site has a great reuse value so Edmands Park might be worth further consideration, if not for the new campus then at least for some public supported facilities.

In respect to the present high school site itself, the Committee concluded that this site, even when expanded by 3.7 acres, was not large enough to accommodate 3,000 students. The question here is the standard which the Committee used. Certainly, by rural standards the site is too small, and it may be inadequate by suburban standards; but actually, this will be an urban institution and consequently, the available land may well be adequate; if not, there are some questions that might receive a very careful review.

There is the matter of 500 car spaces to be provided. Assuming that this is actually necessary, I would hope that the architect engaged by the City will not simply create a 3.5 acre parking lot which could be the largest, most expensive, ugliest, and emptiest lot in the entire City. Hopefully, he will have enough skill to combine this requirement with others and accomplish some land saving.

Then, there is the question of the athletic plant which serves three distinctive purposes: The physical education program of the school; inter-school contests; and the service as a public playground. Since two of these three functions can be accommodated elsewhere, some saving should be possible. Then, there is the matter of expanding a site by eminent domain. Quite wisely, the Committee wishes to use this power sparingly. But they may be too conservative. Eminent domain is a power given the City so that they can acquire adequate land for important public facilities. It exists so that a Site Selection Committee may be able to plan the assembly of enough land to accomplish its purpose.

It exists to allow a committee which is looking for a 3000-student school site to accomplish that purpose rather than compromising and making-do with a site that will handle only 2500 students. In other words, this is a power given the City to solve a problem which the City reports that it cannot solve. As for the cost of eminent domain, one has to carefully weigh the dollar outlay and the loss of tax returns against the long-term economic and social costs of a second-best solution.

Sometimes, the failure to use eminent domain and the insistence upon easy and expensive site acquisition produce a long-term problem. This is what probably happened in the original selection of the Newton South High School site. If so, then the same error should not be repeated.

I would gather without knowing specifically that the Site Selection Committee made its recommendations without the benefit of architectural and engineering studies. If this is true, then certainly, one might be optimistic that further examination of the problem could lead to a better solution.

In Newton, we have a dedicated Mayor and School Committee. In this case, they are assisted by a very competent Site Selection Committee. If they wish to obtain a site for a high school for 3000 students, I have no doubt that they have the ability to accomplish this task.

On the other hand, if their primary goal is to reduce the size of Newton High School, change the school districts, and transfer 500 students to Newton South High, then I am sure that they will welcome and appreciate citizen reaction to this program.

Sincerly yours,
Daniel J. Ahern

Now It's Bathtubs In 'His And Hers'

By JOHN D. PARRY
United Press International

PARIS (UPI) — Now, for the couple who have everything: His and Hers bathtubs.

Paris designer Michel de Lacour, who is to bathroom fixtures what Dior is to dresses, has come up with the idea as a new way of promoting togetherness.

The tubs don't exactly come cheap — they're priced around $3,600 the pair, in pink and yellow marble. But Lacour argues, people who are going to buy twin bathtubs probably have that kind of cash to spare anyway.

Lacour thinks his elegant fixtures are doing something to give the bathroom more standing around the house.

"The bathroom should be a part of the house as a whole," he says. "Not somewhere tucked away in the back. Away with prudishness! Let's have our friends into the bathroom for a cup of tea while we take our tub.

"The bathroom ought to give people the same sense of joy they get from bathing outdoors."

25 Faucet Types

Lacour practices what he preaches by having some of the swingingest bathroom fixtures ever seen. He sells 25 types of faucet, for example, including some made of amethyst and pink quartz.

Not surprising he does a lot of business with movie stars, both in Europe and the United States.

"Once I built a bathroom for Curt Jurgens, the German star," he says. "It had a mirror all down one wall, all the way to the bath itself, and a big open fireplace on the other side so he could climb out of the tub and then lie down in front of the fire and dry off."

Bathrooms, says Lacour, are like cars. You should change them regularly to keep up with the new models.

One of his greatest triumphs has been the sale of a complete bathroom to the Shah of Iran.

The two sinks were of solid marble supported by two life size white marble hunting dogs. The faucets, of course, were in gold, which Lacour says is the best bathroom metal — because it doesn't alter with humidity.

Designers 'Pooh' Rising Hemlines

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The high rise in hemlines is getting a definite turn-down from California's French-born couturier Jean Louis.

He admits one should keep up with the times in fashion, but thinks this season Paris is going a bit too far and in the wrong direction at that!

"All the Hollywood type stuff we have poked fun at for years is now what Paris calls washion," said Jean Louis, one of citadel's top costume designers and an America fashion pace-setter.

"I think they have stolen all their ideas from old movies . . . perhaps from our leftover late, late shows," said Louis.

Louis, whose wardrobe designs for Vivien Leigh in "Ship of Fools" brought him an Academy Award nomination, won his first Oscar with the late Judy Holliday's wardrobe in "The Solid Gold Cadillac."

Before World War II, he had established himself as designer for many of the nation's "best-dressed" as the chief designer for Hattie Carnegie, in New York.

The late Harry Cohn of Columbia Pictures brought him to Hollywood to design costumes for Rita Hayworth in "Gilda" and a long procession of stars since have worn Louis' designs.

Among them are Deborah Kerr, Loretta Young, Kathryn Crosby, Rosalind Russell, Joan Crawford, Kim Novak, Irene Dunne and Marlene Dietrich.

"Now, some of the clothes I did years ago look up to date," Jean Louis mused. "It leads one to believe that there is nothing new in fashion."

"In fact, when you think about what Paris is offering, there is no fashion anymore. The waist can be anywhere. Sleeves come in dozens of shapes and sizes. There is no definite trend in anything.

"Only the hemline marks our current fashion and THAT is too short."

Impeccably garbed in a soft beige tweed suit, the man whose designs for women are marked by conservative, but feminine grace wondered what most women's legs would look like with the hemline raised two and three inches above the knee as Paris is showing.

"You might say that it has gotten to the point where it is not the clothes that make the woman, but the leg."

"I doubt that even Marlene Dietrich, who has the most beautiful legs, would consider Paris' current hemline heights flattering," he said.

Blonde Paid For Tippling

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI — Pretty blonde Karen Austin drinks on the job — and gets paid for it.

Mrs. Austin is probably the nation's only female beer taster.

When she gets to work "sometimes we have 14 bottles lined up," she said.

She and the other five tasters for Lucky Beer retire to a long, narrow room where each has an individual stall.

If they cannot tell the difference between the present batch of brew and the previous one, then everything is all right.

Unlike a wine taster, a beer sampler actually drinks the beverage. But Mrs. Austin never gets intoxicated.

"I thing it's different at work," she said. "You do it because you like the job. It's not like a party."

She has been a taster for eight years and she still has a 24-inch waistline.

She started drinking beer as a child in Brooklyn, N. Y., and when she went to work for the brewery as a secretary she always had a glass of beer on the desk.

GOP Reception Draws Capacity Attendance Here

Nearly one hundred Ward Six residents attended the GOP reception held in the Hammond Street home of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Lincoln last week making it one of the most successful events of its kind ever held in the Ward.

The three aldermen of the Ward, William L. Bruce, Ernest Dietz, Charles Hovey, and the Newton School Committee chairman, Dr. Harold Berman addressed the group.

Haskell C. Freedman, former school committee chairman, and Rep. Theodore D. Mann, participated in the open discussion that followed.

He stated that the City Committee would encourage similar meetings throughout the city.

The two day celebration will begin Saturday afternoon with the Sabbath Service and end Sunday evening with the key-note address.

The highlight of the ceremonies will be the speech given at the cornerstone-laying by Rabbi Joseph B. Soloveitchik on Sunday morning.

Local Sculptors Exhibiting Works

Two Newton sculptors are among the more than twenty-five artists who are exhibiting their work at the Members' Annual Show of the New England Sculptors' Association, now on view at the Weeden Gallery at 172 Newbury Street, Boston.

Ernest Morenon, well-known teacher and sculptor, is showing a portrait of Marilyn Powers, Mr. Morenon was born in France, and studied at the Ecole Nationale des Beaux Arts in Paris.

He has won many medals and prizes for national competitions, and has done sculpture for schools and churches. He is now on the faculty of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts School.

Sylvia Lunin is exhibiting a sculpture in green alabaster entitled "Henrietta Moore". Its resemblance to Henry Moore is easily seen. Sylvia Lunin, who lives in Oak Hill, has made sculpture in wood, stone and metal, and exhibited in many local art festivals.

The exhibit of the New England Sculptors' Association will continue until May 28th, and is open to the public Tuesdays through Saturdays, from 10:30 to 5:30, and on Wednesday evenings until 9 P.M.

Aldermen O.K. Traffic Rules

The Board of Aldermen went on record Monday night as favoring the enactment of a law which give the Newton Traffic Commission the right to enact traffic control regulations for a trial 60-day period.

Alderman Jack M. Roberts, who submitted the resolution urging that the Traffic Commission be granted this power for an experimental period, expressed the conviction that the method now used for establishing traffic control regulations is too cumbersome.

Roberts said he would arrange to have a bill filed in the Legislature this week seeking such authority for the Traffic Commission.

"Learn-In" On Viet Nam At Newton High

Some 400 students from Greater Boston public, private and parochial schools joined 400 students from Newton high schools in an all-day Viet Nam "Learn-In" on Tuesday, May 17.

Held in the auditorium of Newton High School, it featured a number of scholars and authorities on the Middle East. Mayor Monte G. Basbas brought the city's greetings to the gathering.

One of the panelists was Do Leh Twan, first secretary of South Viet Nam's observer delegation to the United Nations.

Geoffrey T. Godsell, Christian Science Mintor editorial writer, was moderator. Other speakers were Russel Johnson, peace education secretary for the New England Region, American Friends Service Committee, and Jean M. Lacouture, author of a recent book on Viet Nam and research fellow in the Center for Middle Eastern Studies at Harvard.

During the morning, Dr. Truong Lam, research associate in the Southeast Asia Studies Program at Yale University, discussed the historical perspective on Viet Nam. Dr. John D. Montgomery, professor at Harvard Graduate School of Public Administration, examined "America's Foreign Policy Alternatives." A representative of the State Department, Paul London, a U.S. AID official recently returned from 11 months in Viet Nam, also joined the panel.

The "Learn-In" was sponsored by the World Affairs Council of Boston, the Newton High School Student Council and the Newton Chapter, American Field Service. Co-chairman was Richard C. Howland, assistant principal of Newton High School.

New Manager

The Top Value Stamps redemption center at 300 Walnut St., Newtonville, has a new manager, William G. Haywood of Wayland, whose assignment followed a week's training at the company's general office in Dayton, Ohio.

Funds Voted For Mayor's Job Project

The Aldermen made available Monday night the $6400 requested by Mayor Monte G. Basbas for summer work-study jobs in city departments.

Some 35 to 40 students will benefit from the program, which will be financed by city and federal funds, the federal government providing 90 percent of the cost and the city 10 percent.

The program is designed to assist students from needy families to stay in school by giving them summer employment.

The Mayor, in a letter to the Aldermen, said that the summer program involves the services in city departments of 20 to 26 college students for a 10-15 week period, and 20 high school students for a six-week period.

The Recreation Department will require eight to 10 students for 10 weeks beginning June 26. The Planning Department will use three to five college students to run needed surveys relative to land use, traffic, recreation, etc.

The Executive Department requires the services of 10 persons to work on inventory control to update city manuals and to help staff a proposed information center for the aged.

Students working in the planning and executive departments will begin the first week of June.

The student pay is figured at $70 per week.

Tigers Still In Suburban League Race

The Tigers of Newton High School played two entirely different games this past week — one of them a 16-0 slaughter in their favor, the other a tough 3 to 1 loss.

The win came last Wednesday, when Elliot Libman, righthanded his mates through six innings of one-hit, scoreless baseball, and walloped a grand slam home run and two singles for five rbi's.

Final score in the Suburban League game with Rindge Tech on Newton High's home grounds, was Newton 16, Rindge 0.

That win left the Tigers with a one-game lead over Brookline in the race for a berth in the EMass Tournament.

But alas, the events last Monday, in a game with Weymouth High that was played at home, gave the local lads only one run, and that was tainted. It came in the initial chapter.

The loss ended a four-game win streak, but despite it, Newton clung to second place in the Suburban League.

Newton Girl In Theater School Play

Joanne Lilith McCorry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James T. McCorry, 30 Shute Path, Newton Centre, appeared this week in the play "The Chief Thing" by Nicholas Evreinoff, presented as their final production by the senior students of the Neighborhood Playhouse School of the Theater in New York City.

She is completing the two-year course at this nationally known school of the performing arts. She formerly attended the Leland Powers School of Radio, Television and Theatre in Boston.

The Neighborhood Playhouse School of the Theatre, a non-profit organization, is widely recognized as a leading center for the development of talented young men and women who are interested in acting careers. Among the hundreds of its alumni who have been successful on the stage, in motion pictures, and in television, are Gregory Peck, Joanne Woodward, Tony Randall, Elizabeth Ashley, Eli Wallach, Anne Jackson, Edmond O'Brien, Susan Pleshette and Lorne Greene.

Gerald L. Clarke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joel L. Clarke, 41 Amherst road, Waban; Richard R. Fine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Fine, 23 Channing road, Newton Centre, and Steven A. Cutler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Cutler, 27 June Lane, Newton Centre, have been named to the Dean's List at Babson, men's college of business administration, Wellesley Hills.

Flags Available Now For Newton Veterans' Graves

The Department of Veterans' Services, Newton City Hall, has announced that 12x18 inch U. S. flags are available, at no charge, for the decorating of the graves of veterans.

Carleton P. Merrill, director of Veterans' Services, stated that during the past four years an average of 525 flags per year were given to the families of deceased veterans during the Memorial Day period and that the City of Newton will continue, in 1966, the policy of having the flags available at City Hall as well as at the office of the Newton Cemetery, Walnut St., Newton Centre.

Mr. Merrill has asked that the families of any deceased veteran, buried in Newton, who cannot place the flag on the veteran's grave to contact the Veterans' Services Department, tel 244-2400, so that arrangements might be made to have the flag placed by one of Newton's veterans' organizations.

"It has come to the attention of the Veterans' Services Dept. that many citizens are unable to place the flags themselves and so we are more than pleased to make arrangements to have the veteran's grave decorated."

The Newton Memorial Day Committee has arranged with the Chaplain Wm. Farrell Post No. 23, Disabled American Veterans, to place the flags on the graves of veterans within the Veterans' Lot at the Newton Cemetery.

Mr. Merrill wishes to remind those citizens coming to Newton City Hall for the purpose of securing flags that the offices of the Veterans Services Dept. are open from 8:30 to 5:00 and that the department is now located on the first floor of the Newton Memorial Building, next to the War Museum.

One Juror Drawn

The name of one citizen was drawn for service as a traverse juror at Monday night's meeting of the Board of Aldermen.

Mrs. Sadie MacInnis of 84 Clinton Place, Newton Centre, is to report to the Superior Court in Lowell on Monday, June 6.

Annual Field Day Assumption Guild Saturday

The Guild of the Assumption, Wellesley Hills, announced today that their Annual Field Day will be held on Saturday, May 21, at the Elizabeth Seton High School athletic field at Route 9 and Oakland street.

Field Day features will include a Ferris wheel, merry-go-round and pony rides from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. A ham and bean supper will be served from 5 to 7 p.m. Free parking is available. The proceeds will benefit the Guild's building fund.

Hugh G. O'Neill of Ashland has been named general chairman of Field Day activties. His committee includes George Snowden of Needham, Dr. Robert A. Bush of Auburndale, Raymond J. Silvester of Dover, William Scott and Peter Ablondi of Framingham, J. Albert Burgoyne and C. William Anderson of Wellesley Hills and Kenneth McDonald of Waban.

Asthma Research Chapter To Meet Next Wednesday

The Golden Key Chapter of the Children's Asthma Research Institute and Hospital (Denver) is holding their Spring Open Meeting on Wednesday, May 25, at 11:00 A.M., at the Chestnut Hill Country Club, Newton.

Following a sumptuous brunch, there will be a brief meeting to install the new officers.

Canasta, bridge, Mah jong, or Scrabble will be included on the afternoon program.

Dr. Park To Be Bentley Speaker

Dr. William E. Park, president of Simmons College and a native of West Newton, will deliver the principal address at Bentley College's 47th commencement exercises in Back Bay Theater, Sunday afternoon, June 5, at 2:30 o'clock.

The appearance of Dr. Park will provide an interesting historical link to Bentley's past, for Simmons was the college where Harry C. Bentley taught when he first came to Boston in 1910, seven years before he founded his professional school of accounting and finance.

Professional work on the plan will be done by David L. Young of the Boston Society of Landscape Architects.

The public is invited so that citizens and governmental officials will have an opportunity to visit chosen points on both sides of this Newton-Needham stretch of the Charles. In case of rain, the trip will be cancelled.

Cars will assemble at 2 p.m. along Nahanton street near Kendrick street bridge. There will be five other car stops during the course of the afternoon. The tour is expected to be completed before 5 p.m.

Representatives of the following organizations are working with the Conservators on this project: Newton Centre Garden Club, West Newton Garden Club, Educational Garden Club of West Newton, Newton Upper Falls Civic Association, Massachusetts Audubon Society, Needham Conservation Commission, Needham Garden Club, Wellesley Garden Club, and the Newton representative on the League of Women Voters Charles River Valley Study Group.

Business firms on both sides of the river and the Newton and Needham Police Departments have been notified by letter of this event. Robert W. Chalue, Dr. Arno H. A. Heyn, and Dr. E. Manning Sears are in charge of photography for the tour.

Target -

A diamond ring, $20 in cash and a quantity of liquor was taken by thieves who broke into the home of Hyman Morris at 51 Brush Hill road, Newton Highlands.

A safe containing $700 in cash, a double strand of pearls valued at $175, stocks, bonds and bank books was rolled out of the home of Moses H. Nahigan at 20 Pleasant street, West Newton, by burglars.

Police said the safe was taken from a bedroom, and apparently rolled down the stairs and out the front door. Entrance to the Nahigan home was made by jimmying open the kitchen door.

The entire home of John A. Geishecker at 145 Lowell avenue, Newtonville, was ransacked. He was unable to make a full report immediately on what had been taken.

Two automobiles were reported stolen from the driveways of Newton homes.

The cars were taken from the homes of Ronald Dubinsky at 33 Ruane road, West Newton, and Albert C. Payne at 18 Harwich road, Newton Centre.

The Payne automobile was later recovered after being involved in an automobile accident in Billerica. Police said it was being operated by a Newton man who was injured and was taken to St. John's Hospital, Lowell.

Tools valued at $170 were stolen from a tool box in a building under construction at Sacred Heart College.

A thief who broke into the Jenney gas station at 1072 Beacon street, Chestnut Hill, got away with $90 which he took from a desk drawer.

Meanwhile, three Newton youths, aged 17, 19 and 21, have been arrested in connection with three breaks in Newton.

Police also are seeking a man who rang the doorbell of a Newtonville house and then robbed it when no one answered his ring.

The burglar took an undetermined amount of jewelry and $225 in cash from the home of Bradley S. Bartman at 10 Oakwood street. A neighbor saw a man ring the front doorbell and then walk around to the rear of the building.

Awards -

their service to the College and to announce scholarships.

The main event of the program will be the Convocation Address by Charles W. Dudley, President of the College.

In this annual address to the students who will graduate and the students who will continue their studies at the college, the president traditionally offers a challenge to those who would make the most of the collegiate experience and, as adults, commit themselves to causes and interests which lead to individual fulfillment.

The following awards and scholarships will be announced: The Newton Junior College Service Awards to those students who, through voluntary service, have contributed markedly to the welfare of the College; the Alumni Association Book Award to the member of the graduating class who ranks highest in scholarship and citizenship; Athletics Awards to members of the basketball and baseball teams who have represented the College in intercollegiate competition.

The Kiwanis Scholarship to the member of the graduating class, a Newton resident, who gives evidence of need, leadership, scholarship, and promise of future service; The Beverly and William Carmen Scholarship to a financially needy and educationally worthy member of the graduating class of Newton High School or Newton South High School who plans to enter Newton Junior College in the fall of 1966.

The Honors Address, traditionally given by one of the Honors Students of the College, will challenge the students to concern themselves with some specific topic of vital interest to college students today.

The program will also include special the introduction of new student officers for 1966-1967. Dr. Charles D. Merrill, Dean of the College, will preside.

Graduate Students From McGill Study In Newton

For the second consecutive year, students from McGill University School for Graduate Nurses are doing field work at Newton Junior College under the supervision of Miss Virginia O. Allen, chairman of the Department of Nursing at the college.

Miss Agnes Herd, associate director of nursing education at the Moose Jaw University Hospital School of Nursing in Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, and Miss Coralea Toney, instructor in nursing at the Calgary General Hospital in Calgary, Alberta, are spending three weeks at Newton Junior College, examining the curriculum of the two-year nursing program as part of their course requirement at McGill.

Miss Herd, herself a graduate of the first two-year nursing program in Canada, remarked that she is most favorably impressed by the "carefully planned learning experience in a clinical area, divorced from a service obligation during the student period." She also stated that "Newton Junior College's Nursing Program has an extremely fine reputation in Canada."

Miss Toney, who is broadening her experience in anticipation of the organization of a two-year nursing program in her locale, noted that "the noteworthy characteristic of the Newton Junior College nursing education is that it is an educational experience, not a totally service oriented experience."

The two-year nursing program at Newton Junior College, instituted in 1959, is the first two-year program of its kind in a public junior college in New England. Approved by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Board of Registration in Nursing, this program requires two academic years and one six-weeks summer session. Students undertake liberal arts courses as well as nursing education and hospital experience at community hospitals.

This year the students have been at the Waltham Hospital, the Winchester Hospital, and the V. A. Hospital. Starting this summer, they will be also affiliated with the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Since its inception, the Nursing Program at Newton Junior College has graduated 55 students, all of whom have passed the Massachusetts State Board examinations and are registered nurses.

Miss Allen and her staff have been consultants to individuals and colleges interested in the two-year nursing program and during this current year they have cooperated with the Graduate Program in Nursing at Boston University.

Fitzsimmons pointed out that there have been two general-alarm fires at Norumbega Park, one in the Normandy Room and the other in the Totem Pole.

Police Captain Quinn informed the Aldermen that walk-in refrigerators found in one of the buildings are particularly dangerous for children. "They could walk right into them," he stated.

"If ever a child is reported lost in Auburndale, I think this is the first place we should look," he asserted grimly.

Quinn said it is virtually impossible to police the area, adding that a lot of police time is spent in trying to patrol the park.

He testified that young couples rent boats in Waltham and row down the Charles River to the seclusion of Norumbega Park.

"Someone will be hurt there," Quinn stressed. "It's a potential area for serious tragedy."

Captain Quinn declared that six arrests for looting had been made at the park.

He said that hundreds of machines as well as cash registers are still stored in the empty Norumbega buildings.

A wachman should be stationed there until the buildings are torn down, he maintained. "They can hire my off-duty men at $3.50 per hour," Quinn added.

Health Director Cook declared that the buildings have many accident-prone characteristics. He asserted that the area is a stimulus for vandalism and expressed the conviction that conditions are such that children should not be allowed to roam through the park.

Building Inspector Taglienti supported the testimony of Commissioner Burns.

Attorney Daniel Holland of 75 Federal street, Boston, appeared as counsel for the park's trustees, Francisco Glazius and Paul Mark Ryan. He told the Aldermen the trustees would be surprised to learn of the statements made at the hearing.

When several Aldermen expressed concern about the walk-in refrigerators, Holland replied that he would see that they were taken care of.

Holland said that a Supreme Court decision is expected soon on a suit to block the proposed construction of a $4 million motel at Norumbega park. He said the Marriott Motor Hotel Co. of Newton has an option to build the luxury motel which would cover 10 of the 27 acres in the park.

In response to questions, Commissioner Burns declared that the buildings in Norumbega Park are being taxed by the city and that he had notified the two trustees of conditions at the park.

Francis J. O'Donnell of 48 Islington road, Auburndale, an abutter of the park, stated that at one time he had to evacuate his family at midnight as fire in the park threatened to spread to his house.

No one appeared in opposition to the proposal to raze the buildings. John P. Nixon, vice president of the Board of Aldermen, who was presiding in the absence of President Wendell R. Bauckman, called for show of hands on the matter. There were 20 raised in favor of demolishing the buildings and none opposed.

After more than an hour of deliberation, the Board decided to hold a conference between the Public Buildings Commission, the Public Buildings Committee, and representatives of the owners of the park. It will be held in the Aldermanic chamber on Thursday night, June 2, at 7:45.

South High Has Pair Of Fine Hurlers

The Newton South Lions are in the lower division of the Suburban League this year, but the work of two pitchers has aroused hopes for a far more successful season next year.

Richard Lourie and Steve Gordon performed impressively last Thursday in a game with Rindge Tech on Russell Field in Cambridge. Both are junior righthanders.

Gordon was on the mound for the first four innings, and tossed one-hit ball. Lourie served 'em up for the final four and two-thirds innings, and his three-hit, scoreless relief chore served to give him his initial varsity win.

The final score was Newton South 8, Rindge Tech 2.

M.I.T. Faculty Promotions

Massachusetts Institute of Technology has announced the promotion of four faculty members who are Newton residents.

William F. Pounds, 1401 Walnut St., Newton Highlands, Management, was advanced to a full professorship.

Promoted to associate professor were Aron M. Bernstein, Physics, 142 Langley Rd., Newton Centre; Albert R. Gurney Jr., Humanities, 20 Sylvan Ave., West Newton and Juan M. Navia, Nutrition and Food Science, 30 Perkins St., West Newton.

Fair Housing Committee Supports Summer Program

This summer, Tufts University, through the Lincoln Filene Center, and the Newton public schools are undertaking a five week program of study on the subject "The City: Its Past, Problems and Prospects." This is an intensive and varied effort to let students discover the richness of urban life as well as its gnawing difficulties.

During the five week program the following subjects will be explored:

1. The City's History: How cities physically have developed, with particular focus on Boston.

2. Transportation: A Core Problem: This study will serve as a good introduction to serious analysis of major urban issues.

3. Intergroup Relations: To be studied in the light of the highly varied ethnic, racial, religious and income characteristics of the high school students themselves.

4. Schools and Jobs: Issues which focus very strongly on the interests and expertise of the students themselves.

5. The City's Future. An opportunity for creative examination of urban trends.

The program is open to 80 tenth and eleventh graders — half of them from Newton and half from two areas of Boston (Roxbury and Dorchester). There will be lectures, discussion groups, readings and similar classroom procedures. But the real attraction of the program will be the additional use of imaginative field experiences, graphic exercises, recreational and social occasions.

Most of the cost of this program is being borne by Tufts University, the Newton School Department and by Action for Boston Development (ABCD). But because ABCD cannot legally contribute money to Newton students, $2,500 is still needed for tuition scholarships and for full program benefits for the Newton students in the program. Both Tufts University and the Newton School Department have made generous financial contributions, but it is still necessary to appeal to civic minded organizations, the business community, and individuals in Newton on behalf of this program.

Story Of Job To Be Told In Science Church

The story of Job will form the basis for a Bible Lesson on "Soul and Body" at Christian Science church services this Sunday.

Explanatory passages from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will emphasize the theme that man's real existence is spiritual — in God — and that to accept this gives men dominion over the material body. Included will be these lines: "Man is tributary to God, Spirit, and to nothing else . . . Having one God, one Mind, unfolds the power that heals the sick, and fulfills these sayings of Scripture, "I am the Lord that healeth thee,' and 'I have found a reason'."

Deadline Near For Shrine Fund Dinner Tickets

Paul R. Sawin, 118 Parker street, Newton Centre, member of the committee for the banquet Sunday, May 22, at the Sheraton Boston Hotel that will climax a campaign for funds to build a shrine in honor of Our Lady of Fatima on the grounds of St. Gabriel's Monastery in Brighton, reminds his fellow Newtonites that the deadline is near for obtaining tickets.

He may be contacted for tickets or for donations.

The drive is a joint effort of the Crusaders of Fatima and the Portuguese communities of New England, and is headed by Richard Cardinal Cushing, as honorary chairman.

Mayor Basbas Urges Support Of House Bill

Newton's Mayor Monte G. Basbas has urged strongly the support of House Bill No. 2222, "An Act Requiring the Commonwealth to Reimburse Cities and Towns for Abatements Granted to Certain Persons Seventy Years of Age or Over." In recent letters directed to all members of the Newton Board of Aldermen as well as Newton's Senators and Representatives, Mayor Basbas stated:

"I respectfully urge you to support the passage of House Bill No. 2222, and record me strongly in favor of this legislation.

"There is no doubt in my mind that the legislation granting real estate abatement to persons of 70 years of age is a needed and good law. However, I feel that this is an obligation that the State has imposed on the local communities by taking from the local communities some of the only source of revenue that we have, to wit: real estate taxes. The State should therefore assume some of the obligation and assist the local communities by restoring to the real estate tax coffers some of the tax money taken from the cities and towns."

This bill filed by Representatives Michael Catino, House Chairman of the Committee on Taxation, is currently before the House Ways and Means Committee — Anthony Scibelli, Chairman.

Exhibitions Of Rocks, Minerals At Free Library

For further information and a free program booklet, phone the Center at 267-4430.

The current exhibit of rocks and minerals on display at the Main Library of the Newton Free Library has been loaned by Mrs. Grace G. Dearborn of Newton Highlands.

The numerous, colorful specimens have been selected as representatives of the library's summer reading program.

Mrs. Dearborn has wisely cautioned those who become intrigued with this fascinating hobby that specimens shown as typical of rocks and minerals of a specific park came from the surrounding areas, and not from the park lands. While many of the specimens have been purchased, many have been collected by Mrs. Dearborn herself.

In addition, Mrs. Dearborn has added artifacts which round out the picture of this exciting hobby. There is a snake's head — a warning to the inexperienced rock hound to stop and look before moving into a new area; there is a Folsom Man's skull, as well as other fossils, reminders of how long these rocks have been in the process of forming; coral from the Pacific Islands; one case, centered on Hawaii, with everything from Pele's Hair (volcanic glass) to a tray made from a coconut frond, and even a tiny Hula dancer.

Books on minerology, crystallography, geology and gemology are available to borrowers whose interest and curiosity have been aroused by this display.

The exhibit is on loan to the Main Library, 414 Centre street, until the end of May.

She has taken a large house in Kahala, a suburb of Honolulu. She will be joined in Hawaii by her former brother-in-law, Peter Lawford, and his two children, Chris 11, and Sydney, 9. POVERTY WAR CUTS CRIME, SAYS HHH

VICE PRESIDENT Hubert H. Humphrey said Wednesday that the administration's war on poverty is helping cut the nation's crime rate. He told the graduating class of the FBI National Academy, that crime in the nation's capital has been moving downward since November, 1965, a period when the anti-poverty program was beginning to take effect in Washington. If slums can be removed, the overcrowding of schools reduced, and some restrictions removed from the "administration of our public welfare system," the crime rate can be cut even further, Humphrey said.

DAUGHTER BORN TO FORD HEIRESS

A daughter was born in New York Wednesday to Mrs. Charlotee Ford Niarchos, 24, automotive heiress, and her husband, Greek shipping tycoon Stavros S. Niarchos, 56. Both mother and daughter Elena, were reported in excellent health. The baby is the first grandaugter of Henry Ford II. 48, president of the Ford Motor Co.

AWESOME LUNAR ROCKET UNVEILED

AMERICA MARKED the fifth anniversary of its "on schedule" man-to-the-moon program at Cape Kennedy Wednesday by using a "Crawler" the size of a baseball diamond to roll out a Saturn 5 lunar rocket prototype 364 feet tall.

A crowd of 500 dignitaries, including space scientist Wernher Von Braun, applauded as the monstrous crawling machine moved along its eight lane highway, headed for a launch pad.

It was just five years to the day that President John F. Kennedy committed the nation to put men on the moon by 1969.

The Crime Prevention campaign now underway in Newton, under the combined auspices of Mayor Monte G. Basbas, his special Crime Prevention Committee, and the Newton Police Department, under the direction of Chief Philip Purcell, has received an enthusiastic response throughout the city.

A special campaign booklet "Guardians of Your Property and Welfare — Newton Police Department" is being circulated city-wide as an educational feature of the campaign.

Fifteen thousand of a total of 25,000 of these booklets already have been distributed by the Newton Police Department and have been widely acclaimed.

The booklet is indexed and carries 16 pages of valuable information concerning the role the public can, and should, play in co-operating with the police department in its constant war on crime.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Collins Challenge to Chub For Senate Debate Unheeded

Ex-Governor Endicott Peabody is not demonstrating the same enthusiasm for a public debate in his present campaign for a seat in the U. S. Senate as he did in 1962 when he was fighting to wrest the Governorship away from John A. Volpe.

During the fall of 1962 Peabody hurled one challenge after another at Volpe to debate the issues of the gubernatorial campaign.

Volpe was the sitting Governor and the favorite to win re-election, Peabody the challenger and the underdog. Volpe saw no reason to give Peabody the public exposure he would have received if the two had appeared together in a televised debate, and he remained silent on Peabody's debate challenges.

Peabody capitalized to the utmost on Volpe's refusal to debate the issues, and it cost Volpe some votes.

M.I.T. Faculty Promotions

Massachusetts Institute of Technology has announced the promotion of four faculty members who are Newton residents.

William F. Pounds, 1401 Walnut St., Newton Highlands, Management, was advanced to a full professorship.

Promoted to associate professor were Aron M. Bernstein, Physics, 142 Langley Rd., Newton Centre; Albert R. Gurney Jr., Humanities, 20 Sylvan Ave., West Newton and Juan M. Navia, Nutrition and Food Science, 30 Perkins St., West Newton.

Fair Housing Committee Supports Summer Program

This summer, Tufts University, through the Lincoln Filene Center, and the Newton public schools are undertaking a five week program of study on the subject "The City: Its Past, Problems and Prospects." This is an intensive and varied effort to let students discover the richness of urban life as well as its gnawing difficulties.

During the five week program the following subjects will be explored:

1. The City's History: How cities physically have developed, with particular focus on Boston.

2. Transportation: A Core Problem: This study will serve as a good introduction to serious analysis of major urban issues.

3. Intergroup Relations: To be studied in the light of the highly varied ethnic, racial, religious and income characteristics of the high school students themselves.

4. Schools and Jobs: Issues which focus very strongly on the interests and expertise of the students themselves.

5. The City's Future. An opportunity for creative examination of urban trends.

The program is open to 80 tenth and eleventh graders — half of them from Newton and half from two areas of Boston (Roxbury and Dorchester). There will be lectures, discussion groups, readings and similar classroom procedures. But the real attraction of the program will be the additional use of imaginative field experiences, graphic exercises, recreational and social occasions.

Most of the cost of this program is being borne by Tufts University, the Newton School Department and by Action for Boston Development (ABCD). But because ABCD cannot legally contribute money to Newton students, $2,500 is still needed for tuition scholarships and for full program benefits for the Newton students in the program. Both Tufts University and the Newton School Department have made generous financial contributions, but it is still necessary to appeal to civic minded organizations, the business community, and individuals in Newton on behalf of this program.

The Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights and the Newton Youth for Equal Rights have made an advance gift of $150.00 to launch this fund-raising drive.

Temple Shalom Blood Donor Campaign Lists June Dates

An extensive blood donor campaign is being sponsored by Temple Shalom of West Newton.

The first successful blood bank in the campaign was held on Monday, May 9th at the Temple with a fine turnout of donors attending. Temple officials announce that donors, their immediate families, and parents, are protected anywhere in the United States for one year.

For the benefit of those who were unable to take part in the May 9th clinic, alternate dates are available.

They may donate blood at the Red Cross Bloodmobile at the Memorial School, Oak Hill Park, on Thursday, June 9th, or at the Newton City Hall on Wednesday, June 29th. They may also make appointments through the Red Cross to donate at a hospital.

Anyone from age 18 to 59 is eligible to donate blood. Temple officials further announced that, regardless of where the blood is donated, Memorial School, City Hall, or a hospital, it may be credited to the Temple Shalom campaign for those who are interested in its success.

It also was pointed out that if an individual is unable to give blood, a friend may donate in his name.

WORKING FOR BLOOD BANK SUCCESS — Further plans for the complete success of the current Temple Shalom Blood Bank drive were discussed at recent committee meeting. Seated, left to right: Mrs. Sidney Lewis, Sisterhood chairman; Rabbi Murray I. Rothman, and Mrs. Norman Wolfe, co-chairman; standing: Henry Sollogub, Brotherhood chairman, and Dr. Melvin Levin, co-chairman.

Charles E. Smith was born in Boston, but has lived in Newton for most of his life. He is a product of the Newton public schools, was graduated from Harvard in 1933, and received an LLB degree from Harvard Law School in 1936, and was admitted that year to the Massachusetts Bar.

To Honor Grahm For 15 Years As Head Of School

Leaders in religion, education, the arts, communications and business will be on hand in John Hancock Hall on Thursday, June 2 to hear the reading of a proclamation from the Massachusetts Legislature by Lt. Gov. Elliot Richardson.

The document will commend the solid advancement that has been made by the Cambridge School of Boston and mark the 15th year of Milton L. Grahm as its president.

Mr. Grahm lives at 487 Ward St., Newton Centre.

In 1951 the then Cambridge School of Radio Broadcasting occupied a suite in a downtown office building and had an enrollment of fewer than 30 students.

It is expected that next September, more than 1000 students will attend classes and reside in the former Kenmore Hotel, its Wadsworth annex and the former Lumberman's Mutual Insurance Building.

The occasion will be the 16th annual graduation exercises of Cambridge School, and during the ceremonies, President Grahm will present a citation of merit for ac-

GENE BROWN MOTORS says:

"I'll bet you $5.00 I can sell you a Rambler this week."

Rambler Classic Rebel Hardtop

When you're fully confident of the product you sell you can "put your money where your mouth is." That's why we're betting $5.00 that when you really see and drive a '66 Ambassador, Marlin, Rambler Classic or Rambler American, you'll really like it!

Take this Rebel Hardtop! It's a surprisingly sharp car, at a surprisingly low price. One surprise: Rebel's standard engine is bigger than the standard engine in Belvedere, Chevelle, Coronet and Fairlane!

If you're twenty-one and like surprises, why not take our bet? Just listen to our "quality built in" story, and take a test drive. If you can resist buying before June 1 we're out $5.00. If you weaken, you'll get the deal of a lifetime! (And we wouldn't think of taking your $5.00!)

It's a bet you can't lose, so come right away and start winning!

Don't hack the grass... manicure it with a Sportlawn® by TORO®

A rotary mower is fine for informal turf. But if you're fussy... if you want a carpet-smooth formal cut, get a SPORTLAWN.
The SPORTLAWN cuts your lawn like a pair of surgical scissors. It doesn't tear the grass, it snips it off clean to eliminate brown tips.
TORO makes both a Lo-Cut and a Hi-Cut model, each designed to do a special job.
Prices range from $124.95 to $154.95, depending on model.

Cornelius F. Hughes, 36, a Malden longshoreman with a long police record was gunned down when his assassin fired at least 15 shots at close range. His brother, Stephen, 38, of Charlestown had been shot last March near Cornelius' home and it appeared the gunman had mistaken him for Cornelius.

POVERTY WAR CUTS CRIME, SAYS HHH

VICE PRESIDENT Hubert H. Humphrey said Wednesday that the administration's war on poverty is helping cut the nation's crime rate. He told the graduating class of the FBI National Academy, that crime in the nation's capital has been moving downward since November, 1965, a period when the anti-poverty program was beginning to take effect in Washington. If slums can be removed, the overcrowding of schools reduced, and some restrictions removed from the "administration of our public welfare system," the crime rate can be cut even further, Humphrey said.

School Board Maps Plans To Enroll Hub Pupils In Newton

Detailed plans for enrolling approximately 50 Negro pupils from Boston in seven Newton elementary schools next September, were outlined at Monday night's School Committee meeting.

The seven schools to which the Negro youngsters will be bused will be the Oak Hill, Spaulding, Williams, Hyde, Horace Mann, Countryside and Claflin.

The Horace Mann, Countryside, Hyde, Williams, Spaulding and Oak Hill Schools will enroll about eight Negro pupils apiece, according to present plans.

Because of lack of accommodations a smaller number will be enrolled at the Claflin School.

The children to be bused from Boston to Newton will be third, fourth and fifth-grade pupils.

A memorandum is being sent by Dr. Charles E. Brown, superintendent of schools, to the parents of children in the seven school districts, informing them of the selection of the schools the Negro youngsters will attend.

"The basic criterion in selecting these particular schools was the question of available space," Dr. Brown informed the parents.

He said that in no instance will the admission of the Negro children raise the number of pupils in any classroom to more than 25.

Superintendent Brown also is seeking "second homes" in Newton for the 50 Negro children. In fact, he wants to line up two "second homes" for each Negro child in a school district.

These wou'd be homes where the Negro children could go to eat lunch each school day and which school authorities could call in the event of an emergency.

Brown is asking parents in the seven school districts, who would be willing to provide "second homes" for the Negro youngsters to contact the school principals.

Approximately 200 Negro children will be bused from Boston, starting next September, to schools in other cities and towns, about 50 of them coming to Newton.

This plan has been worked out by METCO — the Metropolitan Council for Educational Opportunities.

Both Superintendent Brown and Newton School Committeewoman Norma W. Mintz are directors of METCO.

In his memorandum to parents of children in the seven schools which the Negro pupils from Boston will attend, Dr. Brown stated:

"The purpose of this memorandum is to inform you that your school has been designated as one of the cooperating schools in Newton. The basic criterion in selecting these particular schools was the question of available space.

"As you may remember, one of the conditions established by the School committee for our participation in this program was that the addition of Boston children would in no instance raise the number of pupils in any classroom above 25. This condition will be met in each of the schools involved.

"It is too early to tell exactly how many Boston children

Collins Challenge to Chub For Senate Debate Unheeded

Ex-Governor Endicott Peabody is not demonstrating the same enthusiasm for a public debate in his present campaign for a seat in the U. S. Senate as he did in 1962 when he was fighting to wrest the Governorship away from John A. Volpe.

During the fall of 1962 Peabody hurled one challenge after another at Volpe to debate the issues of the gubernatorial campaign.

Volpe was the sitting Governor and the favorite to win re-election, Peabody the challenger and the underdog. Volpe saw no reason to give Peabody the public exposure he would have received if the two had appeared together in a televised debate, and he remained silent on Peabody's debate challenges.

Peabody capitalized to the utmost on Volpe's refusal to debate the issues, and it cost Volpe some votes.

Burr School 1st Graders Make Tour Of Post Office

Miss Pulsifer and her first grade class of the Burr School visited the Auburndale Post Office, last Thursday.

Prior to their visit, Robert Frazier visited the classroom to explain the role of the letter carrier in the delivery of the mail. The children were given specially prepared "Mr. Zip" envelopes to be addressed by them to their homes in order for them to follow "their" letter through the various steps of processing.

Upon arrival at the Post Office the group was met by David Purcell who conducted the tour. The children then watched "their" letter go through the collection, cancellation, distribution, and delivery phases of the postal service, with "their" letter being delivered to their homes the following day.

In addition, they were shown how incoming and outgoing mail is handled, how mail is transported, and were given the opportunity to "help" Mr. Purcell with some cancelling of parcel post stamps.

The children were very interested, and showed great enthusiasm throughout the tour as evidenced by the questions that were asked of their guide.

In the day following the children wrote "Thank You" notes to Superintendent Frank Larsen and drew pictures of their impressions of the Post Office to show the postal employees what they had learned.

These drawings are currently on display in the outer lobby of the Auburndale Post Office as part of the "Mr. Zip" display.

Brothers Held In $20,000 For Alleged Assault

Two Florida brothers, who allegedly beat up a Waban doctor Sunday and attempted to extort $500 from him, were held in bail of $20,000 each by Judge Julian L. Yesley in Newton district court on Monday.

The two brothers, Dr. Charles Younger, 28, and Clyde W. Younger, Jr., both of Panama City, Fla., pleaded innocent to all the charges brought against them.

They are accused of beating up Dr. Frank Camoscio, 33, of 33 Plainfield street, Waban, and of endeavoring to extort $500 from him. They also are charged with possessing bombs, assault and battery, larceny of registration plates and attaching improper plates to a motor vehicle.

Dr. Camoscio told police the two Younger brothers rang his doorbell Sunday morning. When he answered the bell, he said, they seized him, tied his hands and punched him in the chest and mouth.

Dr. Camoscio, who recognized one of his assailants as Dr. Younger, broke loose, ran into his home and telephoned police. When the police arrived, the two men had disappeared.

Dr. Camoscio later reported to police that he had received a call from Dr. Younger and had been ordered to bring $500 and some papers to a Boston hotel.

Police Captain John N. McMullen instructed Dr. Camoscio to take a dummy package to the hotel, at the same time informing him that Newton and Boston police would cover him.

When Dr. Camoscio handed a bag to a man he identified as Clyde Younger, police arrested Younger.

Police later found a car which Younger reportedly said was his automobile. The vehicle had New Jersey registration plates over Florida plates. Three bombs also were found in the car.

directed our City Solicitor to formulate an anti-litter ordinance for adoption by the Board of Aldermen.

"I feel that until each citizen has impressed upon him his individual responsibility to the whole community, we will not succeed in our goal—to keep Newton the Garden City that it is.

"At a recent public hearing before the State Legislative Committee on the question of controlling billboards, it was forcefully and properly brought to my attention by members of the Committee that we are seeking local control over billboards, whereas we have not demonstrated clearly enough our willingness and ability to control on a local level the appearance and maintenance of all other signs that already fall under the control of the local authorities.

"I therefore respectfully recommend that your Honorable Body adopt at its earliest possible convenience an ordinance controlling the erection and maintenance of signs in the City of Newton."

Aldermen Relax Fund Drive Ban

Alderman Melvin J. Dangel made an appearance at the School Committee meeting Monday night on behalf of the coming membership campaign of the Newton Mental Health Center, and succeeded in persuading the members to relax their policy relative to fund drives involving school children.

The committee voted favorably on Dangel's plan under which students will carry home an envelope containing a plea for new members and a stub to be filled out by any parent who is willing to become a member. The children will then take the filled-in stub and the $2 membership fee back to school and deposit them with their principal. The returns will be picked up by a PTA representative.

Warns -

Nam because of the unrest there would be a major victory for the Communists, was sounded Saturday night by former Congressman Laurence Curtis in an address before the Newton Chapter of the Disabled American Veterans.

Curtis, who now resides in Newton and for 10 years represented the city on Washington's Capitol Hill, declared that a pull-out of American forces from Viet-Nam because of the uprising the Communists have instigated would prove the effectiveness of the Communist tactics and encourage an expansion of them.

The ex-Congressman told his listeners that if Viet Nam falls to the Communists an even greater war in which the U. S. will be involved will inevitably be fought on another front in Southeast Asia within a few years.

He asserted that the Buddhists have recently been using the same tactics which resulted in the overthrow of the Diem government and produced a disaster from an American standpoint.

Ex-Congressman Curtis was among a group of members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee who visited Viet Nam when the insurrection against President Ngo Dinh Diem was brewing. Curtis personally conferred with Diem at that time.

In his Newton talk he expressed the strong conviction that the lessons learned from Diem's overthrow and assassination are of vital importance in appraising current events and developments in Viet Nam.

"On this annual Armed Services Day we think first of our troops in Vietnam, attacked by friend and foe," Curtis told his audience. "A similar situation arose in Viet Nam in 1963 although our troops were not involved at that time.

"The uprisings and demonstrations then culminated in the overthrow and assassination of President Diem," Curtis continued. "I was there with a congressional group when the revolt was brewing. I believe strongly that the lessons learned from the overthrow of the Diem administration are of great importance and significance in considering the present situation in Vietnam."

Curtis warned against the temptation to say: "If they can't get together, let's get out and let them stew."

He said the 1963 insurrection, like the recent one, was led by the Buddhists who charged President Diem with being their oppressor.

"Buddhist monks immolated themselves to fiery death in protest," Curtis recalled. "Our country was aroused. Despite a sharp division of opinion, our foreign policy encouraged the overthrow of Diem. The result has been disastrous."

Curtis went on to say that the Buddhists were a political as well as religious group and that their pagoda in Saigon had some of the aspects of a command post, with whirling mimograph machines constantly in action.

He declared that it was unfair to charge Diem with repressing Buddhism when what he actually sought was to restrain Buddhist agitators. Curtis charged that "the spectacular immolations by the Buddhists were part of their propaganda intended to prove their oppression and arouse sympathy in the United States.

Ex-Cong. Curtis said part of the Buddhist propaganda was intended to rig false evidence of persecution and that some of the bomb explosions for which Diem was blamed may actually have been caused by the Communists.

He pointed out that the Buddhists sought the overthrow of Diem, a Catholic, and that recently they have been seeking the overthrow of Ky, himself a Buddhist.

"They plainly show that they care more for the rebellion against their own government than for the prosecution of the war against the Viet Cong," said Curtis.

Curtis delivered his address before the Chaplain William J. Farrell Chapter, No. 23, Disabled American Veterans, at the Memorial Building in Newton Centre.

Victor Gorgone was installed as commander of the chapter, succeeding Representative Joseph G. Bradley. Mrs. Etta Twombly was installed for another term as auxiliary commander. Former State DAV Commander John E. Bouchard was the installing officer.

Sacred Heart College Has Week Of Art

The students at Newton College of the Sacred Heart recently staged their second annual Arts Week on campus.

The seven-day festival featured a "happening" focused on the avant garde arts in America today; a Chapel rendition of Faure's "Requiem;" the techniques of Martha Graham, as interpreted by Newton's modern dancers; a production of Lillian Hellman's "The Little Foxes," and a round of art films, gallery talks and exhibitions.

Special guest performer at the festival was William Alfred, author of the current off-Broadway hit, "Hogan's Goat," who read scenes from that play and from his new, "Agamemnon."

Participating in Newton's Arts Week this year was Miss Elizabeth Becherer, a member of the Modern Dance Club, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Becherer, 11 Linder Terr., Newton.

- Political Highlights -

Now the situation is reversed. Boston Mayor John F. Collins, who is making a strong run for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate, has challenged Peabody and his other opponents to a debate of the issues in the Senate campaign. This time it's Peabody who has been the reluctant debater.

Thomas Boylston Adams, who is going nowhere in the Senate race, immediately accepted Collins' challenge, but Collins and Adams had been debating about every other night at the Democratic forums, and the two candidates the Democratic voters obviously would want to see in a televised debate are Collins and Peabody.

Peabody usually isn't reluctant about anything in a political campaign, and he is not reticent when it comes to extolling his own virtues as a candidate.

But he certainly didn't rush forward to accept Collins' challenge for a confrontation which would be the highlight of the Democratic Senate campaign.

The fact that Collins is an outstanding public speaker may have something to do with Peabody's lack of eagerness to debate the Boston Mayor.

Ted Can Serve Party By Remaining Neutral

The argument advanced by some political columnists to support their contention that Senator Edward M. Kennedy should intervene in the Democratic primary and support the Democratic convention are a little difficult to follow.

One political writer declared recently that it would be interpreted as a resumption of the Kennedy - McCormack feud if former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack emerges as the choice of the convention for Governor and then Ted Kennedy fails to back him in the primary.

From where we sit that's a pretty silly bit of reasoning, particularly if Ted makes it plain in advance of the convention that he intends to remain neutral and not mix into the fights within the Democratic primary.

The only Democratic candidate for Governor who has declared that he will abide by the decision of the Democratic State Convention is State Senate President Maurice A. Donahue.

Donahue will withdraw from the gubernatorial field and run again for Senate if McCormack gets the convention nod.

McCormack and former Presidential Aide Kenneth O'Donnell both have asserted that they intend to carry their fights into the September primary regardless of what happens at the Democratic conclave.

It's entirely possible that candidates endorsed by the Donahue may emerge as the convention victor since he and McCormack now are involved in what appears to be a very tight fight for delegate support.

If that happened and Ted supported Donahue in the September primary, would that be considered a resumption of the Kennedy-McCormack feud?

The likelihood is that McCormack would be very satisfied to have an expression of neutrality by Ted Kennedy as far as the primary is concerned.

McCormack obviously sees nothing sacred about the endorsement of a Democratic State Convention.

He has said that while he expects to win at the convention, he believes that the Democratic nominee for Governor should be the choice of all the Democratic voters.

McCormack certainly will take his chances in a primary if he comes out of the convention a winner, and if he comes out a loser he will not want Ted Kennedy campaigning for his opponent.

Many sound students of politics consider that Ted Kennedy would be doing more harm than good to the Democratic party if he publicly supports the convention endorsees in the primary.

Let's consider the dilemma which would confront Ted if he were to step into the primary.

If Donahue wins at the convention, he would be backing the Senate president against McCormack and probably against O'Donnell who served as an aide to the late President Kennedy.

A McCormack-Kennedy feud really would flare in that event.

If McCormack wins, Ted would be backing him against O'Donnell who served as as secretary to his late brother and who is a close friend of his brother Bobby. (There would be no primary contest if McCormack won at the convention and O'Donnell withdrew or ran for another office.)

Ted Kennedy probably is in a position where he must state in advance of the convention whether he is going to support the choices of the conclave.

Some political observers apparently believe that Ted can wade into the primary if one candidate wins at the convention but remain aloof from the primary if a different contender gets convention nod.

Thtat's strange reasoning, indeed.

Ted Kennedy undoubtedly is more concerned about the outcome of the election fights in November than about the results of the September primary.

He presumably also realizes that his endorsements in the November election will carry greater weight if he has not been involved in fights within the Democratic party.

Ted might have swung enough votes to Francis X. Bellotti to elect him Governor in 1964 if he hadn't supported Endicott Peabody in the primary.

But after opposing Bellotti in the primary, Ted's endorsement of him in the ensuing election accomplished little.

Any candidate who can't get by next September's Democratic primary without looking to Ted Kennedy to carry him on his back isn't likely to have the political strength to win in November.

These are factors Ted must be weighing as he listens to the arguments of those telling him he should take the stump in the primary for the convention endorsees.

O'Donnell Seeking 2nd Ballet Support

Kenneth O'Donnell is seeking second-ballet votes in his bid for the Democratic endorsement for Governor.

That obviously means that O'Donnell believes that neither Donahue nor McCormack will win on the first ballot at the Democratic convention.

It may also mean that O'Donnell will have a problem in getting his name on the September primary ballot if his appraisal is wrong.

Under a new law, O'Donnell must obtain 10,000 valid signatures of registered Democrats in order to place his name on the September ballot if he fails to get 20 per cent of the votes cast on any one ballot at the convention.

O'Donnell's total isn't likely to go that high if Donahue or McCormack captures the endorsement on the opening ballot.

Collins Strong In Large Cities

Mayor Collins appears to be well on his way toward locking up the convention endorsement for U. S. Senator.

A recent survey revealed that Collins will top Endicott Peabody 4-1 in Suffolk County and will get the great bulk of the delegate votes in 19 of Boston's 22 wards, drawing all the votes in more than half of the wards in the city.

Collins also is extremely strong in such other cities as Worcester, Springfield, Lawrence, Lynn, Pittsfield, Fall River, Chelsea and New Bedford which will cast big blocs of votes at the convention.

While some political pundits are still picking Peabody as the winner over Collins, it's difficult to figure out where Peabody will get enough votes even to make it a close race.

Kelly Real Threat To Auditor Buczke

Representative James H. Kelly of Jamaica Plain looms as a very formidable candidate against State Auditor Thaddeus Buczko of Salem in their fight for the Democratic nomination for the office Buczko now holds.

Whether Kelly can defeat Buczko at the Democratic State Convention is a big question. Many delegates may be disposed to vote for the incumbent Auditor, and Kelly probably will be faced with an uphill struggle at the convention.

A primary battle between the two men, however, would be an entirely different matter. Kelly would be no worse than an even choice in such a contest.

Even though he is serving his second year as State Auditor, Buczko is still untested as a vote-getter in a Democratic primary.

The Democratic nomination for Auditor was handed to him on a silver platter in 1964 after the late Auditor Thomas J. Buckley died on the eve of the primary, and there was no opportunity for any other Democrat to challenge Buczko.

Kelly, who is completing his 14th year in the House of Representatives and is a hard-working, outspoken legislator, unquestionably recognizes that the odds may be against him in a convention clash.

However, Kelly will get substantial support from fellow House members, and he is certain to make a creditable showing at the conclave. He would have no trouble qualifying for a place on the September ballot if he loses at the convention and decides to carry his fight on into the primary, as it is assumed he would.

A combat veteran of World War 2, Kelly went ashore with the marines during the invasion of Iwo Jima. He is married and the father of five children. One of his daughters is a Postulant in the Sisters of St. Joseph Novitiate.

During his 14 years in the House, Kelly has served on several major legislative committees and was a member of the important House Ways and Means Committee for five years.

Lee Loumos Says:

I notice that Howard Whiteman, MDC Commissioner, led a walk thru the Upper Falls last Sunday, viewing the old, historical buildings. I feel a little slighted that he omitted the Lower Falls where some of the oldest historical buildings still remain and are in current use. I understand that these Lower Falls were the second industrial mill area in the original colonies preceded only by the Milton mills. The original part of the buildings that comprise my store was erected in 1738, complete with tunnel to the river, secret stairway & false attic and was a major stop in the "underground railway." Another part of my store, preserved intact, was the first Post Office in the Newton-Wellesley area. With all the breast-beating about preserving our historical sights, isn't it nice to know that some "hard-hearted" businessmen are doing so on their own, without benefit of public funds?

Distribution of the booklets by Newton police officers started last week and set off a wave of congratulatory notes and letters sent to the office of Mayor Basbas.

Scores of these letters, covering a cross-section of Newton's community life are on file in the Mayor's office.

They were received from clergy of all faihs in Newon, the Chamber of Commerce, school and civic leaders, fraternal, social, veterans' organizations and the general public.

All were congratulatory and pledged co-operation. The following are a few representative letters:

Dear Mayor Basbas:

I have received and carefully read the booklet entitled "Guardians of Your Property and Welfare."

In my view this is a most useful and needed document and should be welcomed by every Newton citizen. The virtues of the booklet are several; it succeeds in at least two important ways. It provides a body of factual information about the Police Department and about the ways in which the public can assist. It also imparts, significant philosophy of police work which casts the policeman in his proper role as an enlightened protector and promoter of the public good, not as a negative-slanted, punitive-oriented minion of public service.

I wish to add my endorsement to this publication and to urge its widest possible distribution.

Sincerely yours,
Chas. W. Dudley,
President
Newton Junior College

Dear Mr. Basbas:

The booklet you sent me, "Guardian of Your Property and Welfare," arrived while I was absent for ra few days. I have just finished reading it, and I think it should be valuable in forming a proper attitude toward the police as a stabilizing element in the community. The sections dealing with children and with empty houses are particularly sensible. I feel sure the booklet will be well received by the people of Newton.

Sincerely,
Rev. John T. Feeney,
Corpus Christi Church

Oak Hill Park Woman's Club Given Awards

The Massachusetts Traffic Safety awards of $100 each, a bronze replica of the Goddess of Safety, and a Citation were presented to the Oak Hill Park Woman's Club at the awards luncheon of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs annual convention which took place at the New Ocean House in Swampscott.

Mrs. M. Mark Klein, the new president for the coming year, accepted the awards on their behalf from the vice president of the Automotive Safety Division of the Liberty Mutual Insurance Co.

The club's extensive safety program which made these awards possible was headed by Mrs. Frederick J. Wood and her committee: Mrs. David Greer, Jr., Mrs. Kenneth Giracca, and Mrs. Richard D. Hurter, and also the loyal cooperation of the club members.

This committee is to be commended for their untiring efforts in executing this program, which included the Driver Improvement courses, the Poster Contest at the Memorial School, the Bicycle Rodeo, the Day in Court, plus the showing of films on traffic safety at club meetings and tests and questionnaires taken by the members. They certainly did an outstanding job for which the club is very proud.

Dear Mr. Basbas:

Thank you for making a copy of "Guardians" available to me. You and the Newton Police Department are to be commended for publishing this booklet as a service to all the citizens of Newton.

I am sure that this will help in a marked degree to make us all aware of our responsibilities and the precautions we are to take in helping to overcome some of the difficult situations that exist within our community.

My congratulations to you and to the Newton Police Department.

Cordially,
Albert I. Gordon,
Temple Emanuel

Dear Mr. Basbas:

The police booklet "Guardians of your Property and Welfare" should be most useful in advising citizens how they can best cooperate with the police in protecting the community. The booklet is principally concerned with protection against wrong-doing. As an officer of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital I am especially aware of the prompt and helpful service of the police on many occasions when no wrongdoing is involved but when help is sorely needed. I would like to express appreciation for those services as well as for those reflected in the booklet.

Sincerely,
Jarvis Farley,
Newton-Wellesley Hospital

Dear Mayor Basbas:

The booklet "Guardians of Your Property and Welfare," is clearly stated and informative. It should prove to be very helpful to the citizens of Newton. And we appreciate the opportunity to study the contents in advance of general distribution.

This booklet, and your kind letter, have been given to the Chairman of the Executive Board of this church so that the Board members may review its many useful recommendations. After they have done so, the Chairman, Mrs. Ruth R. Herring, will write you regarding their thoughts about this booklet for householders, and other residents of this community.

Sincerely yours.
(Mrs.) Virginia G. Curry.
Clerk
First Church of Christ Scientist (Newton)

Dear Mayor Basbas:

I have just read the City's pamphlet on Police Services. It strikes me as being sound, commonsensical and could be very useful to all citizens of Newton. Its value is unquestioned. There is a big "IF," however. How can the City officials make certain that the citizens will read it carefully? If they do, its value and aid are assured.

But the negligence of the average citizens, if not prodded into reading the pamphlet, will make it as ineffectual as the average "AIR RAID SHELTER" and as meaningless.

Surely a well-planned, well-thought out campaign is in order here to make the citizens of Newton read about their police and its services. Under those conditions, the brochure will have been worth the effort and the expense that went into it.

Sincerely,
Raymond T. Ethier,

Dear Mayor Basbas:

I have read with great interest the booklet you recently sent entitled "Guardians of Your Property and Welfare."

I would like to give my enthusiastic vote of approval for its wide distribution. The booklet is well organized and brimful of valuable suggestions to enable all of us to protect our property and lives, and prevent crime in the city.

Sincerely your,
Constance S. Garbutt,
Executive Director
Newton Community Council

Ethel Says:
"How about it David—stop using that verbal sling shot at Goliath and tend to Scorby's. You're out of that Discount Store league. You've got class, know-how and understanding and take a genuine interest in selling your cameras, tape recorders and radios. Actually, boy, when you add the service and teaching onto the low prices at Scorby's NO ONE can equal Scorby's values. So put away the sling shot and tell the people why Scorby's ONLY sends all Kodak Color Films to Kodak for processing . . . why you give so much time teaching clinical and industrial photography . . . why Scorby's won't sell an item unless you've passed on it . . . why you don't have time to change the windows (I'd like to listen in on that one!) and why the Sun never sets on products Scorby's has sold. Why's your mouth open. Want to say something? So go ahead, say!' With the space she left me all I can say is come to 1029 Great Plain Avenue, Needham from 8:30 a.m. till 6 p.m., Friday till 9 p.m. Not only will I tell you, I'll show you and teach you whether you want to buy, trade, rent or leave something for repair.

Tigers Score Two Victories Have I Loser

Two wins and one loss tell the story of action by the Newton High School Tigers during the week ending last Monday.

The lads from Walnut street routed Watertown Monday 11 to 0 in a Suburban League contest played on their own field.

First, Elliot Libman of the strong arm tossed seven innings of one-hit ball before melting in the 80-degree heat. Doug Vernon then took over the chore and finished without allowing a hit.

After that game, Newton was still in there, tied with Brookline for second place in the League.

The loss came about on Friday afternoon of last week, when Arlington extended its lossless streak to 16 games in beating the Tigers 12 to 4 at Arlington.

The other victory came on Wednesday of last week, with Waltham the victim and the score Newton 4 Waltham 1.

Awards Day Convocation Held At Junior College

Charles W. Dudley, president of Newton Junior College, delivered the keynote address at the Newton Junior College Awards Day Convocation held at the War Memorial, City Hall, on Tuesday, May 24.

This traditional event is held annually to honor those students who have distinguished themselves in their service to the college and to announce scholarships. It is also traditional that at this time the president of the college speak to the students on a subject of substantial relevance to their future and to the future of the college.

Speaking on "Two Decades and Beyond," President Dudley first reviewed the far-reaching effects of change politically, socially, economically, technologically and educationally. "We no longer speak casually and leisurely of evolution; today we speak anxiously and urgently of revolution . . . We no longer view the process of gradual accumulation; much more appropriately we speak in terms of explosion—explosion of numbers, of concepts, of knowledge, of human aspirations."

In reference to Newton Junior College in the context of these two decades, President Dudley noted that the college was established in 1946. "It has enjoyed the distinction of being the first public two-year college in Massachusetts and has over the years been respected for its pioneering efforts . . . In 1963 it became the first regionally accredited public two-year college in the six-state New England area."

Referring to the changes in the past 20 years, he said: "The college has expanded its educational objectives and purposes more nearly and completely to respond to broad important community needs. It is now, more truly, a multi-purpose, comprehensive community college, offering transfer programs, selected terminal programs, adult and continuing education, counseling services, and a range of cultural activities."

In his closing remarks, Mr. Dudley expressed the hope that Newton Junior College will stand in "the vanguard of change as the currents of human destiny run toward increasing liberation of the human spirit . . . toward the dignity of man."

The program included an honors address by a ranking scholar of the graduation class, given by Susan Springer, a member of the graduating class. Speaking on "Decisions," Miss Springer stressed the need to take a risk, a calculated risk, in making a decision regarding the future in order to achieve happiness from accomplishments and fulfillment.

In accordance with tradition, the program included the conferring of academic, scholarship, service, and athletic awards, Dean Charles D. Merrill presiding.

Academic awards for excellence in Biology, Anton Verholst of Newton; for excellence in Science, Jonathan Patton of Newton; for excellence in Nursing, Marilyn Rawnsley; for excellence in Math, Paul O'Connell and Thomas Charlton, both of Newton.

The Kiwanis Scholarship for outstanding scholarship as well as need, Joseph Gardner of Newton. Partial tuition scholarships during the current year were awarded to Kevin Connolly. Thomas Farrell, Robert Gallant, Joseph Gardner, Jonathan Patton, Danah Tract and Martin Walsh, all of Newton, as well as, Nancy Mooney and Susan Springer. The winner of the Beverly and William Carmen Scholarship for the year ending, awarded to a worthy student entering the college from Newton High School or Newton South High School, to Andrew Rademaker, of Newton.

Awards in the form of certificate and citation to those students who, through voluntary service, have contributed markedly to the welfare of the college: George Bernard, Richard Blacker, Richard Donahue, Paul Farina, Susan Fitzgerald, Leon Goldberg, Charles Cohen, Patricia Needle, Jonathan Patton, Arthur Rice, Arnold Schneider, and Allan Segal, all of Newton, as well as Kenneth Ellinoff, Sally Jarvis, Carol Livingstone and Elaine Rosen-

Basketball letters in basketball were awarded to: Mike Wolfe, Henry Gedimen, co-captain; Sam Rosenberg, co-captain; Ron Hartford, Joe Gardner, Bill Wellford, Larry Hoffman, Paul Farina and Ed McCormick all of Newton, as well as Barry Benson and Richard Gard.

MR. AND MRS. M. BREWSTER ABELE

Miss Susan Drummond Wed To M. Brewster Abele

Miss Susan Elizabeth Drummond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman C. Drummond of Wellesley Hills, recently became the bride of M. Brewster Abele, son of Mrs. Mannert L. Abele of 3 Mountfot road, Newton Highlands, and the late Commander Abele, USN.

The Wellesley Hills Unitarian Church was setting for the 2:30 o'clock single-ring service, which was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's imported Swiss cotton voile gown, appliqued with muslin, had a scoop neckline and an A-line skirt.

Her mantilla of re-embroidered Swiss muslin was fashioned by the bride. She carried a bouquet of marguerites, white roses, lilies of the valley and ivy.

Miss Martha Louise Drummond of Wellesley Hills was her sisters' honor maid. Young Elizabeth Stevens of New York City, cousin of the groom, was flower girl.

John Abele of Wayland served as best man for his brother. Heading the usher corps was Bradford Abele of Lexington, another brother of the groom. He was assisted by William B. Stevens Jr., of New York City, cousin of the groom, and Christopher Edwards of Wellesley, cousin of the bride.

Following a trip to Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Abele will make their home in Cambridge.

The bride attended Hood College and was graduated from the New England Art School. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Chester Drummond of Sudbury, formerly of Newton, and the late Rev. Drummond, long-time minister in the Unitarian Dominion in the Boston area.

Mr. Abele is a graduate of Iowa State University and the Columbia Graduate School of Business Administration.

'Y' Busy Men's Band Concert To Be Held June 7

Tuesday, June 7th at 8:00 P.M. is the time set for the Busy Men's Band concert and show in the Cabaret setting at the Newton YMCA.

The band made up of local businessmen who like to play the smooth, popular music of the 30's and 40's will present arrangements of the famous bands of that era.

Between the sets of danceable music, local talent will present a variety of acts including modern jazz dance, soft shoe, folk singing and country specialty.

Donations from this novel program are going to a campership fund — camperships are to needy and deserving boys what scholarships are to qualifying young men.

Mainstay members of the band group chaired by Donald Keddy of West Newton are as follows: Arnold Tompkins, electric guitar; Charles Blauer, trumpet; Lawrence Davis, tenor sax; Robert Gilfillan, trombone; Robert Boyer, piano; Curtis Muller, drums, trumpet; Milton Shafran, alto sax and Jack Mildner, trumpet, all of Newton.

These men are ably assisted by Anthony Rondone of Allston on trombone; Frank Engle of Belmont on trumpet; the Sylva brothers, Ivan and John, on organ and sax from Cambridge and Arlington respectively; and Lucas Taddeo of Waltham on tenor sax.

Among the performers who will put on special acts are Jean Gruhn, Robert Gahtan, and Randy Foreman. This program is open to the general public but seating in the Cabaret is limited.

Dick Ashworth of Newton, assistant tennis coach at Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio, has prime hopes for Jon Robbins of Newton, co-captain of the tennis team.

Mrs. Geri Hackel of Newton is publicity chairman for the 10th annual benefit dinner-dance sponsored by the Friends of the Greater Boston Children (GBARC).

Pupils -

will be in your school. We are taking a total of about 50, all of whom will be in grades 3, 4 and 5. With a plan using seven schools, and taking into consideration the fact that the Claflin School has room for only a very limited number, this probably means that we will have about eight in any given school.

"One of the important elements in this program as we presently envisage it, will be the provision of 'second homes' for the children involved. Given the fact that we are talking about relatively young children attending school in what will be for them a new environment, we think it is essential that we provide every opportunity for these youngsters to become a part of their total school community.

"They will need to have lunch daily, we shou'd have someone to call in the event of emergency, and their parents should have some contact with the community. For these reasons among others, we want to identify parents in each of these school districts who are willing to perform this function.

"If you are interested, may I ask you to contact your principal at your earliest possible convenience. We would like to have two such home contacts for each child, so there will be all told a need for some 100 homes. At some later date, probably in June, you will hear from the school as to whether or not we have been able to accommodate your interest, should you apply.

"I believe I should add that this entire program hinges on the availability of federal and foundation funds to meet the total costs involved. As of this date, no final decision has been made regarding our request for such funds. However, we have had a general acceptance of our proposals, and we are optimistic about receiving support.

"All of us associated with this proposal are committed to the notion that there is potential benefit to all children involved, both Negro and white. It is in this spirit that we thank you for your understanding and support in the past, and that we look forward to a similar relationship in the future. If you have any questions about the project, please feel free to call."

Dr. Brown announced at Monday night's meeting of the School Committee that the Carnegie Corporation had voted to grant two requests for administrative support of the METCO project in the amount of $126,000 for two years.

Reading Supervisor Gives Report On School Program

Miss Kaye Torrant, Supervisor of Reading in the Newton Public Schools, reported on the elementary school program at the Monday night meeting of the School Committee.

"There is intense interest in this subject throughout the United States," she said, and those interested are both professional and lay folk."

Among other things she described the first-grade study launched at the national level in 1964-65, and use of the U.S. Office of Education, which invested $800,000 to find out the ways in which first graders learn to read.

Pointing to two important results of the study, Miss Torrant said that "thus far, there is no best method or no worst method, and given more careful study of results and a follow-up throughout the elementary schools, they will no doubt give us some indication on which method or combination of methods, is best."

Miss Torrant then complimented the Newton School Committee on its policy of trying out ideas at the primary level in an effort to determine the best method of teaching reading to different children. Referring again to the study, she said that "as yet, we have no final answers, but we hope to arrive at them as we follow students up over the years."

The following members of the reading staff were introduced: Miss K. Fitzgerald, Miss Virginia Joyce, Mrs. Elizabeth O'Donnell, Mrs. Anne Cotmore and Mrs. Beatrice Johnson.

With each speaking in turn, they presented a bird's eye view of the work in two departments — the Reading Center Program and the Reading Laboratory Program.

It was pointed out that Newton's program was initiated in 1958 as a result of the Harvard Reading Survey made in 1956-57. Planned by Newton personnel and funded by the School Committee, it stressed the need for in-service training of teachers and work with certain pupils who under-achieve.

Much of the work of the Reading Center personnel takes place in the regular classrooms with the cooperation of teachers and providing stimulation and enrichment materials. A reading center is maintained in each building where both teachers and pupils are given aid through demonstrations and a variety of new materials. Often they develop handbooks and plan workshops for the faculty.

The Reading Laboratory Program deals with children who have very severe blocks to learning. The importance of positive attitude, a good self-image, and careful development of skills through a variety of approaches many times is effective in helping these children achieve.

During the course of the report, a packet of materials was given to each member of the School Committee so that each could clue them in to the programs described.

The Newton VFW Post will hold its annual Poppy Drive, for disabled and needy veterans, today, Friday and Saturday, May 26, 27 and 28.

Poppy divisional chairmen are James F. Barr, Erwin W. Beal Jr., Francis X. Bennett, Henry Devlin, George W. Greathead, William Kelley and John McGuinness.

A new Post Youth Poppy program, initiated by Commander Medaglia, called "Flower of Remembrance" will be in charge of Alan C. Beal, boatswain of Newton Sea Explorers, Ship 13. Boatswain Beal will be entering the United States military service in June.

Commander Medaglia's talk on "Flower of Remembrance" explained that many orphans of men killed in the Vietnam conflict will have a just claim for living and educational assistance provided by the Veterans of Foreign Wars National Home at Eaton Rapids, Michigan. He stated that he would be happy to make applications for such admittance.

The commander also stated that local members will meet in a group to attend the Newton Veterans' Memorial Mass at 9:00 a.m. next Sunday, May 29, at Our Lady Help of Christians Church, Washington St., Newton.

A large number of members and friends in charge of Commander Medaglia will represent the Newton Post at the United Service Organization benefit, "Las Vegas Night" at the Lt. James A. Logan Post, 6800, of Somerville, on June 3, at 7:30 p.m.

It is sponsored by Middlesex District 111, Dept. of Mass. Veterans of Foreign Wars. All proceeds will be donated to the USO, through Dept. of Mass. Veterans of Foreign Wars headquarters, for servicemen in Vietnam.

At the regular meeting at 8:00 p.m. on June 13, Christopher Butler, service officer for District 111, Dept. of Mass. Veterans of Foreign Wars, will explain the new approved veterans' laws; 1,—authorized veterans' burial allowance for those who have not filed for disability compensation; 2,—where a veteran has left VA Hospital against medical advice or for disciplinary action, readmission and VA benefits will be discussed in detail.

Also at this meeting, delegates and alternates to the Department Convention in Boston on June 24, 25 and 26 will be elected.

CPO Karl Haas Comes From A Long Navy Line

Karl D. Haas, 27, of 40 Washington st., Newton, recently was promoted to the rate of chief petty officer in the Naval Reserve. He is a member of a reserve crew of the Boston based minesweeper Siskin, currently undergoing its annual two weeks of active training at Little Creek, Va.

Chief Haas, a research technician for a Cambridge engineering firm, comes from a family which has long been active in the Navy.

His father, the late Captain Paul Haas, saw 28 years of Navy duty and was a veteran of World War I and II.

Recently Chief Haas, an engineman, was re-enlisted for another four-year hitch by his sister, WAVE Lieutenant Commander Joan Haas, formerly of Newton, and currently a Navy plans officer in San Diego.

Two uncles saw active duty in the Navy, and an aunt was a civilian employee of the Navy.

Chief Haas enlisted in the Navy following graduation from Newton High School in 1956, and served his tour of active duty aboard the Newport-based destroyer Kenneth D. Bailey. His tour included a stint in the Middle East shortly after the Lebanon crisis.

Upon his return to civilian life in 1960, Chief Haas became affiliated with the reserve crew of the Siskin and since then has maintained perfect drill attendance. His commanding officer, Lt. Cdr. Charles Callahan of Framingham, a Navy man since 1946, said of his new chief: "He is one of the most outstanding sailors I have ever met."

Maritime Graduates To Receive Bibles

Thomas Cunnif of Newton, will be graduated from the Massachusetts Maritime Academy at ceremonies held in the National Guard Armory in Buzzards Bay Saturday, June 18.

He, like all members of the graduating class, will receive a Bible from the Massachusetts Bible Society.

Simmons Club Annual Spring Meeting June 1

The Newton Simmons Club announces its annual spring meeting. Program chairman, Mrs. Charles Garfinkle, has made arrangements for a Dutch treat luncheon on Wednesday, June 1, at the Endicot House in Dedham. Sherry will be served at noon followed by luncheon at 12:30.

Following the luncheon there will be an election of officers and the presentation of the annual scholarship award to a deserving Newton girl entering Simmons College in the fall. Mrs. Samuel Stonberg, chairman of the Scholarship Committee, has announced that Virginia Lee is this year's recipient.

The program will be highlighted by Ruth Levitan and Elmer Melgesen of Lemar, Inc., of Newton Centre. They will demonstrate their original floral masterpieces. Some of the afternoon's productions will be given away as prizes.

All Simmons alumni are welcome to join for the afternoon. For reservations, call Mrs. William Hadley at 244-7084 or Mrs. Sidney Gorfinkle at 332-5046.

for purchasing the very best for our money. Comfort or price or both is not measured only by the number of springs in mattresses — or the tensile strength — or the convolutions — or the turns in the coils — or the felt — or the edge supports — or the coverings — BUT by the total of all fillings. Mattress and box springs go together like a horse and a carriage. If you want everything, then shop elsewhere first to prove to yourself that Siesta offers the most! Washington and Crafts streets in Newtonville.

It will move west on Washington street to Walnut street, south on Walnut street to Commonwealth avenue and the War Memorial Flag Staff, where the column will halt for the placing of wreaths and prayers by the Rev. Michael Doocey of the Sacred Heart Church.

Then the marching columns will continue south on Walnut street to the Newton Cemetery for the ceremonies at the GAR Monument and the Veterans' Lot.

Senator Saltonstall will be the speaker at the rites at the GAR Monument.

Wreaths will be placed by Mayor Basbas for the City of Newton, by ex-Congressman Curtis for the Newton Veterans' Council and by Mrs. Etta Haverty for the Gold Star Mothers.

A volley of shots will be fired at both the Veterans' Lot and the GAR Monument by the Newton Veterans' Honor Guard.

Too often, however, a fog of bills will cloud his enjoyment of his home.

If this is your problem, we invite you to join the thousands of residents of Newton, Waltham, Weston, Wayland and Natick who consolidate their bills with a low cost loan from the Newton-Waltham Bank. In this way, you pay only one bill a month — and at sensible bank rates and your loan will be protected by Credit Life Insurance.

Newton Retired Men's Club In Tribute To First Leader

The Retired Men's Club of Newton, meeting recently in Founders' Hall, Newton Highlands Congregational Church, paid tribute to its first president and co-founder, the late George A. Morley.

Mr. Morley was born in Rochester, April 13, 1893. He was educated there and worked with the New York Telephone Company and later became assistant general manager of the New England Telephone Company, where he served for 45 years before retirement in 1957. Following retirement, he felt that the development of new friendships at the local community level would be a great help in lessening the shock of retirement.

In pursuit of his inspiration, he joined with William S. Knickerbocker of Waban, a retired professor, in announcing in the local press, the contemplated formation of a Retired Men's Club in Newton. Associated with him in planning the venture were the late Herman Wells, Ralph Stout of Newton Highlands and John Learmonth and Walter Helm of West Newton. The first public meeting of the organization was held on January 28, 1960, in the Parish Hall of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Newton Highlands.

George Morley served two terms as president of the Club, then two terms as chairman of the Executive Committee and repeatedly as chairman of the Nominating Committee and permanent Installing Officer. His interest in clubs for retired men was not confined to the Newton Club. He was also a member of the Retired Men's Club of Belmont and was helpful in the organization of a similar club in Needham.

In pausing to do honor to the first president of the Club, the current president, Edward Humphrey of Newton Highlands, expressed delight that Mr. Morley had lived to see his dream of satisfying fellowship come to full fruition. From a beginning with five other men, he saw the Club grow and prosper with an enrollment of four hundred and eighty-eight and the end of it's growth not yet in sight.

Hearing On Bill Board Will Be Held Tomorrow

Last Tuesday's public hearing that had been scheduled by the Outdoor Advertising Authority on the illuminated billboard above the Keyes Drug Store, 349 Auburn st., Auburndale, was called off, the city having obtained a restraining order.

According to Charles H. Morang, assistant city solicitor, the restraining order was against renewal of the license for the sign and any hearing connected with its renewal until the matter is heard tomorrow (Friday) at Middlesex Superior Court.

The 20 by 60 ft. sign has aroused the ire of area residents ever since the Authority granted the permit for its erection on Aug. 18 1965.

The permit will expire June 30 and a hearing is required for its renewal. The original permit was granted despite protests by the Aldermen and the then Mayor, Donald L. Gibbs.

Fallacies Of Hypnotism Is Sunday Lesson

Christian Science churches this Sunday will present a Bible Lesson-Sermon on the fallacies of hypnotism and other forms of mental control and servitude.

Responsive Reading will include these verses from Ephesians: "Have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them. . . . Wherefore be ye not unwise, but understanding what the will of the Lord is."

The theme is explained in detail in selections to be read from the Christian Science textbooks, including these: "In a world of sin and sensuality hastening to a greater development of power, it is wise earnestly to consider whether it is the human mind or the divine Mind which is influencing one . . . No person is benefited by yielding his mentality to any mental despotism or malpractice . . . The truths of immortal Mind sustain man, and they annihilate the fables of mortal mind, whose flimsy and gaudy pretentions, like silly moths, singe their own wings and fall into dust" ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy).

Subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced."

Richard Horovitz of Newton Centre was chosen at Middlebury College, Vt., to serve next year as a Junior Fellow. The selection was made by a committee of students and faculty.

All Newton Music School Serenade Set For June 3

A Serenade will be held in the garden of the All Newton Music School at 321 Chestnut street, West Newton, on Friday evening, June 3rd. The director of the school, Mrs. Anne Gombosi, and the chairman of the Board of Trustees, David J. This newly formed society of prominent Newton citizens is contributing to the high quality musical program of the school, and providing additional much needed scholarships.

The "Friends", by enlarging the scholarship program, will enable the Music School to fill its traditional community obligations by making its high quality program available to all.

The Serenade, a first of its kind in Newton, recreates a romantic continental atmosphere. Friends of the Music School will enjoy some traditional European Serenade music with added distinctive American touches.

Overseeing the arrangements are Mrs. William Lane Bruce and Mrs. F. Dow Smith of the Board of Trustees, working in close cooperation with Mrs. Anne Gombosi. Miss Cornelia Anderson, of 33 The Ledges road, Newton Centre (BI 4-0754), is chairman of the "Friends of the All Newton Music School" committee.

NHS Students Learning To Play Lacrosse

Newton High School is in the midst of its second year of providing informal lacrosse for its students. The school is expected to establish a major, formal lacrosse program beginning with the spring of 1967, and in anticipation of this quite a number of boys have been working out daily to get a good head-start on the fundamentals of the game.

Two Newton teachers who have played the game during their college careers are running the show. They are supported on almost a daily basis by a visiting coaching staff supplied from members of the Boston Lacrosse Club. These people are able to bring to the squad a variety of exceptional skills in the game and the advantage of being taught by some of the most enthusiastic participants in lacrosse.

In the spring of 1965 there were between 15 and 20 students out for the informal sessions. This year the group is numbering around 60 and increasing on almost a daily basis as more Newton students learn of the availability of the game and are exposed to its merits. During the summers those students who remain in this area have a further opportunity to play by participating in the Boston Summer Lacrosse League which operates from early June to August.

To assure a necessary equipment supply during this informal period prior to budgetary support by the high school, the Marsters Memorial Lacrosse Fund, which was established a few years ago in honor of the late Charles E. Marsters, the father of lacrosse in New England, has provided two dozen new helmets and a contribution toward the purchase of sticks by individual players. This allows the squad to become fully combatant this year.

Harrer noted in his article that teachers are looked down upon by the public in general and other professionals in particular, and called upon various groups to improve a teacher's prestige to counteract this feeling.

He called upon school committees to provide academic freedom, to hire dynamic superintendents (because "weak administrators won't hire teachers who threaten them too much..."), and by hiring paraprofessionals to assist the professional teacher.

Harrer called upon administrators to hire only superior young teachers, to avoid giving "tough classes and unsuitable materials' 'to new teachers, (thereby discouraging them), and to match curriculum, student and teacher.

"If you take a well-trained mathematician," he wrote, "give him students who need a keeper, and a math syllabus that has nothing to do with their futures ... he can die of shame..."

Further, the Newton educator called upon school administrators to use the word "prestige" as a test of their practices.

"At present," Harrer's article points out, "the teacher is little encouraged to feel important. He is interrupted by the public address system at the crucial moment of his lesson, he is requested to read notices during the lesson, students are summoned from his class during his lesson. He is not consulted on issues of importance to him about which he has firsthand information.

Harrer said the NEA's responsibility is particularly essential, and called upon the million-member professional teacher association to "exclude from teaching those who are not superior."

He called upon the NEA to declare certain teacher colleges substandard and attack them "by every known means until admissions standards are raised and training and supervision are adequate."

The teacher concluded by urging teachers themselves to encourage prestige by thinking of the school as teacher-centered, by demanding more voice in curriculum affairs, and by paying attention to the "little things," like dress, and the proper formality between student and teacher.

Eliot Church Nursery School Opens In Fall

The Eliot Church of Newton is planning the opening of its weekday nursery school in September.

At its spring meeting, the members of the church voted to sponsor such a school with the idea that it would meet a definite need within the community to provide such a program for four-year-old children.

Implicit within the program is the concern to make each child feel that he is a person of worth living within a community of mutual concern and trust.

The schol will begin with an enrollment of twenty-four children who will enter public school kindergarten in September, 1967. It will meet Monday-Friday from 9:00 to 11:30 a.m. and will follow the public school calendar regarding holidays and vacations.

Under the direction of the Board of Christian Education, a Nursery School Committee has been formed to direct the program. The committee has already appointed a teacher-director, Mrs. Barbara Lane, of Newton Centre, who comes to the school with an outstanding background in experience and training.

Tuition is payable in two parts: September, 1966, and February, 1967. Registration forms are available at the church and a registration fee must be made with the application which will be applicable to the first term's tuition fee.

All interested persons may call Miss Julouise Paulsen, director of Religious Education, at the church, 244-3639, for further details.

Stations Vie In Neatness

Newton service stations will be sprucing up during the next few weeks to compete in the Massachusetts Petroleum Council's third annual "Service Station of the Year" contest.

The Council has designated approximately 3,500 service stations within the perimeter of planned Route 495, or its southern extension, Route 106, to be eligible for the competition.

The contest will run from Memorial Day to Labor Day and during these three months the stations will be judged for neatness and appearance.

Highlands Puss Wins Collars In Cat Contest

Pousette, a three-year old brown and orange cat belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Smith of Newton Highlands, has been awarded second prize in the All American Glamour Kitty of 1966 contest sponsored by Kitty Pan Cat Litter.

According to the Smiths, who live at 55 Chester St., Pousette has even more unusual character traits. She finds fun playing with plastic golf balls and chasing dogs. Her name, too, is out of the ordinary. The name pousette is a derivative of the word pousser, a figure in a Scottish Country dance originally brought to Scotland from France by Mary Queen of Scots. The Smith's 14-year-old son, Duncan, decided on the name.

Pousette, as first runner-up, will be given a jade and semi-precious stone studded, gold-filled cat collar. In addition, she will receive an "every day" collar of gold-filled mesh with her name inscribed on a gold disc and a jade charm. The latter gift was sent to all those who entered the contest.

Newly Cautioned Don't Waste Leisure

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Memo to newlyweds: the way you budget spending of your leisure time is a factor in how happy your marriage will be.

That's the view of Dr. Henry A. Bowman, a University of Texas sociologist who specializes in studying modern married life. He says the third most important factor in the failure of marriage is "the use (or misuse) of leisure time . . ."

How this happens is that contrary to the widely-held belief, most people do not know what to do with leisure time (which accounts for such expressions as "passing time" or "killing time").

The use of time is important in marriage, Bowman holds, "because leisure pursuits serve as common interests or as points of departure for conflicts . . ."

As such, these leisure pursuits, depending on what they are, can increase tension or dissipate it . . . the dissension over leisure time in a marriage can be created by either differing tastes or disagreements about the amount of companionship together.

Complicating factors, Bowman says, are the husband's heavy work responsibility and his tendency to go off on his own to separate recreation "with the boys."

Bowman, incidentally didn't say what the other two most important factors are in marriage—but a safe guess is that one concerns money, another love.

His views were included in a long look at "How Americans Balance Their Time," a report prepared by researchers for the Westclox division, General Time Corp.

Bowman says the woman must not only use leisure time, but create it . . . include outside interests and pursuits in a busy schedule.

A woman who claims to feel guilty when she takes time from household duties for recreation is not conceiving of homemaking in its broadest term, says Bowman.

"A wife should feel guilty when she lets household chores prevent her from participating in recreational activities," he says.

"No other nation is as precise in its time sense . . . as time conscious as the United States," the report states.

It quotes one family counselor as putting it this way — "In order to most effectively use time, the individual must budget it as he does income . . . this implies not deadening regularity, but intelligent is a fairly recent development, according to sociologists R. O. Blood, Jr., and Donald M. Wolfe. It came about, they explain, when women began to work outside the home (some 28 million of them at present), all of which put increased pressure on husbands to help lighten the chores at home.

The researchers cited one study of 731 Detroit families wich showed that 30 per cent of the husbands helped their wives with the dishes, 35 per cent helped straighten the living room, 34 per cent helped with breakfast, 54 per cent helped with grocery shopping, and 50 per cent helped keep tracks of the bills.

Another survey made by "Drug Topics" showed that 19 per cent of the husbands went five or more times per week to the supermarket or grocery store, 18 per cent three to four times, 15 per cent two times, 27 one time, and only 20 per cent not going at all.

When housewives consider their balance of time, they, like their husbands, must take into account their work week. Sociologists say that depends on where the women live.

A study by Bryn Mawr College in the late 1940's revealed that if a housewife lived in a city of over 100,000 population, she worked 80.4 hours a week, if she lived in a city under 100,000, she worked 78.4 hours per week, but if she were a farm wife, she would work 60.6 hours a week.

In turn, a Mutual Broadcasting System survey in the 1950's showed the average work week of the American housewife was about 47.4 hours. This study covered 20,000 individuals in 7,000 households. Her leisure time, at home and away, averaged 5.1 hours per week.

Pay-For-Study Plan Seen Making Grade In College

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — How do you get a bright teenager from the slums to go to college when he hates school and gets poor grades?

A group from Stanford University has come up with an idea that seems to work — pay the students $1 an hour for attending classes, with bonuses for good grades.

The pay-for-study plan was started last fall as a private experiment by a few staff members and graduate students at the Counselling and Testing Center at Stanford. They are paying the bill themselves.

They picked three students who were regarded as poor college risks because of their high school grades, but who showed exceptional potential.

As the school year draws to a close, all three are reported doing well. One of them plans to become a teacher.

Co-ordinator of the program, Dr. Bernadene Allen of the center, explained that many bright students living in a ghetto environment see higher education as an impossible attainment.

"What we did was to offer these students a 'job' which required that they go to college," she said.

The students were enrolled at the College of San Mateo. One of them was so doubtful about waiting for his pay that he would stop by Mrs. Allen's home every night to collect it.

After the first week, he felt confident enough to shift to a weekly paycheck.

One of the other students recently asked to have his pay stopped, explaining that he no longer needed such an incentive.

"Many youngsters in these families have great potential, but unless they are assisted they are apt to succumb to their common heritage of failure, defeat and discouragement," Dr. Allen said.

She admitted that such a system of rewards is not as good as the daily interest, concern and prompting that middle class parents give their children.

But in the absence of such boosting, pay seems one answer. The payment for class hours and bonuses for good grades are only part of the battle, she said. Many simple problems can become mountains of discouragement for such impoverished youngsters.

"They do not know, for example, that one can get a temporary loan to pay for a textbook," she said. "They do not know to go to teachers for advice, because they have never talked to teachers."

And Dr. Allen is ready at the first sign of faltering to give counseling and advice.

"By keeping in close touch with the school and their teachers, I know five minutes after it happens if they are in trouble," she added.

The College of San Mateo says its statistics have indicated that 70 to 90 per cent of students from ghetto areas can be expected to fail.

College officials are planning to bring 30 to 40 June graduates from surrounding high schools to camps for summer remedial work.

Jeremy E. Alperin, son of Jordan L. Alperin, 950 Commonwealth Ave., Newton Centre, and Peter R. Shrier, son of Hyman Shrier, 333 Brookline St., Newton Centre, were graduated from the University of Vermont Medical School.

Two sons are currently in college. Jock is a junior at the University of Denver, and Stephen, a sophomore at Harvard College.

A third son, Peter, is a sophomore at Rivers Country Day School in Weston. Two daughters, Jane and Ellen, are pupils in the Underwood School in Newton.

Teacher To Close Long Career Here

Miss Dorothy White, a dedicated second grade teacher at the Cabot School is retiring after 35 years of teaching. Miss White has received wide national renown for her own individualized reading program.

She has successfully used this teaching technique which allows each child to progress at his own rate of speed using books of his choice for 17 years.

As general interest in education and most particularly in reading programs has spread, teachers and students from all over the United States have come to observe Miss White in action.

This winter the Teacher of the Year visited Miss White's classroom. In the past Miss White has received a Ford Foundation grant, and has been written up in Time.

Most recently, Miss White has collaborated with Mrs. Bennet Cerf in devising a program of individualized reading specifically designed for the less privileged children in New York City.

In addition, Miss White has lectured at the University of Florida where they have made a film and tape of her program to be used in teaching training programs.

The Cabot School faculty and parents are planning a program on Tuesday, June 7 at 7:30 at the Cabot School to honor Dorothy White who has so skillfully and so warmly taught our second graders. All former students and their parents are invited.
